Proposed State Spending Limit Petitions Filed

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Backers of a state constitutional amendment to limit taxes marched to the sound of a patriotic life and drum corps Tuesday as they filed petitions with the secretary of state.

Supporters of another proposed constitutional amendment to permit a graduated income tax also filed petition signatures Tuesday.

Backers of the tax limitation amendment rallied in front of the state Capitol before trundling a cart of 350,000 signatures to the state elections division. The life and drum corps was along to stir up memories of the pre-Revolu-

Ford's Veto Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's veto of a job creating public works bill is expected to draw heavy opposition from congressional Democrats and at least one key Republican, the Senate GOP whip.

Democratic leaders predicted the veto will be overridden. Senate GOP Whip Robert Griffin, a leader last winter in the successful campaign to sustain Ford's veto of a bigger public works bill, cited a 9.7 per cent jobless rate in his home state of Michigan and 13.4 per cent in Detroit in declaring his support for the bill.

House and Senate leaders say they believe Congress will override Ford's veto Tuesday of the $3.95-billion bill, designed to create or preserve 400,000 jobs.

Rejecting bipartisan plans to sign it, Ford said: "This bill will not create lasting jobs but instead will create more inflation."

The veto and rising unemployment have set up the jobs situation as a campaign issue. Ford and several Democrats traded salvos Tuesday.

Ford said Congress "clearly established the direction they would have our nation go — toward more federal spending, higher taxes, larger deficits, more people on the federal payroll and higher inflation."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., predicted Congress will override "this shameful veto."

He said Ford's move was "bad economic policy, callous social policy and an apparent attempt to fool conservative delegates to the Republican National Con-

5,000 Buried In Slides

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — More than 5,000 persons were buried by landslides during the weekend caused by a major earthquake 11 days ago in the remote Indonesian province of Irian Jaya, on the island of New Guinea, the director general of the Interior Department, Col. Suwondo, said today.

The slides buried much of the population in 10 villages in the districts of Oksibil, Kurima, Nalka, Eipetek, all in the Ballew Valley, and in the district of Bimel, Suwondo said. The area is one of thick jungle and hills and is difficult to reach.

It was not known if any of those buried by the slides had been rescued. But the colonel said 349 persons were reported killed in the earthquake, which reached a magnitude of 7.2 on the Richter scale.

tionary War tax protest. The 348,000 signatures from the drive to increase taxes on higher incomes and lower the tax on most residents also came in before the 5 p.m. deadline, but with little fanfare.

The proposed constitutional amendments need 265,702 valid signatures to appear on the Nov. 2 ballot.

About 50 people, including several state lawmakers, turned out under a baking mid-afternoon sun to herald the success of the petition drive to limit taxes. They made it clear the job of imposing a strict ceiling on state government spending is now on Michigan residents.

"We've done our part in putting it on the ballot — it's up to the people now," said Sen. John Welborn, R-Kalamazoo.

Like the rebellion against taxes more than 200 years ago, the petition organizers face formidable opposition — including the governor, many lawmakers, and innumerable unions and other organizations who feel the approach is not flexible enough to accommodate future state budgeting.

The proposal, organized by "Taxpayers United," would limit all state revenues — and thus taxes — to 8.3 per cent of the state's total personal income in the previous year. Backers say this is about the current tax rate, so it would not mean a tax cut.

Revenue collected in excess of 8.3 per cent would be refunded, and the limit could only be exceeded in emergencies with a two-thirds vote of the legislature.

"If this loses, it will be the voice of the people saying, 'Go ahead and spend all you want and raise the taxes to pay for it,'" said state Rep. Ernest Nash, R-Dimondale.

The graduated income tax proposal was organized by the Michigan Citizens Lobby. Under the measure, a family's first $20,000 of income would be taxed at 3.9 per cent, while the rest is taxed at 9 per cent. The current state income tax is 4.6 per cent.

The citizen's lobby says the plan would cut income taxes for 85 per cent of the state's residents, mostly low and middle income families.

Petitions already have been submitted to place a proposed state law on the ballot requiring deposits on beverage containers. The legislature has put on the ballot the question of permitting 18-year-olds to serve in the House and Senate.

The beverage bill required only 212,562 signatures because it would be a state law, not a constitutional amendment. But the drive has been challenged in court over the timing of the filed signatures and the form of the petition.

Fuel Taints Water

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Two to three gallons of diesel fuel which escaped from a broken pipe was enough to contaminate the water supply for about 180,000 residents of Fort Lauderdale and five area communities, officials say.

BILL ON MILLIKEN'S DESK

Bigger Welfare Checks Coming

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Welfare recipients will receive slightly larger checks this December under the new state budget on Gov. William Milliken's desk. In spite of the governor's call for a freeze on payment levels for Aid to Dependent Children recipients until next July, the legislature included a 4 per cent increase in their approval of the state's $3.42 billion budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1. The December starting date for the increase was a compromise between the governor's recommendation and an immediate increase.

The hike still won't keep ADC recipients even with the pace of inflation — estimated at more than 6 per cent this year. Aid to a Wayne County family of four — the usual benchmark — will increase from $408 to $419 a month. That payment was hiked from $381 to $408 this year, after standing at $355 a month in 1973-74. The average payment will go from $289 to $299 during 1976-77.

The total budget for social services leaped about 17 per cent for the new fiscal year, totaling some $1.19 billion in state general fund money. That is up $172.9 million from the current fiscal year. When restricted money, such as federal grants, is added, the budget totals $2.23 billion, up $291.9 million over the current year. Technically, the social services budget bill approved Friday night totaled $1.18 billion, because some $7.39 million in money for a data center was switched to another measure. But the money goes for social services, and was included in figuring the current year's totals.

Welfare experts have to divide aid payments among an expected caseload of 218,000 persons for the entire fiscal year. The latest estimate of the number of persons receiving help stood at 205,400. Budget officials last year underestimated the number of persons who went on the welfare rolls this year, mainly as a result of the recession. The projection of 198,000 persons was revised upward to 203,800 at the first of the year, and has already exceeded that. The social services budget also contains a revision in state payments to nursing homes, for the first time basing reimbursement on the quality of care provided. The move was seen as a major step forward by lawmakers pushing for improved services from nursing homes.

Under the formula in the bill, nursing homes could receive up to an extra dollar in additional profit per patient every day if they met "quality of care" goals in operating their facilities. The formula establishes a "ceiling" for state payment. Under that ceiling, the nursing homes are reimbursed for costs plus 25 cents per patient per day in allowable profit. The bill would add an extra dollar per patient-day for meeting the criteria, until the ceiling is reached. The maximum payment, in cost and profit, is $23.75 per patient-day in "skilled care," and $21.90 per patient-day in more basic care.

Say Michigan Can't Prevent Nuclear Dump

ALPENA, Mich. (AP) — Michigan will not be given veto power over an underground dumping site for nuclear wastes which might be built near Alpena, federal officials testified Tuesday.

Officials of the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration said Alpena is the first place in the nation selected for test drilling to determine its suitability as a nuclear dumping ground.

They described a huge underground salt bed beneath Michigan and three other northeastern states as "the prime candidate" for dumping of highly radioactive materials.

William Taylor, Gov. William Milliken's science adviser, said the governor will not allow any further negotiations or decisions on the project until he is assured in writing that Michigan will not become a disposal site without state approval.

But ERDA lawyer William L. Brown testified that "state and local government have no legal authority to regulate the federal government."

He said ERDA would "reserve the right" to put the dumping site in Michigan over the objections of local residents and the state.

ERDA is expected to ask the state for permission to take test borings to see if the geological formations in the salt deposits are suitable.

Carl Kuhlman, assistant director of ERDA's nuclear waste programs, testified that the salt basin which stretches beneath all of lower Michigan and parts of Ohio, West Virginia and New York is "the prime candidate" for dumping of the massive amounts of radioactive wastes generated by the nation's nuclear plants.

Some 200 people packed into the hearing in Alpena before Reps. Philip Ruppe, R-Mich., and Robert Carr, D-Mich.

Alpena County Commissioner Keith Titus drew loud applause when he said: "There will be no nuclear waste disposal in northeastern Michigan. Neither myself nor my children nor my

Bangor Stabbing Victim Jailed; Court Frees Alleged Assailant

SOUTH HAVEN — A charge of assault with intent to commit murder was dismissed yesterday by Seventh District Judge Donald M. Goodwillie Jr. after Johnny Jordan, 25, testified he had beaten Miss Lacy at her Bangor home on June 24 after she refused to have sex with him.

It marked the third time in the past six years that Carolyn Lacy, 26, of 209 Union street, Bangor, has been cleared of felony charges, including one charge of first degree murder.

The most recent charge was dismissed yesterday by Seventh District Judge Donald M. Goodwillie Jr. after Johnny Jordan, 25, testified he had beaten Miss Lacy at her Bangor home on June 24 after she refused to have sex with him.

Jordan was deemed guilty of assault and battery by Judge Goodwillie and sentenced to 10 days in Van Buren county jail.

Jordan, who had been stabbed once in the chest, was just recently released from Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, where he had been reported in serious condition.

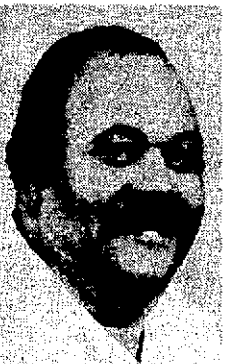

Yesterday he testified for the prosecution during a preliminary examination for Miss Lacy.

In March, 1972, Miss Lacy was acquitted of a first degree murder charge by an Allegan county jury in connection with the shooting death of Mark Lee Johnson.

In 1970 she pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of assault and battery in Allegan District court after originally being charged with felonious assault in connection with the stabbing of a man.

Six matching sixes on an instant lottery ticket added up to $10,000 and a big Fourth of July for Alvin Johnson, 50, of Benton Harbor.

Johnson, a 29-year employee of Whirlpool's St. Joseph division, has been laid off eight weeks by the lockout. He intends to use the $10,000 to pay bills and "help carry us over," Johnson said he works in the inspection department.

Johnson said he purchased the winning instant ticket at 11:30 a.m. July 4, at Lomonaco's grocery store, 2548 Territorial road, Benton township. And two weeks ago he was a $50 instant ticket winner.

Johnson, his wife, Margaret and three sons, reside at 413 Brunson avenue.

Israeli Commandos Show How It's Done

In the good, old days, that is to say before World War I, whenever some upstart interfered with England's farflung overseas interests, the British navy dispatched a gunboat to the offending shore line and amends were made properly and instantly.

International affairs have changed greatly and, from what we can see of them, for the worse since the Kipling legend faded into history.

Brittannia no longer rules the waves and for that matter no other major power owns an unchallenged military supremacy to impose its will upon others.

The backwater areas which the British gunboat once patrolled are sovereign countries of varying power and consumed with the thought of not taking a back seat to anyone.

Korea, Viet Nam and the Middle East to the contrary, today it is considered the correct form to negotiate a slap in the face.

On the strength of those three factors, any number of dissident elements are employing terrorist tactics to put across their point of view.

A few days ago the tiny state of Israel showed the rest of the world that smiting terrorism, not turning the other cheek, is still pretty good diplomacy.

A hundred Israeli commandos flew 2,400 miles in three jet aircraft from their homeland to Uganda, rescued over a hundred French and Jewish hostages and flew them out to Israel.

The operation cost two deaths among the hostages, the commandos' second in command lost his life, at least six Russian-supplied jet fighters in the Ugandan air force were destroyed on the ground, and somewhere around 30 kidnapers and Ugandan soldiers were killed.

The kidnapers were part of the Palestinian Liberation Organization which is dedicated to eliminating Israel as a state.

They hijacked an Air France plane carrying 250 passengers and crew members from Athens to Tel Aviv.

They forced a landing at Uganda's capitol city as part of a plot to trade the hostages' lives for freeing about 50 of their compatriots held in jail in various countries. They chose Uganda as the bargaining site because of President Idi Amin's openly professed hatred for Israel and her friends.

Amin, once a sergeant in the native army when Great Britain held the territory as a protectorate, installed himself as president-dictator in 1971. The following year he expelled 25,000 Indians and Pakistanis holding British passports as part of a plan to make Uganda safe for Ugandians. A seizure of English assets occurred shortly thereafter. Cut off, then, from western foreign aid, Amin successfully courted the Soviets for assistance.

The major uproar occasioned by the commando rescue mission is the view expressed on the Israeli invasion by outsiders.

Kurt Waldheim, the UN Secretary General, was first quoted as calling it a flagrant violation of sovereignty. He was quick to deny the adjective, but still held to saying it was an affront to sovereignty.

President Ford commended the humanitarian aspect of the raid and expressed this nation's "satisfaction." His complimentary remarks on its execution stops just short of publicly disputing Waldheim.

Sovereignty, as we understand it, is the power a nation should exercise for the betterment of its people.

The old Barbary pirates claimed sovereignty for the purpose of loot and the ransoming of prisoners. Uncle Sam dispatched a few naval craft, including the Constitution, to blast them out of that mendacious assumption.

By affording refuge to the hijackers, Amin put himself and his country in the same false position asserted by the Mediterranean plunderers 175 years ago.

Most Americans Approve Death Penalty Decision

The United States Supreme Court last week said the death penalty does not violate the Constitutional prohibition of "cruel and unusual punishment" if it is applied under a set of guidelines that the court enunciated.

The court ruled that capital punishment laws must provide standards for the imposition of the ultimate penalty. It also said the laws must provide some method, such as a separate trial on the penalty issue, by which the individual criminal and the circumstances of the crime could be considered.

On this basis, it struck down measures in Louisiana and North Carolina that made the death penalty mandatory for several kinds of murder. But the court upheld capital punishment laws in Florida, Georgia and Texas, which are not mandatory and do provide standards for the penalty's imposition.

Whatever one's views on capital punishment, the court's decision on the matter has to be regarded as one of the more historically sound rulings ever handed down by the high court.

When the Founding Fathers adopted the Eighth Amendment banning cruel or unusual punishment, they were well aware that the death penalty was being imposed by colonial courts and would continue to be imposed by the states of the new republic. Torture, not execution, was what they had in mind when they talked of cruel and unusual penalties for crime.

Last week's decision is a kind of clarification, expansion or "second word" regarding a Supreme Court ruling of 1972. In that year, the court struck down death penalty laws then in force, saying the application was "arbitrary" and "capricious" because judges and juries had too much discretion in deciding who should be permitted to live and who should die. After that ruling, 35 states wrote new death-penalty statutes in an attempt to meet the high court's objections.

In its 1976 decision, the Supreme Court said the death penalty laws adopted since 1972 are "solemn judgments, reasonably based, that imposition of the death penalty will save the lives of innocent persons."

The court said "there is no convincing empirical evidence either supporting or refuting" the view that the death penalty deters murder. "The value of capital punishment as a deterrent is a complex factual issue, the resolution of which properly rests with the legislatures."

A big majority of Americans agree. The latest Gallup poll shows 65 per cent of the American people favor the death penalty.

One poll showed 78 per cent of the people in Michigan favor capital punishment. This despite the fact that back in 1846, Michigan was the first government in the English-speaking world to abolish capital punishment.

SJ Bicentennial Participants Praised For Event's Success

Editor.

The Monday Musical Club of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor wishes to express their thanks to the many people who participated in St. Joseph's Bicentennial celebration on July 4, 1976.

Our thanks to God for giving us perfect weather and the beautiful setting overlooking Lake Michigan and the St. Joseph River. Our thanks to the City of St. Joseph and all its citizens for supporting the municipal band with their tax dollars, also for providing such a lovely community for the 200th birthday of our nation. Our gratitude goes to the St. Joseph police department for their wonderful guidance and superb traffic directions.

Our utmost thank you goes to this newspaper, the Herald-Palladium, for their ever terrific coverage of the activities in the community. How grateful we all should be for the freedom of the press that we have in this great country, so truths can still be known to all who live in America.

Now, a very special thanks to John Howard and the St. Joseph Municipal Band. Not only is the band shell and its magnificent setting unique, just where in America would you find a man more dedicated and talented as the leader of a band? His musical ability really shone as he directed the municipal band in the outstanding program of American music. John Howard is a legend in his own time.

The Bicentennial Singers of the Monday Musical club thrilled their audience as Jean Bartz directed them through their patriotic selections. These musicians and their director gave of their time and talent and sang from their hearts, expressing their love for God, country, community and music. Thank you Monday Musical Bicentennial Singers for your contribution to this thrilling celebration, our country's birthday.

At the close of this day in St. Joseph on the lake, thousands of people watched the fantastic spectacular of a fireworks display. This event certainly ended a perfect day in a blaze of glory, and our thanks to you, whoever you may be, for providing this grand finale.

ST. JOE MUSIC HAS ADMIRERS

Editor.

Sunday — July 4th proved to be another opportunity for "Music Lovers" to watch and hear and enjoy fine music and entertainment at the St. Joseph Band Shell.

We wish to "thank" and congratulate John Howard and "our band" for the pleasant hours and excellent program arranged and presented to a large overflow group of music lovers. His interesting explanation and historical information and introduction of every number was excellent — particularly of such outstanding composers as Sousa.

Our children and grandchildren enjoyed every minute and learned a great deal from his programs, leadership and direction.

We also praise the Monday Musical Chorus and thank them for their beautiful music — and the beautiful blue dresses they wore.

Many of the music lovers around us were tremendously impressed and pleased with the entire program — so we are thanking the band for many more than our own family.

Keep it up.

P.S. We also want to thank the City of St. Joseph for the marvelous fireworks and display in the evening — We heard many comments — all good.

On The Trail Without Teddy

WINDER, Ga. — The man said his name was Asa Ellis, age 61, race caucasian, status vagabond. He was hitchhiking along Route 29, going south for crop work. He had a pack on his back and a sack under his arm. He was dirty. His nose ran. His whiskers were stained a deep yellow. I picked him up on the edge of Greenville.

He wasn't a bum, he said. He worked when he could get work, and moved on when he couldn't. It had been his way for 30 years. He spoke rapidly, almost gratefully, as a man does who is alone much of the time. "I'm not married and don't want to be, I got no bank account and don't want one." He said he ate very little, slept in the fields, made coffee out of various grains and spent his money on wine.

He looked out the window. "Teddy liked wine," he said. "Teddy?"

"My dog. He's dead now. Poor bugger."

The man sat quietly. Rigidly. His hands in his lap. "Teddy would drink right from the bottle, but you had to go careful or he'd spill it." He tore a cigarette in half, put one side in his pocket and lit the other.

"He was a smart old bugger. He could sit, he could jump over a stick, he could count by burking. I had this thing I did when there were other people around: I'd play I was asleep and Teddy would come over and tap me with his nose, then tap me with his paw, and then like he was mad he'd grab my pants and growl like hell. It was a regular show. He was a smart old bugger."

The man said he had found the dog years before. He had gotten up one morning and the animal, then a pup, was sleeping by the dead fire coals. He reasoned that it was out of a litter that had been let loose and so was free for the taking. "I didn't know about him at first.

When you move around you don't want nothing slowing you down. But I liked him right off. He had big feet and he smelled good. I named him Teddy, after Roosevelt. He kind of looked like Roosevelt."

The man crushed what was left of his half-smoke. He stripped the paper from the butt and carefully put the remaining tobacco in a draw-string pouch. Then he took a small tin of peaches from his sack and opened them with a folding knife. He ate with the knife as well. Syrup dripped on his beard. One peach slice dropped to the floor and he used his foot and his fingers to retrieve it. He had peaches in the morning, he said, and wine when it was available at night.

"Teddy would howl if he didn't get his wine. I didn't give him that much, but what he got he liked. I made a cup with my hand sometimes and he'd drink right from it. Red wine, only red wine, Teddy didn't like the white. One time I gave him white and he wouldn't have nothing to do with me until I made up for it. The old bugger."

The man said the dog died in Florida. They had been camped outside the city of Jacksonville, and the man decided to go into town for a Mission — sponsored meal and bath. Animals were not allowed so the man tied Teddy to a tree, leaving food and water. He was gone all day and part of the evening. When he returned he found the dog mutilated to death. His ears had been cut off, he had been beaten, probably tortured, all while still tied to the tree. The man believes children did it. He buried the dog in an orchard where there was shade.

I dropped the man off here in Winder. I asked him about his destination and he said he didn't know. "Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi — anywhere but Florida. I don't believe I'll ever go back to Florida."

Carter Would Rather Face Ford

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Carter told Democratic senators at a private luncheon here last week that, on balance, he would prefer to run against President Gerald Ford rather than Ronald Reagan.

It was a significant comment, reflecting Carter's genuine opinion that Ford would be easier to defeat than Reagan.

Traditionally, presidential candidates try to float the name of their weakest potential opponent as the one most feared, in hopes of sundering the other party into picking the easiest target. But the circumstances of Carter's statement indicate he was speaking candidly.

He volunteered the opinion only after some hesitation and in response to a question from a senator. He was eager to make an impression of candor and cooperation at the luncheon, where he was meeting for the first time many of the senators with whom he will have to deal, if elected president. And he had refused to answer a similar question from a reporter at a press session a few hours earlier.

According to the latest Gallup poll, Carter currently would beat both Ford and Reagan in all four regions of the country, but while the two Republicans have nearly equal support in the South and West, Ford gets a greater share of the vote in the East and Midwest than does Reagan. Statistically, then, as of now, Ford would appear the most formidable opponent.

In addition, Ford has all the advantages of the incumbency. He will control the government apparatus during the campaign, and that can mean shifts in monetary policy, grants-in-aid to crucial regions, dramatic foreign policy initiatives, and job appointments to reward work well done.

But Carter told the Democratic senators he believes Reagan's potential assets outweigh Ford's. He said, according to a senator present, that he felt Reagan had demonstrated an impressive ability to grow during the campaign, leaving behind his earlier mistakes and turning in smoother and smoother performances. Implicit in the comment was the obvious fact that Ford, by contrast, is the same campaign bumbler he was when he started.

Carter also has demonstrated an uncanny ability to grow, moving from an early position in which he crudely likened two of his Democratic rivals to Nixon, an overkill which made him no friends, to his recent sophisticated and harmonious approach.

In addition, Reagan is a more accomplished speaker than Ford, able to arouse audiences and strike emotional chords which may not reflect substantive policy but may produce votes. Ford has been trying to portray him as a far-right warmonger, as President Lyndon Johnson successfully labelled Barry Goldwater in 1964, but at least within the Republican party this appellation has so far not stuck.

If Ford were the nominee, it would also be possible for Carter to run against the Republican record of the past eight years — the Nixon-Agnew-Ford Administration. Ford is Nixon's protégé; his hand-picked successor, the man who gave Nixon a pardon. And four years ago, when the voters elected Nixon, they got a crooked president, a crooked vice president, recession and inflation.

Happy 100th birthday, Benton Harbor! Eighty-three residents of the community went to the polls July 7, 1866, and voted to make Benton Harbor a corporate entity. The man most responsible for the Centennial and birth of Benton Harbor was Sterne Brunson, who campaigned for eight years to create a new village. Brunson came to the area in the 1850's and began planning a new town when he was unable to obtain financial help from St. Joseph businessmen for construction of a bridge over the river. Brunson's name did not grace the infant village. That honor apparently went to Missouri Sen. Thomas Hart Benton, once a member of the Michigan Legislature, as local politics prevented adoption of Brunson Harbor.

Employment in Berrien county hit a new peak for 1951 in mid-June with the high for the year not expected to be reached until late August. The monthly report of the twin city office of the Michigan employment security commission revealed today. A total of 36,500 wage and salary earners were on the payrolls of Berrien concerns on June 15, an increase of 1,000 in the 30-day period covered in the report. Many of the 1,000 workers added to the employment total were in food processing and wholesale trades.

Probably there are those who prefer the Florida scenery and the Florida climate to that of Michigan, but not so "Pat," 4-year-old pure bred Scotch Collie dog belonging to C.H. Spies, of 440 Superior street, Benton Harbor. Last October, Pat, accompanied Mr. Spies to Hollywood, Florida. In less than three weeks' time, Pat tired of the southern climate, and disappeared. In exactly four weeks more, he put in an appearance at the former Spies residence on Broadway. But not finding the family at home, he continued his wanderings until the night of June 20. On that night, he walked past the S. & S. garage on Territorial road, where he knew he might find his master, and suddenly surprised Spies by walking through the door, and placing his head between his master's knees — an old trick of his. Pat is a great Michigan booster. He thinks there's no state like it, but he won't tell how he reached home. When questioned, he only winks an eye solemnly and wags his tail in contented tranquility.

Israeli Commandos Show How It's Done

In the good, old days, that is to say before World War I, whenever some upstart interfered with England's farflung overseas interests, the British navy dispatched a gunboat to the offending shore line and amends were made properly and instantly.

International affairs have changed greatly and, from what we can see of them, for the worse since the Kipling legend faded into history.

Britannia no longer rules the waves and for that matter no other major power owns an unchallenged military supremacy to impose its will upon others.

The backwater areas which the British gunboat once patrolled are sovereign countries of varying power and consumed with the thought of not taking a back seat to anyone.

Korea, Viet Nam and the Middle East to the contrary, today it is considered the correct form to negotiate a slap in the face.

On the strength of those three factors, any number of dissident elements are employing terrorist tactics to put across their point of view.

A few days ago the tiny state of Israel showed the rest of the world that smiting terrorism, not turning the other cheek, is still pretty good diplomacy.

A hundred Israeli commandos flew 2,400 miles in three jet aircraft from their homeland to Uganda, rescued over a hundred French and Jewish hostages and flew them out to Israel.

The operation cost two deaths among the hostages, the commandos' second in command lost his life, at least six Russian-supplied jet fighters in the Ugandan air force were destroyed on the ground, and somewhere around 30 kidnappers and Ugandan soldiers were killed.

The kidnappers were part of the Palestinian Liberation Organization which is dedicated to eliminating Israel as a state.

They hijacked an Air France plane carrying 250 passengers and crew members from Athens to Tel Aviv. They forced a landing at Uganda's capital city as part of a plot to trade the hostages' lives for freeing about 50 of their compatriots held in jail in various countries. They chose Uganda as the bargaining site because of President Idi Amin's openly professed hatred for Israel and her friends.

Amin, once a sergeant in the native army when Great Britain held the territory as a protectorate, installed himself as president-dictator in 1971. The following year he expelled 25,000 Indians and Pakistanis holding British passports as part of a plan to make Uganda safe for Ugandians. A seizure of English assets occurred shortly thereafter. Cut off, then, from western foreign aid, Amin successfully courted the Soviets for assistance.

The major uproar occasioned by the commando rescue mission is the view expressed on the Israeli invasion by outsiders.

Kurt Waldheim, the UN Secretary General, was first quoted as calling it a flagrant violation of sovereignty. He was quick to deny the adjective, but still held to saying it was an affront to sovereignty.

President Ford commended the humanitarian aspect of the raid and expressed this nation's "satisfaction." His complimentary remarks on its execution stops just short of publicly disputing Waldheim.

Sovereignty, as we understand it, is the power a nation should exercise for the betterment of its people.

The old Barbary pirates claimed sovereignty for the purpose of loot and the ransoming of prisoners. Uncle Sam dispatched a few naval craft, including the Constitution, to blast them out of that mendacious assumption.

By affording refuge to the hijackers, Amin put himself and his country in the same false position asserted by the Mediterranean plunderers 175 years ago.

Most Americans Approve Death Penalty Decision

The United States Supreme Court last week said the death penalty does not violate the Constitutional prohibition of "cruel and unusual punishment" if it is applied under a set of guidelines that the court enunciated.

The court ruled that capital punishment laws must provide standards for the imposition of the ultimate penalty. It also said the laws must provide some method, such as a separate trial on the penalty issue, by which the individual criminal and the circumstances of the crime could be considered.

On this basis, it struck down measures in Louisiana and North Carolina that made the death penalty mandatory for several kinds of murder. But the court upheld capital punishment laws in Florida, Georgia and Texas, which are not mandatory and do provide standards for the penalty's imposition.

Whatever one's views on capital punishment, the court's decision on the matter has to be regarded as one of the more historically sound rulings ever handed down by the high court.

When the Founding Fathers adopted the Eighth Amendment banning cruel or unusual punishment, they were well aware that the death penalty was being imposed by colonial courts and would continue to be imposed by the states of the new republic. Torture, not execution, was what they had in mind when they talked of cruel and unusual penalties for crime.

Last week's decision is a kind of clarification, expansion or "second word" regarding a Supreme Court ruling of 1972. In that year, the court struck down death penalty laws then in force, saying the application was "arbitrary" and "capricious" because judges and juries had too much discretion in deciding who should be permitted to live and who should die. After that ruling, 35 states wrote new death-penalty statutes in an attempt to meet the high court's objections.

In its 1976 decision, the Supreme Court said the death penalty laws adopted since 1972 are "solemn judgments, reasonably based, that imposition of the death penalty will save the lives of innocent persons."

The court said "there is no convincing empirical evidence either supporting or refuting" the view that the death penalty deters murder. "The value of capital punishment as a deterrent is a complex factual issue, the resolution of which properly rests with the legislatures."

A big majority of Americans agree. The latest Gallup poll shows 65 per cent of the American people favor the death penalty.

One poll showed 78 per cent of the people in Michigan favor capital punishment. This despite the fact that back in 1846, Michigan was the first government in the English-speaking world to abolish capital punishment.

Carter Would Rather Face Ford

Benton Park Site Decision Due At July 20 Meeting

The Benton township board of trustees last night scheduled a special meeting for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 20, so that residents may decide whether the township will purchase a new park site at the southwest corner of Territorial and Blue Creek roads.

Township Atty. Thomas N. Robinson Jr. said an ordinance requires all land purchases by the township to be approved by residents, either at the annual meeting or at a special meeting. The site is nine acres and just east of Johnson elementary school of the Benton Harbor district. Total cost was reported to be $12,200. This includes $11,000 purchase price, real estate agent's commission and closing costs.

Owners of the land were identified as Ruth Davis and Fred and Virginia Woodward. There are no buildings on the land, Woodward said.

Township Clerk Cathryn Sirk said the cost would be paid from last year's federal revenue sharing funds.

The board reported last night that site grading has begun at the 6.3-acre Robbins park at the southeast corner of Martin Luther King drive and Highland avenue. The board earlier awarded a $22,321 contract for the grading to John G. Yerington Construction Co.

A low bid of $18,356 from Peterson Building Sales, St. Joseph, was approved last night for a 30 by 40-foot steel building at Robbins park. The building will house a community room and serve as a warming shelter, if an ice skating rink is installed at the park.

The board during a second public hearing approved an industrial tax exemption certificate for McDonald's Dairy, 1330 East Empire avenue. The certificate provides the firm a 50 per cent local property tax reduction for 12 years, under the State Rehabilitation and Industrial Districts Act. The firm reported that the tax break is sought on some $200,000 worth of new equipment.

A request from Benton Harbor Kiwanis club to hold a July 15-18 was granted by the board. The rodeo will be at the south end of Fairplain Plaza and timed to the shopping center's Rodeo Sales days.

St. Joseph Girl Wins Big Grant

GREENCASTLE, Ind. (Special) — Teresa Sizer, 268 Ridgeway, St. Joseph, today was announced as the winner of a $4,000 University Honor Scholarship to attend DePauw university this fall. Announcement of the award was made by DePauw acting president Thomas W. Binford who released the names of several honor scholarship winners from throughout the United States.

Miss Sizer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sizer, was graduated 16th in a class of 368 this year from St. Joseph high school.

The University Honor Scholarship was originated in 1967. It is awarded to the most outstanding candidates for admission to DePauw and is based entirely on superior qualities of scholarship, citizenship and leadership. Financial need is not a factor in choosing the scholarship winners.

DePauw is a private, co-educational, liberal arts college of approximately 2,200 undergraduates. It has a College of Liberal Arts, a School of Music and a School of Nursing.

Miss Sizer, who plans to major in English and languages at DePauw, was active in the high school French club, year book staff, newspaper and concert choir.

She is also a member of the National Honor Society and the Quill and Scroll, an honorary high school journalistic society; placed third in the state in a third-year French examination, and received the Windup award for school newspaper and year-book.

Shoreham Approves Road Shoulder Repairs

Repairs to Shoreham village road shoulders were approved Tuesday night by the village council at a cost not to exceed $1,000.

Village Clerk Janet Helsley said the council authorized Lewis Miller, village road commissioner to contract with Consumers Asphalt company, Benton Harbor, for the work. A list of the most needed repairs will be compiled by Miller and a construction company representative. Mrs. Helsley said residents would be notified by mail about the work.

Costs will be paid by the village's general fund. In other business the board reapproved a $1,000 expenditure for completion of a horse ring at the village park. The ring was approved by the council last spring and will be available for village horseowners. The council also approved reinvesting $25,000 in general fund and major road fund monies in either certificates of deposit or U.S. Treasury notes, whichever pays higher interest rates.

The August council meeting will be held on Aug. 4 because the village hall will be in use Aug. 3 for the primary election.

St. Joseph Gets Grant From HUD

U.S. Congressman Edward Hutchinson has announced that the St. Joseph Housing commission has been awarded a $27,000 low-rent public housing modernization grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The funds will be for the 107-unit Lakeview Terrace elderly housing apartments in St. Joseph. City Manager Gerald Hepler said the funds will be used to install fire detector alarms in all rooms plus make improvements to conserve energy.

On Spring List

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Monica Naines, 314 Murphy street, St. Joseph, has been named to the dean's list for the spring semester at Sanford university here. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Naines Jr.

Dr. Richard A. Schmidtke was appointed vice president of laser programs for Pratt & Whitney, the world's principal manufacturer of aircraft engines, according to division President Edmund V. Marshall.

Dr. Schmidtke is a 1942 graduate of St. Joseph high school. He received bachelor's and master's degrees in mechanical engineering from the University of Michigan and a doctorate in mechanical engineering from the Illinois Institute of Technology.

He joined Pratt & Whitney at its Florida facility in 1960 as director of applied research and later was appointed senior program manager responsible for high-energy lasers, including research, development and manufacturing in that product area.

He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and is listed in "Who's Who in Aviation" and "Who's Who in the South and Southwest."

Dr. Schmidtke and his family live in Jupiter Inlet Colony, Florida.

STILL HOPING FOR QUORUM Benton Harbor Will Try Again

Alfred Williams called him earlier yesterday and said he would not be able to attend the meeting. Clean Slaters Williams and Mrs. Ford have not attended a commission meeting at the same time since Mayor Charles F. Joseph and three other commissioners were recalled May 18.

Commissioner Charles Yarbrough left city hall before roll call last night saying there was no sense in staying when a quorum of five commissioners could not be obtained. Mrs. Ford has been absent from every commission meeting but last night's and the June 7 meeting when fellow Clean State Commissioner Williams was absent.

Benton Police Probing 2nd Robbery In 2 Days

A bandit escaped with an undetermined amount of cash Tuesday night from the Burger King restaurant, Benton township, and police believe it may be the same man who robbed a service station nearby Monday night.

The robbery was reported at 10:30 Tuesday at Burger King, 2035 South M-139, Township Det. Lt. Raymond Frye said the description of the bandit matched "almost perfectly" with that of a man who robbed Steve's Clark station, 865 East Napier avenue, Monday about 10 p.m.

Police said loot from Burger King was not determined immediately but it could run as high as $1,500. Receipts were to be tallied to obtain the exact amount.

An employee at the restaurant, Marshall Pedler, 17, St. Joseph, told police the man asked for change, then demanded money. Pedler said he first placed some loose change on the counter, but the man threatened to "blow his head off." Pedler reported he then gave the man cash from a safe under the counter. Pedler told police the man held his hand under his jacket as if he had a gun, but no gun was seen. He said he could see a bulge, however.

Neither Pedler nor another employee in the restaurant, Laurie Heines, 17, St. Joseph, were injured, police said. Police reported the restaurant was still open when the robbery occurred, but there were no customers inside. A customer came into the restaurant during the robbery, but he was also unharmed, police said.

The bandit was described as a black man, in his 20s, about 5 feet 6 or 7 inches tall, wearing his hair in a short afro and having a moustache, police said. He wore a denim jacket and mirror-type sunglasses.

Small Bird Gets Best Of Young Motorcyclist

PAW PAW — A small bird and a young Paw Paw motorcyclist tangled in a freak accident near here Monday. State police at Paw Paw reported that Michael E. Goldberg, 20, route 4, 56th avenue, was riding his motorcycle on Red Arrow highway near 56th street about 3:30 p.m. when he was struck by a bird which flew into the shield of his helmet face mask.

Goldberg told troopers the impact gave him a bloody nose and the sight of the blood caused him to pass out and fall off the motorcycle. Police said Goldberg was treated and released from Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw, but did not report the accident until yesterday because he was not seriously injured. The condition of the bird went unreported.

Meet Candidate Event Thursday Night In BH

The committee to elect Charles Henderson will sponsor a meet-your-candidate program tomorrow at 5 p.m. in the Benton Harbor public library auditorium. Special guests will include Michigan Secretary of State Richard Austin, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, and Richard Daugherty, Democratic candidate for Fourth District congressman.

Henderson, Democratic candidate for 4th district state representative, said the theme of the program would be "People are what it's all about." He said other speakers will include the three candidates for mayor of Benton Harbor, who will outline their goals for the city. Township, county and other candidates will be introduced.

"This will be an excellent opportunity for the people to meet their present or aspiring public servants on a one-to-one basis," Henderson said. At 4 p.m. Thursday Henderson will hold a grand opening for his campaign headquarters at 133 East Main street in Benton Harbor. The general public is invited, along with city, township and county candidates.

Keeter's Korner Earns Retail Magazine Article

Operations at Keeter's Korner, 95 Wall street, Benton Harbor, were described in a recent issue of Mart, a nationally circulated magazine for retailers in consumer electronics, major appliances and electric housewares. The article notes that Keeter's Korner, has a success story based on "taking trade-ins (and reselling them), supplying fast service, displaying in depth and benefiting from the goodwill that is derived from 44 years in business."

Refrigerators are a major contributor to sales volume that is targeted for $600,000 this year the magazine reports. The store owned by Edward

A. Keeter sells other major appliances, TV, stereo, audio components, records and tapes.

Keeter's Korner usually has about 30 new refrigerators on display in the three brands the store handles. Refrigerators are sought as trade-ins along with other appliances and color TV sets. Keeter said the items are rebuilt and resold to individuals and apartment landlords. The article quotes Keeter as saying: "We won't sell a color TV set unless they try it for three days at home." He explained because of the topography of the area signal strength may vary from set to set, even in the same model.

Breadpan Law Injunction Is Issued

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A restraining order against the Michigan Department of Agriculture involving a case of long loaves of bread was changed to a preliminary injunction Tuesday by Berrien Circuit Judge William S. White. The injunction bars the agriculture department from enforcing Michigan's breadpan law against Bonnie Baking, Inc., until the matter is resolved.

White also ordered attorneys for both the agriculture department and Bonnie Baking, of LaPorte, Ind., to file briefs on the constitutionality of the breadpan statute as soon as possible to resolve the issue. The loaves were cleared of violating the law recently in Berrien District court after Judge John Hammond held that the law cannot be applied to an out-of-state bakery selling bread wholesale in Michigan, which is the case with Bonnie Baking.

The injunction came after the bakery claimed the agriculture department in mid-June ordered retail grocers in Three Oaks and Sturgis to remove the loaves from their shelves under threat of prosecution. The 1942 law which is the subject of the controversy regulates the size of bread pans to insure that bread is of a certain density, so that consumers will not mistakenly believe a longer loaf of bread is a better buy than a shorter one if both weigh the same.

GETS LAW DEGREE: Curtis Reuben Williams, Jr. of Benton Harbor has received his Juris Doctor degree from the Cornell University law school. A graduate of Benton Harbor high school and Michigan State University, he currently is a staff attorney for the Legal Aid and Defender Service association of Detroit. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Williams, 1070 East Main street, Benton Harbor.

Benton Park Site Decision Due At July 20 Meeting

The Benton township board of trustees last night scheduled a special meeting for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 20, so that residents may decide whether the township will purchase a new park site at the southwest corner of Territorial and Blue Creek roads.

Township Atty. Thomas N. Robinson Jr. said an ordinance requires all land purchases by the township to be approved by residents, either at the annual meeting or at a special meeting.

The site is nine acres and just east of Johnson elementary school of the Benton Harbor district. Total cost was reported to be $12,200. This includes $11,000 purchase price, real estate agent's commission and closing costs.

Township Clerk Cathryn Sirk said the cost would be paid from last year's federal revenue sharing funds.

The board reported last night that site grading has begun at the 6.3-acre Robbins park at the southeast corner of Martin Luther King drive and Highland avenue. The board earlier awarded a $22,521 contract for the grading to John G. Yerington Construction Co.

A low bid of $18,356 from Peterson Building Sales, St. Joseph, was approved last night for a 30 by 40-foot steel building at Robbins park. The building will house a community room and serve as a warming shelter, if an ice skating rink is installed at the park.

The board during a second public hearing approved an industrial tax exemption certificate for McDonald's Dairy, 1330 East Empire avenue. The certificate provides the firm a 50 per cent local property tax reduction for 12 years, under the State Rehabilitation and Industrial Districts Act. The firm reported that the tax break is sought on some $200,000 worth of new equipment.

A request from Benton Harbor Kiwanis club to hold a July 15-18 was granted by the board. The rodeo will be at the south end of Fairplain Plaza and timed to the shopping center's Rodeo Sales days.

Operational Support Given Detroit Arts Institute

The municipally-owned and operated Detroit Institute of Arts will receive $3,500,000 in direct operational support from the State of Michigan beginning with the fiscal year July 1.

A sum of $170,000 is anticipated through the Michigan Council for the Arts as part of the so-called "fifth quarter," extension of the state's fiscal year. The remaining $3,330,000 will be funneled through the City of Detroit as part of the Legislature's approved cultural aid to the city, effective Oct. 1.

These grants mark the second year in which the Governor and the Michigan Legislature have helped assure the continued operation of the 91-year-old Art Institute as a statewide and regional service.

The money will enable the museum to be open five days weekly with most of its 101 galleries. Admission will continue free, although a voluntary contribution of $1 will be requested.

In testimony before various legislative committees debating the "Detroit Aid," package in Lansing, Dr. Frederick J. Cummings, museum director, reported that total Art Institute financial requirements for a six-day, fully-open gallery schedule was $8,652,346. This figure, he stated, included an annually-averaged capital maintenance and repair cost of $1,600,000.

Two private bodies, the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts, which will contribute $1,300,000 for operations in 1976-77, and the Detroit City Theatre association, which will generate some $400,000 in income during the year, also underwrite Art Institute operational and program expenses.

The Founders, in addition, contributes $1,000,000 annually for art objects through restricted acquisition funds and gifts.

Dr. Cummings said that the museum will continue to request additional funding from all sources — including Federal — which will return the Art Institute to a six-day weekly schedule and afford long-delayed capital repairs to its out-moded climate control system, its 50-year-old main building and its three acres of public grounds.

Historic Homes Exhibit

More than 30 historic homes in the twin city area are being featured in a photographic exhibit at the St. Joseph Art Center through July.

Mrs. Russ Spencer, a teacher at the center and member of the St. Joseph Art Association, researched and compiled the material on display.

The photographs are accompanied by architectural and historical notes which Mrs. Spencer obtained from owners and former owners, Southwestern Michigan Abstract and Title Company, Fort Miami Heritage Society and St. Joseph public library.

The homes, many of which have been relatively unchanged by time Mrs. Spencer says, represent nine different architectural styles, Greek Revival, Gothic Revival, Italian Revival, Octagon, French Mansard, Romanesque Revival, Queen Anne and Tudor Revival.

Included in the display are three of the oldest homes in the area, all located in St. Joseph — the Fowler Preston-Matt Springsteen house, Gibbsleigh and the Kehstrom house.

Also included is an Italian Revival home on St. Joseph avenue, Stevensville, built by Thomas L. Stevens, who was responsible for naming out the town named for him.

In addition to new photographs in the display there will be old photographs taken of historically well-known homes which no longer exist.

A map of the area with the homes designated accompanies the exhibit.

Open House Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eisenhart of Winter Haven, Fla., formerly of St. Joseph, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house Sunday, July 11.

Friends and relatives are invited to the event, which will be held at the home of the couple's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Eisenhart, 474 East Glenford road, St. Joseph.

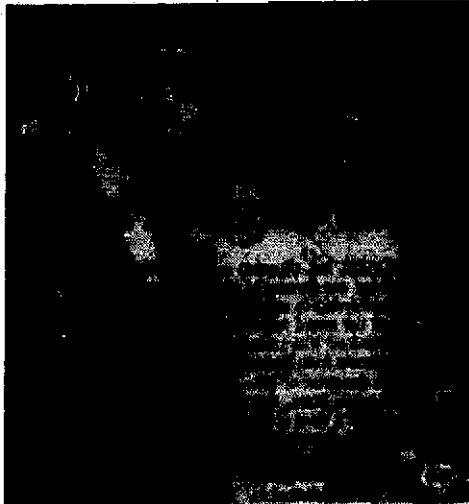

Also hosting the event will be the couple's other sons and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Eisenhart, St. Joseph, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Eisenhart of Phoenix, Ariz.

The former Flora Foster and Eisenhart were married Jan. 6, 1928, at St. Joseph Catholic church, St. Joseph. The Rev. Fr. John M. Zindler performed the ceremony.

Eisenhart, after retiring from farming several years ago, was employed by the St. Joseph and Benton Harbor Holiday Inns until 1974 when the couple moved to their present address, route 6, Box 180, Lot 50, Winter Haven. Mrs. Eisenhart was employed at Holly's restaurant in St. Joseph and at the private dining room of the Whirlpool Administrative Center, Benton Harbor. She is also retired.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhart are life-long residents of St. Joseph.

The couple has 12 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The Wine Cellar

by Kay & Alan Ritter

The length of time a wine is aged has no precise rules, and really varies quite a lot according to the type of wine you choose. The keeping properties of wine also vary according to its acidity and alcohol content. Generally, the richer a wine is in body and in alcohol, the more it will benefit from aging, though this does not normally hold good for more than 10-12 years. But this is a very general rule, for the aging quality of a wine depends on many factors which may vary even among wines of similar quality. Capable of reaching extreme old age are the great clarets from Medoc, Graves, St. Emilion and Pomerol.

If at any time you have a question about wine, its uses or how to serve it don't hesitate to ask the staff at RITTER'S LIQUOR LOCKER, 3872 Red Arrow Hwy., 429-4921. We carry a full selection of domestic and imported wines in various size containers. Our fantastic inventory and our very convenient location are well known to many in this area. Hours: Mon.-Sat. 10 a.m.-11 p.m., Sun. noon-9 p.m.

WINE WISDOM:

To age a wine, it must be kept in a deep, cool cellar, at a constant temperature

It's National Hot Dog Month

Set your sights on a backyard celebration that could last all summer long! To add glamour to your patio menu and in honor of National Hot Dog Month (July), the National Hot Dog and Sausage Council has created the Hot Dog Sandwich Supreme.

Truly a salad supper on a loaf, the Hot Dog Sandwich Supreme sports four layers nutritiously spread with egg salad, deviled ham salad, American cheese, and plump, sliced hot dogs.

Anchor the sandwich layers firmly together with long wooden skewers (often found in the Chinese food section at your grocery), and garnish with lettuce and pimiento stuffed olives for a spectacular, yet economical summer meal.

HOT DOG SANDWICH SUPREME

One loaf, unsliced, Vienna, butter crust or rye bread
One-third cup soft butter or margarine

Ten slices American cheese
Five to six skewers, cooked and cut lengthwise

One and one-half cups egg salad spread (recipe follows)
One cup deviled ham salad spread (recipe follows)

One package long wooden skewers
One bottle pimiento stuffed olives

Lettuce leaves, iceberg or endive

Egg Salad Spread

Four hard cooked eggs, chopped
Three tablespoons dill pickles, drained and chopped
Three tablespoons celery, finely chopped

One-eighth teaspoon salt
One-eighth teaspoon cummin (optional)
Six tablespoons salad dressing or mayonnaise

Combine ingredients, mix until well blended. Makes one and one-half cups.

DEVILED HAM SPREAD

Two cans (eight to nine ounces) deviled ham
Six tablespoons salad dressing or mayonnaise

Combine ingredients, mix until blended. Makes about one cup.

TO ASSEMBLE: Slice a loaf of whole bread into five even lengthwise layers. (For best results, use an electric knife or request the bakery to do the slicing for you.) Butter the bottom layer. Top with slices of cheese and lettuce leaves, placed on a diagonal.

Butter the second layer of bread, place on cheese layer. Spread with deviled ham.

Slice hot dogs lengthwise and saute in one tablespoon butter until lightly browned; place diagonally, cut side down, on the third buttered layer of bread.

Cover with fourth layer; butter bread; apply egg salad and top with crust of loaf.

Pimiento stuffed olives may be tucked into the sandwich at intervals along the egg salad layer and any other layer where color is desired.

Secure layers together by inserting long wooden skewers. These may be spaced by portion to make cutting and serving easier. Makes six to eight servings.

Centuries ago the German "wurstmacher" became an adept at spicing and processing distinctive types of sausages, that his products became almost synonymous with convenient and nutritious meal making.

Busy homemakers today will still find thuringer, bratwurst, and large, plump frankfurters ideal meat products for creating this quick, Bavarian flavored vegetable and sausage dinner that can be conveniently cooked together.

New crop potatoes, whole tender carrots and onions are combined with sausages and simmered in natural juices, forming their own tasty seasoning.

To add variety, the carrots are removed when done and given a tart lemon glaze. The sausages and other vegetables are sprinkled with Swiss cheese, browned, and brought to the table on the same oven-proof platter. Round out this attractive, vitamin-loaded meal by serving a sherbet dessert and beverage.

BLACK FOREST DINNER

One to one and one-half pounds thuringer, large frankfurters or bratwurst

Small whole new potatoes, unpeeled

Small whole onions, peeled
One pound small tender carrots, whole and unpeeled

One cup boiling water
One teaspoon granulated beef bouillon

Try Fresh Apple Relish

This refreshing apple-cranberry relish requires no cooking.

Simply put through the food chopper one large unpeeled apple, one-half orange, including peel, and two cups fresh cranberries. Add one cup sugar and one-half cup chopped walnuts. Chill for several hours or overnight. Makes about two cups relish to serve with turkey, chicken or duckling.

Raisins Are Official Snack Food For Summer Olympic Athletes

More than 8,000 athletes from 131 countries will be gathering in Montreal to compete in 3,000 separate heats and matches during the 21st Summer Olympic Games, July 17 to Aug. 1.

Feeding these athletes will be a monumental task. At the Olympic Village, a central kitchen will use 12 cafeterias to serve an average of 32,000 meals daily. Olympic food service personnel estimate that feeding the athletes will take 65,000 steaks, 32,000 dozen eggs, 355,000 pounds of meat, 300,000 pounds of vegetables and 68,000 pounds of fruit, among other things.

The food service operation has requested more than two tons of raisins — designated the official snack food of the 1976 Olympic Games.

It's a common misconception that athletes need a high protein diet for optimum health and peak athletic performance. However, research shows that athletic activity does not require an increased intake of protein and many athletes eat protein far in excess of body needs.

Some protein is essential to the diet. It's a structural component of all body tissue and is needed for growth and repair.

However, protein is a less efficient source of energy than carbohydrates and fats. And using much protein for energy results in an excess of undesirable waste products in the blood.

What athletes need are carbohydrates. Carbohydrates are the body's primary fuel and the most efficient and readily available source of body energy. They should contribute well over 50 per cent of an athlete's total caloric intake.

Bread, cereal, pasta, rice, potatoes, dry beans and raisins are good carbohydrate sources.

But carbohydrates cannot be stored in large amounts by the body. Therefore, an athlete needs to supplement his meals with carbohydrates — rich snacks.

Raisins make a great snack for athletes because as well as being tasty and high in energy, they are convenient. Raisins are easy to handle, easy to carry and easy to eat.

During the Olympics, 68,000 snack packs of raisins will be consumed. The raisins will be used in the box lunches for the athletes competing outside of the Olympic Village and on cold buffet tables available three times daily.

If your family is planning an outdoor activity this summer, take Olympic Raisin Raisin Cookies along. Made with natural cereal, grated carrot, sunflower seeds and raisins, these cookies are a tasty and nutritious treat.

For a biking or camping outing take along Cyclist's GORP. Just throw together banana chips, peanuts and raisins for a packable, portable, light-weight snack.

OLYMPIC RAISIN CARROT COOKIES

One-half cup butter or margarine, softened
One-half cup salad oil
One cup firmly packed brown sugar

Two eggs
Two tablespoons water
One teaspoon vanilla
One and one-fourth cups flour

One teaspoon baking soda
One teaspoon nutmeg
One-half teaspoon salt
One-half cup whole wheat flour

One and one-half cups raisins
Two cups natural cereal
Three cups coarsely grated raw carrot (five medium)

One-half cup sunflower seeds

In large mixing bowl, beat butter, oil and sugar until fluffy. Beat in eggs, water and vanilla. Sift together flour, soda, nutmeg and salt. Add to bowl, along with whole wheat flour. Mix just until blended. Stir in remaining ingredients. Make large drop cookies well apart on greased sheet, using about one-third cup batter for each. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Cool on racks. Makes one and one-half dozen four-inch cookies.

CYCLIST'S GORP

Mix one cup raisins with one-half cup banana chips and one-fourth cup peanuts. Makes about two cups.

Gluten Forms Loaf's Frame

Gluten is the elastic substance in wheat flour that forms the framework for a loaf of bread.

You can feel it better than you can see it. Like chewing gum, it forms strands of fibers when flour is mixed with water and kneaded. It makes dough feel smooth and lively.

Gluten holds bubbles of gas in the dough to make bread light. Heat from the oven sets the gluten, giving a bread loaf a nice rounded appearance.

PEACH ICE CREAM

and Vitamin B-12.

SWISS REUBEN DOGS

Six frankfurters
Six hot dog buns
One can (eight ounces) sauerkraut, well drained
One-fourth pound sliced Swiss cheese

Two tablespoons thousand island dressing
Mustard
Dill pickle slices

Heat frankfurters in boiling water, microwave oven or broiler. Slice heated frankfurters down the center lengthwise and place in center of hot dog buns. Spread with a little mustard. Add one-sixth of the sauerkraut; top with one teaspoon of thousand island dressing. Cover with Swiss cheese and place under the broiler or in the oven until cheese is melted and beginning to bubble. Garnish with dill pickle slices and serve immediately. Makes six servings.

One pound small tender carrots, whole and unpeeled

One cup boiling water

One teaspoon granulated beef bouillon

Four ounces Swiss cheese, grated

Chopped parsley and ground pepper

In a large skillet, lay sausages in a circular pattern around well-scrubbed new potatoes and peeled whole onions. Arrange carrots around outer edges of skillet; cover mixture with boiling water in which bouillon has been dissolved. Cover and simmer until vegetables are tender. Remove carrots and glaze.

Using oven-to-table cookware, remove remaining vegetables and arrange on an oven-proof platter or baking pan. Sprinkle with Swiss cheese and place under the broiler until cheese is melted. Add glazed carrots to platter. Sprinkle lightly with chopped parsley, pepper and serve.

To glaze carrots: Melt two tablespoons of butter in saucepan or skillet. Add two teaspoons sugar. Heat until butter is melted and sugar begins to dissolve and caramelize. Add one teaspoon lemon juice; stir well. Add carrots, tossing them until they are completely coated.

Quick, easy meals don't have to be dull. For a tangy meal-in-a-bun you will want to try these Swiss Reuben Dogs.

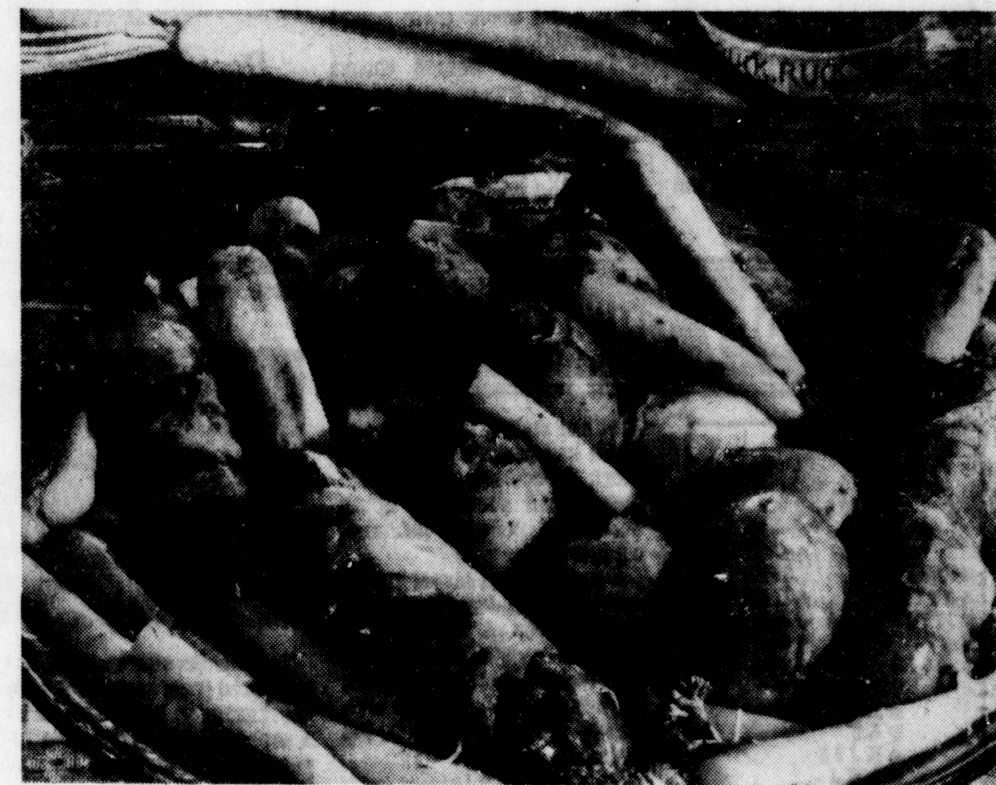

The directions are so easy to follow that even the youngsters will enjoy the fun of making a meal themselves.

Simply combine tart sauerkraut, a plump juicy hot dog and a few tablespoons of thousand island dressing. Cover with slices of Swiss cheese and place under the broiler or in an oven for a few minutes. Top with dill pickle slices and your Swiss Reuben Dogs are ready for the table.

In addition to having a quick, economical meal, you'll also be providing a nutritious one too. Just two hot dogs supply one-third of a child's daily requirement of protein and one-fourth of the adult daily requirement. Hot dogs also contain iron, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, phosphorus, zinc, Vitamin C, Vitamin B-6

Your Problems' By Ann Landers

She Shed Husband And Fat

Dear Ann Landers: This is a letter to Jean, the fat wife of Turned Off and Guilty. He tells her she's "disgusting, weak-willed, self-indulgent and stupid." He suggests self-help groups. She ends up crying and he ends up writing to you for sympathy.

I was a Jean for 18 years. Twice I dieted down to my wedding weight and twice I ballooned up again. Why? Because Mr. Turned Off didn't respond any better to the thin me than he had to the fat me.

After the second 50-lb. ballooning, I went into therapy. (He wouldn't go, said it wasn't his problem.) I discovered I had a severe psychological hang-up: HDM. I was his doorman. My fat was an excuse for his impotence, insecurity, perennial adolescence. Everything that was wrong with his life he blamed on me. I absorbed the blame along with the calories. When I got rid of Mr. Turned Off, I also got rid of 35 pounds. Sign me — Skinny Winner.

Dear Winner: Bravo, lady. Thanks for a cheerful carful.

Shoes Tell?

Dear Ann Landers: Is the world going completely crazy? I just read where a man named Rossi wrote a book called "The Sex Life of the Foot and Shoe." The author claims that without feet human sexuality wouldn't have a leg to stand on. He says the kind of footwear people choose for themselves tells a lot about their sexual personalities.

Teaser-type women choose shoes that expose part of the foot. Men's shoes divide the wearers into five categories: sensuous, masculine, peacock, unisex and macho. An example of the masculine shoe is the wingtip. The macho is the motorcycle boot. He says boots are a sign of ruthlessness. Rossi hates the high platform for women — claims it makes them walk like horses.

Do you think there is anything to what the man says? — Looking De-Feet In De-Face

Dear Looking: Yes. What people wear does indeed tell something about them. This goes for shoes as well as dresses, suits, etc.

I don't agree, however, that boots are a sign of ruthlessness — or that women in high platforms walk like horses. Grannies, maybe. Horses, no.

Doctor Goofed

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 19-year-old male who drinks about a fifth of vodka every day. This letter is a copy of one I wrote to you at 3:00 a.m. I couldn't believe how messed up my head must have been. I misspelled 27 words, four sentences were unfinished and part of the letter was illegible.

I know I am sick but the doctor I went to thought I was exaggerating or bragging. He didn't give me any help at all — just said I needed to "shape up" or I'd be sorry. I didn't need

HIM to tell me that.

I'm so sick of myself I could die. I pass out every night and feel rotten when I come to in the morning. Then I have to have a drink to get going again. It's a terrible way to live and I don't know how to get off the merry-go-round. Please, Ann, help me. — Drowning In Booze

Dear Friend: Some doctor. You ought to report him to the county medical society. He should have told you to look in the phone book. I urge you to call Alcoholics Anonymous and find out when the next meeting is and where. GO — and stick with it, fella. It's your best shot.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers' guide to "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

AU Announcements

Offers Grants

Named Chairman

Sunday Skit

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A series of $500 United States Bicentennial grants are being offered by Andrews University for the second school year to international students for the 1976-77 school year.

To be eligible for a grant, the student must be from outside the North American division; attend Andrews for the first time as an undergraduate student on a student visa or a visitor exchange visa, and not be financially sponsored by the denominational organization.

In addition, the student must have accumulated at least 24 credits by the end of his second quarter in residence and have a cumulative grade point average of at least 2.0 or a C average, and have his school account paid in full at the end of the second quarter in residence.

A $500 grant will be awarded to eligible students at the beginning of the third quarter.

For additional information, persons may contact Dr. Dwain L. Ford, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Andrews.

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Dr. Conrad A. Reichert, associate professor of psychology at Andrews University, has been named chairman of the psychology section of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters.

As chairman of the section, Reichert will plan the annual meeting for next year. He is responsible for soliciting papers for the meeting and keeping members informed of the activities of the academy and of new developments in their field.

The academy is a scholarly organization comprised of about 30 professionals. Members come from major colleges and universities and some private practices in Michigan and surrounding states.

The purpose of the academy is to foster research.

Reichert, who has been on the AU faculty since 1969, has served as president of the Institute for Family and Community Studies in Berrien Springs.

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Betty Jo Hawkins, numismatist, will give a dramatic presentation entitled, "The Women of the American Revolution," Sunday, July 11, at Andrews University in the Johnson auditorium at 8 p.m.

Miss Hawkins says her program is like a compass and sees the women of the late 1700s at various points on the spectrum. Mrs. George Washington would be found at one of the four poles — a super patriot, absolutely devoted to George and his cause, enduring many of his hardships and staying as close to the fighting lines as possible.

Mrs. Washington's opposite would be Benedict Arnold's wife, also a super patriot, but devoted to the crown, and to the defeat of the Colonies and their "little" revolution.

Other revolutionary women included are Abigail Adams, Mrs. Patrick Henry, the young wives and sweethearts of soldiers, and some Indian women who protected wounded soldiers after battles.

Miss Hawkins has appeared in theatre, television and radio before going on the lecture circuit. Her credits include the leading role in such musicals as "Oklahoma" and "Showboat." She has done commercial work in both network and local television.

All programs in the summer concert series are open to the public and there is an admission charge.

Woman's Club Plans Picnic

BRIDGMAN — The Bridgman Woman's Club will meet for a picnic Wednesday, July 14, at noon at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Macavorn, Wildwood.

HIDE KNEES As long as the knees are covered, a very tall woman can wear any length of skirt.

Dr. Lester Coleman

Two months after my husband recovered from successful open heart surgery, he was killed by a car driven by a drunken 19-year-old boy. Is there no way that legislators can be urged to take these demons off the highways? — Mrs. E.L. Caffi

Dear Mrs. L.:

The magnitude of such a calamity is incomprehensible, except for those who have experienced it. You are not alone. Of the 50,000 deaths caused by automobile accidents each year, at least half can be attributed to alcohol, drugs and mental instability.

I am certain that the young man who killed your husband and destroyed a good part of your life, and that of your children, was properly chastised by the court. I am also certain that he tearfully looked at you and said, "I'm sorry."

What an easy outlet for his guilt! His license may have been taken away for a while but soon relaxation of that rule will begin and once more he and hundreds of others like him, will once again be allowed to use their cars as a lethal weapon.

In many states, physicians and psychiatrists, in conjunction with legislators, are establishing rigid standards to limit driving licenses to those who are free from those physical and emotional problems that can interfere with safe driving.

Generally, the physically handicapped are acknowledged to be among the safest group of drivers. They recognize their handicap and surround themselves with all the necessary safety precautions.

The Illinois Drivers' License Division is establishing standards for drivers. Intellectual impairment, including senility, mental retardation, brain injury secondary to strokes, alcoholism, drug abuse, suicidal or homicidal inclinations are some of the general categories that this license bureau considers in restricting permission to drive.

Not until rigid laws are established for permanent deprivation of the privilege of driving a car will the enormity of the devastation by drunken drivers be eliminated.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH...Spring and summer colds need as much attention as winter colds. Don't neglect them.

List Films For Thursday

NILES — Three "Film Flicks" will be shown at the Niles Community Library Thursday, July 8, beginning at 3 p.m. in the auditorium.

"Lickey-Split Licorice," is a fantasy in which a boy and girl stretch a piece of licorice into a tangled web.

"Vagabond" will feature Charlie Chaplin in the role of a tramp. The third film will be "Tale of the Werewolf."

By Oswald & James Jacoby North glared at South and said, "If there were such a thing as a license to bid notrump, I would try to have yours revoked."

"What could I have done," replied South. "I could not help losing the spade finesse."

"No one was holding a gun to your head and ordering you to take it," continued North. "We were sure of game and rubber, if you rise with the ace and went after just nine tricks."

The spade finesse had lost.

East had shifted to a heart and South had come up two tricks short. Of course, if the spade finesse had succeeded South would have made four notrump, not just three.

A match-point player might well have considered that spade finesse. Even at that game he would have noted that he had been lucky to get a spade lead, not a heart, and gone up with the ace of spades to insure his contract.

Ask the Jacobys

A Canadian reader wants to know the meaning of the expression: "One peek is worth two finessees."

You shouldn't try to see your opponents' cards, but some players hold their hands so sloppily that you can't help seeing them. Once you have seen them you can refuse losing finessees and just take winning ones.

Howe Drain Hearing Set

COLOMA — A hearing has been scheduled here for Wednesday, July 14, by the Berrien county drain board on the proposed reapportionment of construction costs for a new Howe drain.

The hearing will be held at the Coloma township hall, beginning at 7 p.m., according to Carl Gnodtke, chairman of the drainage board, and county drain commissioner.

Under the plans, the assessment for the project will be spread over all of Coloma city and township.

Tentative apportionment of the project costs are Coloma township, 38 per cent; Coloma city, 60 per cent; and Berrien county (because of drainage to county roads), 2 per cent.

No tentative construction costs for the project have been made public since engineering plans were prepared. Under an earlier plan the state was to have shared some of the cost.

Coloma City Clerk Mrs. Patricia Beezley said plans call for advertising for bids in August.

The request for repairing the drain came to eliminate flooding conditions which appeared during last year's unusually heavy rainfall periods.

Boating Safety Exams Slated At New Buffalo

NEW BUFFALO — Commemorating the nation's 200th birthday, New Buffalo flotilla 1-3 of the U.S. Coast Guard auxiliary, is observing National Safe Boating week through Saturday, July 10, by conducting examinations at the Snug Harbor marina. Boats meeting both the federal and auxiliary requirements will be awarded the 1976 Bicentennial safety decal.

Ted Sherwin, flotilla commander, said area boaters may stop at the auxiliary booth during the hours of 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Housing Issue In Hagar

The Hagar township board last night voted unanimously not to issue house occupancy permits until the houses involved are done.

Trustee Sam Panteleira moved for the adoption of the order after Floyd Elson, township building inspector, and Hagar Township Supervisor Edward Broderick told the board about several infractions of the township occupancy code.

According to the reports, families have moved into houses before they have been completed and cannot be forced to complete the structures.

Broderick told the board action was needed to halt questionable construction techniques and premature occupancy of dwellings.

In other areas, Trustee John Bergstedt, chairman of the township fire committee, told the board he felt the Berrien sheriff's department was involving Hagar fire department personnel in calls not directly involving their main responsibility.

Bergstedt said firemen have been dispatched to a drowning and a leaking railroad tank car to do work "the county personnel should handle." According to Bergstedt, the township is faced with having to pay the firemen for these non-fire calls, without reimbursement.

The board voted to contribute $300 to the North Berrien Senior Citizens Inc., for the support of a senior citizen center located in Coloma.

The board changed the meeting dates for their August and November board meetings, both due to the nearness of elections.

The August meeting will be held, Wednesday, Aug. 4, while the November meeting will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 3.

Broderick announced the board would meet Tuesday, July 20, at 8 p.m. in the township hall for the final hearing on grading, graveling, and sealcoating Tiara road.

The total cost of the project, pegged at $30,000, will be paid by both the township and property owners. The township share will amount to $18,000, according to Broderick, with the balance to be paid over a three-year period by the property owners.

The board approved a dance permit renewal for the Lake Michigan Beach Property owners association, 6150 West Central avenue, Hagar Shores, in conjunction with their club license. Bergstedt announced a grant application sought for the purchase of a new ambulance for the fire department had been turned down by the office of highway safety.

The grant, for $11,000, would have been used to replace a 1966 ambulance in use by the department.

Courtroom Security Hit

DETROIT (AP) — Four Detroit Recorder's Court judges refused to handle trials Tuesday because they said security was inadequate in the wake of police layoffs. Chief Judge Clarence Laster said all of the 20 regular judges would participate in a slowdown unless they had two police officers assigned to their courtrooms. The court handles all of the felony cases in Detroit. Some 85 police officers were assigned to it until July 1, when 972 police officers were laid off in a budget cut. The court has since been operating with 71 police officers. "This is a court which handles some of the most dangerous felons in the country and people should understand this," said Chief Judge Donald Leonard.

Pay's Up For Village Employees

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A seven cents per hour pay hike was granted to all hourly paid Berrien Springs village employees by the village council here last night.

Edgar Kesterke, village president, said the pay hike to the 15 employees is retroactive to July 1. He said the hourly paid employees base rate is reviewed every six months and is based on the cost of living index.

In the only other action, according to Kesterke, the village council accepted the low bid of George Sink Ford Sales, Berrien Springs, for a new pickup truck at $3,250. It was the lowest of three bids received, he said.

AREA POLICE

Loot Is $1,000 In 6 Thefts

Six thefts of cash and goods valued at more than $1,000 were reported Tuesday to Benton Harbor police and Berrien sheriff's deputies.

Thefts investigated by Benton Harbor police were:

- Two watches, valued at $210, and $290 in change from two piggy banks, from the home of Sylvester Palmer, 1163 Lavette street.
- A stereo component system, valued at $300, from the apartment of William Swift, 134 Apple avenue.
- A $125 CB radio from the car of Mrs. James Stewart, route 1, Caden, parked in a lot at Mercy hospital, 960 Agard avenue.

Thefts reported to deputies were:

- A gas grill, valued at $230, from the yard at the home of Edward Penn, 1780 Jayme drive, Baroda township.
- A nine-foot trimaran sailboat, owned by Roger Randall, 4817 Michigan street, Stevensville, from a private beach on Lake Michigan at the west end of Chicago avenue, Lincoln township.
- A wedding ring and engagement ring, both white gold, and an electric sander, from the residence of Michael Vondran, box 169-F, Meadowbrook road, Bainbridge township.

Benton township police said a man, young woman and a juvenile girl were arrested on charges of possession of marijuana in two separate incidents Tuesday and early today.

Booked at the Berrien county jail were Marc Ernest Taylor, 23, of 3312 Eaman road, Hagar township, and Anita Mary Bone, 18, of 7205 Hillendale road, Sodus. Police said they were arrested shortly before 1 a.m. today after a small amount of suspected marijuana was confiscated from a van parked in the lot a Jewel Food store, 756 East Napier avenue.

The 14-year-old Benton township girl was released to her parents pending petitioning to juvenile court on the marijuana charge and on a charge of shoplifting. Police said a small amount of suspected marijuana was confiscated during a search after the girl was taken into custody in connection with the alleged theft of a $2 necklace at Osco Drug store, 756 East Napier avenue, about 9:35 p.m.

St. Joseph police Tuesday reported two sets of bleacher seats were tipped over by vandals at Kiwanis park. Police said damage was confined to two broken seat boards. The bleachers were located at the lighted ball field, police reported.

Lee Okays Fire Pact With Clyde

PULLMAN — Lee township board last night approved an agreement to have its fire department provide fire protection for about one fourth of Clyde township.

The agreement calls for payment of $175 by Clyde township to Lee township for each fire call into the area. It would extend to the southside of 116th avenue from the Clyde township-Lee township line at 112th avenue.

In other areas, the board instructed Clerk Melvin Riston to write the state Department of Natural Resources concerning a weed control program conducted by the Lower Scott lake improvement association.

Riston said that some property owners on the lake have asked if the chemical control program conducted by the association is damaging the lake. Riston is to ask the DNR if the state regulates such programs.

The board approved amendments to the township zoning code, as recommended by the zoning and planning commissions. Riston said the amendments make no major changes in the code, and were made to meet state regulations.

Edward Yetzke, zoning administrator, reported that permits for three mobile homes, two additions to houses and three outbuildings were issued in June.

New School Aid Bill May Restrict Local Budgets

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A school aid bill Gov. William Milliken is expected to sign could force many school districts to ask for more local taxes if they don't tighten their belts, says Milliken's school specialist.

James Phelps said Tuesday the $727 million general fund state aid bill "will not provide nearly the dollars districts need if they want to spend at their current rates." When restricted school aid money is added, the total reaches $1.48 billion.

Each year, school districts traditionally spend about 12 per cent more than the previous year, Phelps said. The actual money flowing from the state to school districts in the new bill is an increase of only about a 9.2 per cent, Phelps said.

Although the bill appears to be an 11.76 per cent increase over current spending, the governor and legislators agreed that a $44.8 million payment to the Detroit school employees retirement system will be vetoed.

Milliken claims a contingency fund of that amount held by the system can pick up the payment. Also, the bill contains replacement money for the business inventory tax, which really is not new financing.

"There is no way schools can continue spending at current levels" without more local taxes, Phelps said. But, he added, "Districts which pull in their belts can make it."

Milliken "probably will sign it in about two weeks," Phelps continued.

The bill, passed Friday before legislative summer recess, provides a third straight year of so-called "guaranteed yield" school funding. Advocates of school aid revision lost out again, primarily to the argument that wholesale change is difficult when money is tight.

Under the "equal yield" formula, the state guarantees a certain level of combined state and local funds per student for each mill of local taxes levied.

In fiscal 1976-77, which begins Oct. 1, school districts will be guaranteed $43.90 for each student per mill for the first 20 mills and $39.60 per student for millage between 21 and 28 mills.

By comparison, under the current formula, the state guarantees $42.40 for the first 20 mills and $38.25 for from 21 to 27 mills.

Harmless, But Taste Is Good

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Scientists say they have developed an artificially flavored cigarette that is far lower in harmful ingredients than anything now on the market.

Using a technique employed to make chemically flavored foods, researchers said they came up with a cigarette that tastes good but is relatively harmless.

Arthur D. Little, Inc., a private research firm, is producing the artificial cigarette flavors under a $183,000 contract with the National Cancer Foundation.

In their study, the researchers said they are adding the flavors to a low-hazard — but low-tasting — cigarette that already has been produced for the federal government.

Before the flavors were added to these cigarettes "they were the ultimate reduced health hazard," said the project's director, John Angeline. "They were so bad nobody would smoke them."

They have isolated several chemicals that resemble the various tastes that go into cigarette flavors, he said. And they have combined them — in relatively unsophisticated fashion — to produce some sample cigarettes.

"We're at the point now where you'd describe them as being cigarettes," Angeline said in an interview. "They may be lousy, but that's a long way from where we started."

"I do not buy the hypothesis that smokers smoke only for nicotine — for nicotine, yes, but that's not the whole story. I'm convinced flavor plays a part," said Angeline, who said he smokes a leading filter-tipped brand.

AREA POLICE

Loot Is $1,000 In 6 Thefts

Six thefts of cash and goods valued at more than $1,000 were reported Tuesday to Benton Harbor police and Berrien sheriff's deputies.

Thefts investigated by Benton Harbor police were:

- Two watches, valued at $210, and $290 in change from two piggy banks, from the home of Sylvester Palmer, 1165 Lavette street.
- A stereo component system, valued at $300, from the apartment of William Swift, 134 Apple avenue.
- A $125 CB radio from the car of Mrs. James Stewart, route 1, Galien, parked in a lot at Mercy hospital, 960 Agard avenue.

Thefts reported to deputies were:

- A gas grill, valued at $230, from the yard at the home of Edward Peno, 1780 Jayme drive, Baroda township.
- A nine-foot trimaran sailboat, owned by Roger Randall, 4817 Michigan street, Stevensville, from a private beach on Lake Michigan at the west end of Chicago avenue, Lincoln township.
- A wedding ring and engagement ring, both white gold, and an electric sander, from the residence of Michael Vondran, box 160-F, Meadowbrook road, Bainbridge township.

Benton township police said a man, young woman and a juvenile girl were arrested on charges of possession of marijuana in two separate incidents Tuesday and early today.

Booked at the Berrien county jail were Marc Ernest Taylor, 23, of 3312 Eaman road, Hagar township, and Anita Mary Bone, 19, of 7206 Hillandale road, Sodus. Police said they were arrested shortly before 1 a.m. today after a small amount of suspected marijuana was confiscated from a van parked in the lot at Jewel Food store, 756 East Napier avenue.

The 14-year-old Benton township girl was released to her parents pending petitioning to juvenile court on the marijuana charge and on a charge of shoplifting. Police said a small amount of suspected marijuana was confiscated during a search after the girl was taken into custody in connection with the alleged theft of a $2 necklace at Osco Drug store, 756 East Napier avenue, about 9:25 p.m.

St. Joseph police Tuesday reported two sets of bleacher seats were tipped over by vandals at Kiwanis park. Police said damage was confined to two broken seat boards. The bleachers were located at the lighted ball field, police reported.

Lee Okays Fire Pact With Clyde

PULLMAN — Lee township board last night approved an agreement to have its fire department provide fire protection for about one fourth of Clyde township.

The agreement calls for payment of $175 by Clyde township to Lee township for each fire call into the area. It would extend to the southside of 116th avenue from the Clyde township-Lee township line at 112th avenue.

In other areas, the board instructed Clerk Melvin Riston to write the state Department of Natural Resources concerning a weed control program conducted by the Lower Scott lake Improvement association.

Riston said that some property owners on the lake have asked if the chemical control program conducted by the association is damaging the lake. Riston is to ask the DNR if the state regulates such programs.

The board approved amendments to the township zoning code, as recommended by the zoning and planning commissions. Riston said the amendments make no major changes in the code, and were made to meet state regulations.

Edward Yetke, zoning administrator, reported that permits for three mobile homes, two additions to houses and three outbuildings were issued in June.

New School Aid Bill May Restrict Local Budgets

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A school aid bill Gov. William Milliken is expected to sign could force many school districts to ask for more local taxes if they don't tighten their belts, says Milliken's school specialist.

James Phelps said Tuesday the $727 million general fund state aid bill "will not provide nearly the dollars districts need if they want to spend at their current rates." When restricted school aid money is added, the total reaches $1.48 billion.

Each year, school districts traditionally spend about 12 per cent more than the previous year, Phelps said. The actual money flowing from the state to school districts in the new bill is an increase of only about a 9.2 per cent, Phelps said.

Although the bill appears to be an 11.76 per cent increase over current spending, the governor and legislators agreed that a $34.6 million payment to the Detroit school employees retirement system will be vetoed.

Milliken claims a contingency fund of that amount held by the system can pick up the payment. Also, the bill contains replacement money for the business inventory tax, which really is not new financing.

"There is no way schools can continue spending at current levels" without more local taxes, Phelps said. But, he added, "Districts which pull in their belts can make it."

Milliken "probably will sign it in about two weeks," Phelps continued.

The bill, passed Friday before legislative summer recess, provides a third straight year of so-called "guaranteed yield" school funding. Advocates of school aid revision lost out again, primarily to the argument that wholesale change is difficult when money is tight.

Under the "equal yield" formula, the state guarantees a certain level of combined state and local funds per student for each mill of local taxes levied.

In fiscal 1976-77, which begins Oct. 1, school districts will be guaranteed $43.90 for each student per mill for the first 20 mills and $39.60 per student for millage between 21 and 28 mills.

By comparison, under the current formula, the state guarantees $42.40 for the first 20 mills and $38.25 for from 21 to 27 mills.

Harmless, But Taste Is Good

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Scientists say they have developed an artificially flavored cigarette that is far lower in harmful ingredients than anything now on the market.

Using a technique employed to make chemically flavored foods, researchers said they came up with a cigarette that tastes good but is relatively harmless.

Arthur D. Little, Inc., a private research firm, is producing the artificial cigarette flavors under a $183,000 contract with the National Cancer Foundation.

In their study, the researchers said they are adding the flavors to a low-hazard — but low-tasting — cigarette that already has been produced for the federal government.

Before the flavors were added to those cigarettes "they were the ultimate reduced health hazard," said the project's director, John Angelino. "They were so bad nobody would smoke them."

They have isolated several chemicals that resemble the various tastes that go into cigarette flavors, he said. And they have combined them — in relatively unsophisticated fashion — to produce some sample cigarettes.

"We're at the point now where you'd describe them as being cigarettes," Angelino said in an interview. "They may be lousy, but that's a long way from where we started."

"I do not buy the hypothesis that smokers smoke only for nicotine — for nicotine, yes, but that's not the whole story. I'm convinced flavor plays a part," said Angelino, who said he smokes a leading filter-tipped brand.

Buchanan Township OKs Parking Lot Project Bid

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan township board last night accepted the bid of $3,200 from Blevins Brothers Truck Co., Buchanan, to construct a 100 by 100 foot extension to the existing township hall parking lot.

The five bids received ranged from $2,984 to $6,730. The Blevins bid was accepted as it called for more chloride and fill dirt than the low bid submitted by Thompson Construction Co., Buchanan. Work on the project is to begin in about a week.

In other areas, the board granted a request from Grigor Gordon to split his two acre lots in the River Shores subdivision. A similar request from Lynn Ferris to split his lot located at the rear of the township hall was also granted.

Galien Twp. To Buy New Fire Units

GALIEN — Purchase of seven new electron receiving units for the Galien township fire department was approved by the township board last night.

Robert Klingerman, fire chief, estimated total cost of the units at $1,130. The new units are in addition to the seven already in use.

In other areas, the board accepted the resignation of Clark Sherman as the township board's representative to the township zoning board of appeals. Sherman, a trustee for the last 11½ years and representative to the zoning appeals board for two years, is moving to Dallas, Tex., and is not seeking re-election this fall.

The board also appointed Paul Edward Ashcraft as constable replacing Paul Stephens who stepped down from the position.

by the board.

Appointment of five election workers for each of the township's four precincts by Mrs. Donna Newsome, township clerk, were approved. The board also granted a pay increase to precinct chairmen from $2.30 to $2.75 per hour.

Representatives from the Life Action Youth Ranch Inc., at Clear Lake, were present to learn what methods they should follow to have the city of Buchanan extend water and sewer service to the ranch and 19 homes in the area. They were told by the board to contact the city commission to find out costs and requirements and report their findings back to the township board.

Stockman Backers Set Decatur Hot Dog Roast

DECATUR — The Decatur "Stockman for Congress" committee will hold an old fashioned hot dog roast to give Decatur residents a chance to meet David Stockman, Republican candidate for U.S. Congress from the 4th district. The get-together will be Sunday, July 11, from 3:30 to 6 p.m. at the Shady Shores subdivision at Lake-of-the-Woods. Mani Soret is chairman of the roast. Other committee members include Dr. and Mrs. Donald J. Emaus, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Gale, Mr. and Mrs. Warren B. Grosvenor, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Krum, Mr. and Mrs. Topper Newell, and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Vlick.

Sister Lakes Driver Hospitalized

DOWAGIAC — A Sister Lakes woman was reported in fair condition this morning at Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo, where she was being treated for injuries suffered when her car ran off the road and struck a tree near here yesterday.

The woman, Deborah Kay Pitcher, 20, was transferred to Borgess yesterday from Lee Memorial hospital, Dowagiac.

for treatment of serious head and facial injuries, according to Cass sheriff's deputies.

Officers said she was driving alone about 8:10 a.m. when the northbound vehicle ran off Middle Crossing road about a mile north of Dowagiac and struck a tree. She has not been ticketed, but the accident remains under investigation, officers said.

Two Hurt In Plane Crash

MANCELONA, Mich. (AP) — A father and his son were hospitalized today following the crash of their small plane Tuesday night at the Mancelona Airport, according to Antrim County officials. Deputies said Benay Dobbs, 35, of Mancelona and his 13-year-old son, Ronald, were being treated at a Traverse City clinic. Dobbs was listed in fair condition and his son was listed in serious condition. Officials said fire, city police and county officials were investigating the crash. They did not say what might have caused the plane to go down.

Mrs. Ziebarth has had eight years experience in food store business. Store was purchased from Max Corwin and Myron "Bud" Cupp. (Alice Koch photo)

Keeler Okays $5,821 Culvert Bid

KEELER — The Keeler township board last night accepted a $5,821 bid, submitted by the Van Buren county road commission, to replace a culvert on 68th street at Mill creek.

The board said work on replacement of the culvert, which will protect two drainage tubes, is expected to be completed by the end of the summer.

In other areas, the board approved purchase of used radar equipment from Decatur at a cost of $300. The equipment will be used by Van Buren county sheriff's deputies only when patrolling township roads, the board said.

Fourth District Backing Carter

The Fourth Congressional district will send four delegates and two alternates to the Democratic National convention next week in New York City.

Delegates are Mrs. Edna (Rae) Daugherty, Sister Lakes, Van Buren county; Milton Wells, Benton Harbor, and Russell Babcock, Galien, Berrien county; and Mary Emerson, Lenawee county.

Mrs. Daugherty said all of the district delegates are pledged to Jimmy Carter except Mary Emerson who is pledged to Morris Udall.

Alternates are Charles Christensen, Paw Paw, pledged to Carter, and Dr. Susan Hammon, St. Joseph county, pledged to Udall.

The convention is July 12-16. The Michigan delegation will meet in New York July 11.

It's the first time Wells and Babcock have been national convention delegates. Mrs. Daugherty previously was an alternate. She is the wife of Richard (Mike) Daugherty, Democratic candidate for Fourth District congressman. Mrs. Daugherty said her husband will be campaigning and won't attend the national convention.

Wells is employed by the Benton Harbor parks and recreation board. Babcock is retired and is Fourth District coordinator for Carter.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Secretary of State Richard Austin said Wednesday he is ending a system through which branch office managers made political contributions to the Democratic party and Austin's Senate campaign.

The decades old system, which has benefited both parties, has netted Austin and other Democrats more than $200,000 in political contributions since Austin took office in 1971.

"When it comes to political ethics, appearance is almost as important as fact," said Austin, the front-runner in the race for the seat of retiring U.S. Sen. Philip Hart.

"The facts are that the system during my time in office has been operated cleanly and without abuse, and I have taken steps to confirm that. But if appearance causes concern among the citizens about how their government is run, then it is time to act," said Austin.

Gov. William Milliken last week said if he were Austin, he would end the system immediately.

"The system is a bipartisan relic of a bygone era. The era is ended. So let's be done with it now," Austin said in a statement.

Since last April, Austin has collected about $30,000 from some 95 branch managers whom Austin appointed. Austin has maintained all along that the contributions were voluntary and no coercion was involved, though published reports have quoted branch managers as saying they were coerced to contribute.

Austin said Charles Deamond, chairman of the Michigan Branch Managers Association, agreed that the organization would no longer act to collect and disperse political funds.

"As of right now, any and all ties between the branch manager system and political contributions of any kind are ended," he said.

"Obviously, the managers still have a right to make their own individual contributions if they so desire. I have no control over that. It is a matter between them personally and the party or candidates of their choice," he said.

Under the system, which is not illegal, branch managers have traditionally agreed to return in political contributions a certain percentage of license plate and other fees.

Austin has said he is angered by the raising of the issue now, only weeks before the Senate primary on Aug. 3, particularly since he has acted since taking office in 1971 to reduce the number of fee branch managers from 232 to 95. The rest have been converted to civil service jobs.

The remaining 95 fee branch managers will be converted to civil service positions within about 18 months, Austin said.

Democratic Senate candidate James Elsmann, a Birmingham attorney, said Tuesday he would sue Austin in an attempt to force the secretary of state to hand over contributions he receives from his branch managers.

Elsmann had accused Austin of coercing branch managers to donate 10 per cent of their gross revenues to his campaign. Elsmann said the money should be turned back to the state.

Austin has written to all managers and asked them to withdraw their financial support if they felt coerced.

He also has asked the Michigan Fair Campaign Practices Commission and the public accounting firm of Arthur Andersen & Co. to look at his accounts and verify that no improprieties occurred.

That audit should be done in about two weeks, he said.

PAW PAW — A Kalamazoo couple were injured northeast of here yesterday afternoon when their motorcycle collided with a car they were trying to pass on M-43.

State police at Paw Paw reported that the motorcycle, ridden by Christopher Miller, 22, and his wife, Gloria, 22, collided with a car driven by William Lance, 40, route 3, Paw Paw.

Troopers said Lance had slowed to make a left turn on 30th street about 12:10 p.m. when the motorcycle tried to pass, coming into the path of the car.

Gloria Miller was listed in fair condition at Bronson hospital, Kalamazoo, with severe cuts to her right leg while her husband was treated and released. Lance was not hurt.

Christopher Miller was ticketed for improper overtaking, police said.

Ford's Job Bill Veto Under Fire

The bill is a scaled-down version of a $6.2-billion program Ford vetoed in February. The House voted to override that veto but the Senate vote fell three short of the required two-thirds.

House Democratic Whip John McFall of California said he is confident the House will again vote to override. Majority Leader Thomas O'Neill Jr. said when the bill was passed, "We are going to make this bill law, either with the President's signature or over his veto."

The override attempt is expected soon after Congress returns July 19 after the Democratic national convention.

Griffin, who worked hard to sustain the earlier veto, told the Senate that if Ford disapproved the scaled-down measure, he tired in 1961 from the Aviation Division, Bendix Corporation, South Bend, Ind.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Jack Cartwright, Maumee, Ohio; a sister, Mrs. Garnet Perkins, Mishawaka, Ind., and two brothers, Raymond, Mishawaka and Logan of Richmond, Ohio. His wife, the former Madge Hunt, preceded him in death in 1969.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Gruner funeral home, Dowagiac. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 this evening.

Claim State Can't Halt Nuclear Dump

neighbors will allow their government to do this."

An earlier hearing in Lansing drew only 25 people. Afterward, Ruppe charged ERDA with disregarding its own rules in studying the Alpena-Montmorency-Presque Isle counties area for a possible dumping site for nuclear wastes.

Ruppe said ERDA has not come up with an environmental impact statement on the proposed project even though its standard practice is to assess environmental impact before beginning to drill.

State Rep. Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate, chairman of the House Conservation Committee, testified that it should be determined in advance whether the wastes will seep into the state's fresh water and how they will safely be transported.

Thomas Washington, executive director of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, said a full environmental impact statement is needed.

"We must admit that we are skeptical whether ERDA can prove to the satisfaction of this state that disposal of nuclear wastes will be safe," Washington said.

He called for a full "public airing" of the question, and said that among other things ERDA must tell the state how much and what type of waste it plans to store, and what safeguards will be taken to protect against accident, sabotage, or error during transport.

"One thing is certain," he added, "the people of Michigan will have to live with ERDA's decision for eternity."

Richard Conlin, projects director of the Public Interest Research Group in Michigan (PIRGIM), said six of 11 temporary waste storage sites have leaked radiation into the environment.

Rep. Lynn Jondaht, D-East Lansing, called for public debate prior to any decisions. He proposed that no nuclear waste disposal facility be built in Michigan until the state Public Service Commission and the state legislature issue a "certificate of reliability."

South Havenite Pleads Guilty

SOUTH HAVEN — Donald Luffel, 18, of South Haven, pleaded guilty in Seventh District court here yesterday to a reduced charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He had originally been charged with third degree criminal sexual conduct in connection with the alleged assault of a 15-year-old Bangor girl.

Judge Donald M. Goodwillie released Luffel on a personal recognizance bond pending a pre-sentence investigation.

In other cases, Steve Swanner and Don Farley, both 18 and from route 2, Bangor demanded preliminary examinations when arraigned on a breaking and entering charge. The two were arrested by state police from the South Haven post in connection with the June 14 entry of a shed belonging to Henry Stromeyer of Bangor township and the subsequent theft of a motorcycle. Troopers said they have also petitioned a 18-year-old Bangor boy to Van Buren probate court in connection with the same incident.

Noelia Garza, 23, of Decatur was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail for contempt of court. Miss Garza was arrested on a bench warrant after she failed to appear for a preliminary examination on May 20, 1975 on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

An examination on the 1975 charge was scheduled for July 13. Lerrell Walker, 24, 1015 Indiana avenue, South Haven demanded a preliminary examination on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Walker was arrested by South Haven police after customers of a South Haven take-out food business complained of a person carrying a pistol. Walker was ordered held in lieu of $1,000 bond pending the July 13 exam.

A bench warrant was authorized for William Walatyn, Jr., 37, 62nd street, Bangor on a felony charge contending he wrote three non-sufficient checks within a 10 day period.

Walatyn, owned the Bill's cab company of South Haven whose license was recently revoked for poor service. Walatyn's company ceased operation two weeks ago and the owner disappeared.

The warrant contends that checks valued at $725 were written against the company's checking account at American National bank of South Haven.

School Fund Figure Is $43.90

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

An Associated Press story Saturday on page 8 incorrectly listed the amount of funding that Michigan will guarantee schools next fiscal year under a bill approved by the legislature.

The correct version is: In 1976-77, school districts will be guaranteed $43.90 for the first 20 mills, and $39.60 per student for millage between 21 and 28 mills.

Saturday's story incorrectly put the first figure at $49.90.

Temporary Ban Lifted

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — A Macomb County Circuit judge has lifted a temporary ban on the publication of a leaflet rating political candidates. A restraining order was obtained last week by James Scandirio, 32, a Mount Clemens attorney who is seeking the Democratic nomination to Congress from the 12th District. He had contested the planned publication of a "rating" leaflet by the Suburban Alliance, a group of 37 persons which sometimes endorses Macomb County political contenders. An attorney for the Suburban Alliance, William Ross, argued that the "Constitution allows free publication of political opinions and that the courts 'do not concern themselves with the truth or validity of the publication.'" Judge Raymond Cashen agreed.

Two Of The Issues

DETROIT (AP) — Rising health care costs and financial problems facing retirees will be two of the issues at stake when the United Auto Workers and the four domestic car makers begin contract talks July 16. Although pension agreements as such cannot be discussed this year as a result of a 1973 promise by the union, a growing number of union members want better provisions made for retirees. UAW President Leonard Woodcock noted reopening the pension agreement would violate the union's integrity and open the door to time-consuming litigation. But he pledged at a special bargaining convention in March that the union "will not turn our backs in 1976 on our retirees."

It Pays To Jog

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state of Michigan is paying some of its employees to shape up. Employees can spend up to three hours of work time a week jogging and exercising under a pilot physical fitness program run by the Department of Public Health. "We started it here because we think that the public health department, in its commitment to good health, should try its own medicine," deputy department director Theodore Ervin said. Joggers can run along a lane in back of the health department complex, and there is a sauna exercise and shower room. The employee program began when the department's Public Health Advisory Council set up a committee in 1974 to help formulate a yet-to-be-appointed Michigan Council on Physical Fitness and Health.

Lake Is Adding 3rd Officer

BRIDGMAN — The Lake township board last night announced that a third full-time Baroda-Lake township police officer would be hired by July 15.

The action will enable the township to be provided with its own around-the-clock service, according to Elsie Reck, township clerk.

In a related matter the board reappointed trustees LeRoy Gast and Lawrence Ott as representatives to the Baroda-Lake township police board for one-year terms.

It was also announced the township has received $5,127 in federal revenue sharing funds. The funds have been earmarked for improvements in the township water system.

"We started it here because we think that the public health department, in its commitment to good health, should try its own medicine," deputy department director Theodore Ervin said. Joggers can run along a lane in back of the health department complex, and there is a small exercise and shower room. The employee program began when the department's Public Health Advisory Council set up a committee in 1974 to help formulate a yet-to-be-appointed Michigan Council on Physical Fitness and Health.

PAW PAW — A Kalamazoo couple were injured northeast of here yesterday afternoon when their motorcycle collided with a car they were trying to pass on M-43.

State police at Paw Paw reported that the motorcycle, ridden by Christopher Miller, 22, and his wife, Gloria, 22, collided with a car driven by William Lance, 40, route 3, Paw Paw.

Troopers said Lance had slowed to make a left turn on 30th street about 12:10 p.m. when the motorcycle tried to pass, coming into the path of the car.

Gloria Miller was listed in fair condition at Bronson hospital, Kalamazoo, with severe cuts to her right leg while her husband was treated and released. Lance was not hurt.

Christopher Miller was ticketed for improper overtaking, police said.

The bill is a scaled-down version of a $6.2-billion program Ford vetoed in February. The House voted to override that veto but the Senate vote fell three short of the required two-thirds.

House Democratic Whip John McFall of California said he is confident the House will again vote to override. Majority Leader Thomas O'Neill Jr. said when the bill was passed, "We are going to make this bill law, either with the President's signature or over his veto."

The override attempt is expected soon after Congress returns July 19 after the Democratic national convention.

Griffin, who worked hard to sustain the earlier veto, told the Senate that if Ford disapproved the scaled-down measure, he neighbors will allow their government to do this."

An earlier hearing in Lansing drew only 25 people. Afterward, Ruppe charged ERDA with disregarding its own rules in studying the Alpena-Montmorency-Presque Isle counties area for a possible dumping site for nuclear wastes.

Ruppe said ERDA has not come up with an environmental impact statement on the proposed project even though its standard practice is to assess environmental impact before beginning to drill.

State Rep. Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate, chairman of the House Conservation Committee, testified that it should be determined in advance whether the wastes will seep into the state's fresh water and how they will safely be transported.

Thomas Washington, executive director of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, said a full environmental impact statement is needed.

"We must admit that we are skeptical whether ERDA can prove to the satisfaction of this state that disposal of nuclear wastes will be safe," Washington said.

He called for a full "public airing" of the question, and said that among other things ERDA must tell the state how much and what type of waste it plans to store, and what safeguards will be taken to protect against accident, sabotage, or error during transport.

"One thing is certain," he added, "the people of Michigan will have to live with ERDA's decision for eternity."

Richard Conlin, projects director of the Public Interest Research Group in Michigan (PIRGIM), said six of 11 temporary waste storage sites have leaked radiation into the environment.

Rep. Lynn Jondahl, D-East Lansing, called for public debate prior to any decisions. He proposed that no nuclear waste disposal facility be built in Michigan until the state Public Service Commission and the state legislature issue a "certificate of reliability."

Three Vying For Senate Due In Area

Three state candidates for the U.S. Senate are scheduled to visit the Twin Cities Thursday. Secretary of State Richard Austin, a Democrat, is expected to arrive in Benton Harbor at 4 p.m. Congressman Marvin Esch, Ann Arbor Republican, is to address the noon luncheon of the St. Joseph Lions club and will be joined by fellow Republican Thomas Brennan of Lansing at a "Meet Your Candidates" program at 5 p.m. at Riverview Park.

The outing at Riverview Park, St. Joseph, is sponsored by Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce which said today that reservations are still being accepted by calling the chamber office, 777 Riverview drive, Benton Harbor.

All three seek their party's nomination for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Sen. Philip A. Hart. Hart has announced he will not seek re-election.

According to Ben Rosenberg of Sodus, Berrien county committee chairman for Austin, Michigan's secretary of state will help open campaign headquarters for Charles Henderson, Democratic candidate for the state 44th district House seat, at 133 East Main street, Benton Harbor, at 4 p.m. Then at 5 p.m. he will join Henderson and Richard "Mike" Daugherty, Sister AKES, Democratic candidate for the 4th Congressional district seat, at a "Meet the Candidates Day" at the Benton Harbor public library. Austin will then be honored at a fund raising dinner in his behalf at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn at 7 p.m. A press conference will precede the dinner. The public is invited to the dinner. Cost is $7 per plate.

Other candidates who have indicated they will attend the Riverview Park "Meet Your Candidate" program include David Stockman and David Frazer, Republicans seeking their party nomination for 4th Congressional district seat, and Harry Gast Jr., St. Joseph Republican, 4th state district representative.

Austin's office said he would attend the Riverview Park get-together if his schedule permits. Cost of the Riverview Park program is $4 per person and includes refreshments.

Coloma-Watervliet Phone Update Near

Michigan Bell has announced that its new $1.9 million Coloma-Watervliet electronic central office at Hennessy road and Red Arrow highway in Watervliet township will be placed in service Saturday, July 31.

Edwin A. Mabin, district manager for Michigan Bell, said a sophisticated electronic switching system will make available new optional services to the 5,400 telephone customers in the two communities.

In addition, Mabin said, local customers will begin to dial

"411" to reach information.

Among the new optional services offered Coloma and Watervliet customers will be four custom calling features and touch-tone phones.

The custom calling features are:

(1) — Call waiting, which, with a short tone, informs a customer using the phone there's a second call waiting to be answered;

(2) — Call forwarding, which automatically transfers an incoming call from one telephone number to another;

(3) — Three-way calling, which allows a customer to add a third party to a conversation;

(4) — Speed calling, which permits a customer to reach frequently called numbers by dialing two- or three-digit codes.

Touch-Tone phones allow one to tap out numbers on electronic pushbuttons rather than spin a dial.

With the electronic switching system (ESS), Mabin said that telephone users accustomed to dialing only four digits for local calls must begin dialing all seven digits beginning July 31.

"The dialing 'short cut' won't work any longer," he said.

In addition, customers with one- and two-party service no longer will hear the operator come on the line to ask for their numbers when they dial long distance calls direct. The calling number will be recorded automatically for billing purposes.

Mabin said suburban service customers, when dialing long distance calls, will continue to give their numbers to the operator.

Party line customers may dial Operator to learn how to reach other subscribers on their lines, and all party line customers will hear only their own rings.

The Coloma-Watervliet ESS was designed by Bell Laboratories, the research arm of the Bell System, and installed by Western Electric, Bell's manufacturing and supply organization.

According to Mabin, the system can handle more than 100,000 calls an hour by performing thousands of steps each second. It constantly monitors its own performance and sends a message to Michigan Bell workers if a problem is detected.

This is the 68th electronic system Michigan Bell has installed in the state, and several more are expected to become operational this year. The Bell System network now contains more than nine thousand ESS offices.

Telephone users interested in Custom Calling features or Touch-Tone phones may contact Michigan Bell's business office for additional information and rates, Mabin said.

Carl Anderson Board President At River Valley

THREE OAKS — Carl R. Anderson, 44, of Harbert, was elected president of the River Valley school board last night during the board's annual reorganizational meeting. Anderson, director of transportation for Whirlpool Corp., St. Joseph, replaces Weldon Burden who stepped down from the school board presidency voluntarily. Anderson had been vice president of the board.

Other newly elected officers include James Schreibern vice president; Mrs. Mary E. Ray, secretary; and Larry Mitchell, treasurer. Other board members, in addition to Burden are Adrian VanGinhoven and John Schwark.

In other areas, the board approved a 195-day contract for Mrs. Edith Tuitman, school nurse, for the 1976-77 school year calling for a salary of $6,288. She was formerly paid $5 per hour.

The board also approved a policy to pay Michigan Education association health insurance premiums of approximately $78 per month for non-instructional employees not covered by other contracts. The insurance for part-time employees will be prorated.

It was announced that the building trades classes of the shared-time program would construct a new home in Galien during the 1976-77 school year.

A special meeting of the board will be held Monday, July 19, at 8 p.m.

Pine Grove's Supervisor To Resign Aug. 10

GOBLES — Marshall Howrigan, Pine Grove township supervisor since 1974, told the township board last night he was stepping down from the post one week after the Aug. 3 primary election. Howrigan, 38, whose resignation will be official at the board's Aug. 10 meeting, is not seeking re-election this fall. He told the board that since he was not seeking the office again he felt that someone else should be working on upcoming property tax assessments and therefore was resigning.

The supervisor said an interim supervisor would have to be appointed until after the November general election. He pledged to work with the interim replacement.

In other areas, Edward Valeau presented plans to the board for a mobile home park he plans to build on 32nd street on property now owned by Elwyn Weston. Valeau told the board he plans to spend $110,000 to develop the property.

Petitions signed by 54 residents of Kendall asking that the speed limit CR-388 through the area be reduced from 35 miles per hour to 25 miles per hour were presented to the board. The board said the petitions would be turned over to the county road commission.

In matters related to the Aug. 3 primary, the board postponed its Aug. 3 meeting until Aug. 10 because of the election; authorized payment for one meal for each election worker; and authorized Mrs. Jerry Smith to clean the township hall prior to the election at a rate of $2.50 per hour.

Appointment of Mrs. Richard Lee as the township representative to the county commission on aging was approved, but appointment of members to a township planning commission was delayed until after the November general election.

The board said bids on a piano, the board is seeking to sell, will be opened at the Aug. 10 meeting. The piano is in the old township hall in Kendall. Chloride to control road dust may be picked up free of charge for township residents at the hall, board spokesmen said.

Officers Were Red-Faced

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police said they had to bail a thief out of jail and spend some of their own money to recover 14 walkie talkies stolen from headquarters last week. Police Chief Philip Tannian admitted the theft from the headquarters surveillance unit room was an embarrassment. The escapade began last Monday when a 17-year-old member of an east side gang broke into the room and stole the radios. Police theorize the youth may have seen the radios there earlier when he was being held on a disorderly conduct charge. After the theft, police arrested the youth in a YMCA locker room in Detroit. The youth was jailed on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property and then offered to return five of the radios if police got him out of jail. Several police said they had to bail the youth out with money from the informants' fund because Recorder's Court Judge Michael Conner refused to lower the bond of $1,000. Police detectives got back the five radios after bailing out the youth. Police then tracked down the remaining radios and had to buy some of them back for $20 or $25 apiece because they had already been sold.

Jury Selection Continues In Allegan Murder Trial

BY DENNIS COGSWELL

Fast Faw Bureau
ALLEGAN — Jury selection was expected to continue today in the circuit court trial of a Detroit man charged with the shooting death of a South Haven police officer Jan. 8.

Selection of jurors in the first-degree murder trial of Richard Dixon, 36, began Tuesday, and yesterday Owen

Ramey, assistant Allegan prosecutor, predicted it may last through the end of the week.

Dixon is charged with killing Patrolman Michael McAllister, 38, after McAllister had stopped a man in Allegan county's Casco township just north of the South Haven city limits. McAllister was struck in the heart and stomach by two bullets after he had sought to frisk the man.

Dixon was apprehended about an hour after the shooting at a home on North Shore drive in Casco township.

Ramey said yesterday that Judge George R. Corsiglia instructed jurors that the trial may take up to three weeks.

Following motions by defense attorneys Michael Deutsch and Hollis Hill of Chicago, Judge Corsiglia ruled that each prospective juror must be interviewed separately outside the presence of other jurors as to whether or not they have already heard anything about the case, Ramey said.

Dixon also faces federal air piracy and kidnapping charges in connection with the Oct. 9, 1972 hijacking of an Eastern Airlines flight from Detroit to Miami.

IRS Eyes Gulf 'Bribes'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has begun investigating allegations that its auditors accepted gratuities from Gulf Oil Corp. while reviewing that company's taxes, two sources close to the investigation say. The IRS' inspection service unit has been questioning some of the 200 auditors here about gifts of liquor, dinners, golf outings or trips which they allegedly accepted from Gulf, one of the sources said Tuesday. The inspection service operates out of IRS headquarters in Washington and is responsible to IRS Commissioner Donald Alexander.

He told the board that since he was not seeking the office again he felt that someone else should be working on upcoming property tax assessments and therefore was resigning.

The supervisor said an interim supervisor would have to be appointed until after the November general election. He pledged to work with the interim replacement.

In other areas, Edward Valeau presented plans to the board for a mobile home park he plans to build on 32nd street on property now owned by Elwyn Weston. Valeau told the board he plans to spend $110,000 to develop the property.

Petitions signed by 54 residents of Kendall asking that the speed limit CR-388 through the area be reduced from 35 miles per hour to 25 miles per hour were presented to the board. The board said the petitions would be turned over to the county road commission.

In matters related to the Aug. 3 primary, the board postponed its Aug. 3 meeting until Aug. 10 because of the election; authorized payment for one meal for each election worker; and authorized Mrs. Jerry Smith to clean the township hall prior to the election at a rate of $2.50 per hour.

Appointment of Mrs. Richard Lee as the township representative to the county commission on aging was approved, but ap-

Officers Were Red-Faced

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police said they had to bail a thief out of jail and spend some of their own money to recover 14 walkie talkie radios stolen from headquarters last week. Police Chief Philip Tannian admitted the theft from the headquarters surveillance unit room was an embarrassment. The escapade began last Monday when a 17-year-old member of an east side gang broke into the room and stole the radios. Police theorize the youth may have seen the radios there earlier when he was being held on a disorderly conduct charge. After the theft, police arrested the youth in a YMCA locker room in Detroit. The youth was jailed on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property and then offered to return five of the radios if police got him out of jail. Several police said they had to bail the youth out with money from the informants' fund because Recorder's Court Judge Michael Conner refused to lower the bond of $1,000. Police detectives got back the five radios after bailing out the youth. Police then tracked down the remaining radios and had to buy some of them back for $20 or $25 apiece because they had already been sold.

Three Vying For Senate Due In Area

Three state candidates for the U.S. Senate are scheduled to visit the Twin Cities Thursday. Secretary of State Richard Austin, a Democrat, is expected to arrive in Benton Harbor at 4 p.m. Congressman Marvin Esch, Ann Arbor Republican, is to address the noon luncheon of the St. Joseph Lions club and will be joined by fellow Republican Thomas Brennan of Lansing at a "Meet Your Candidates" program at 5 p.m. at Riverview Park.

The outing at Riverview Park, St. Joseph, is sponsored by Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce which said today that reservations are still being accepted by calling the chamber office, 777 Riverview drive, Benton Harbor.

All three seek their party's nomination for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Sen. Philip A. Hart. Hart has announced he will not seek re-election.

According to Ben Rosenberg of Sodus, Berrien county committee chairman for Austin, Michigan's secretary of state will help open campaign headquarters for Charles Henderson, Democratic candidate for the state 44th district House seat, at 133 East Main street, Benton Harbor, at 4 p.m. Then at 5 p.m. he will join Henderson and Richard "Mike" Daugherty, Sister AKES, Democratic candidate for the 4th Congressional district seat, at a "Meet the Candidates Day" at the Benton Harbor public library. Austin will then be honored at a fund raising dinner in his behalf at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn at 7 p.m. A press conference will precede the dinner. The public is invited to the dinner. Cost is $7 per plate.

Other candidates who have indicated they will attend the Riverview Park "Meet Your Candidate" program include David Stockman and David Frazer, Republicans seeking their party nomination for 4th Congressional district seat, and Harry Gast Jr., St. Joseph Republican, 43rd state district representative.

Austin's office said he would attend the Riverview Park get-together if his schedule permits. Cost of the Riverview Park program is $4 per person and includes refreshments.

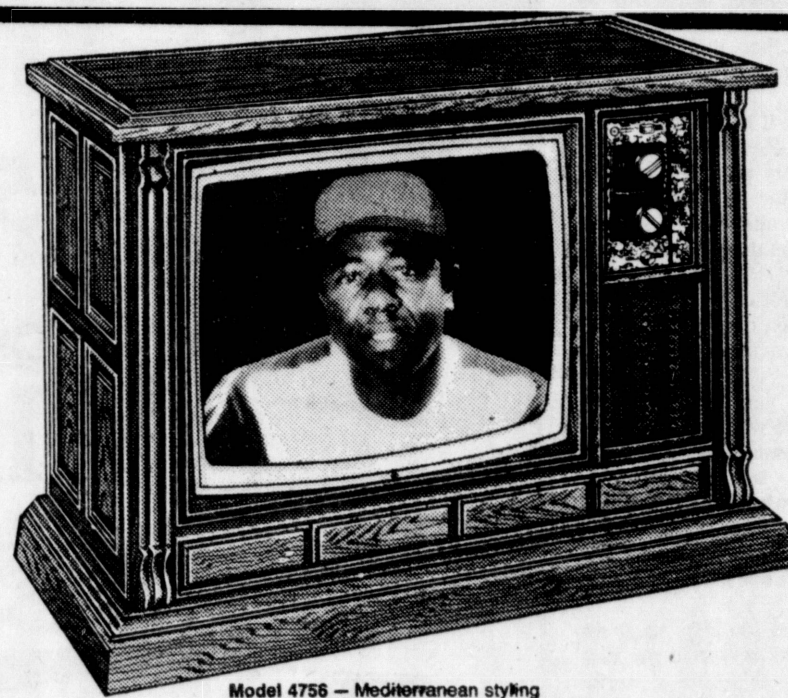

HE HAD NO PILOTS

Jury Selection Continues In Allegan Murder Trial

Paw Paw Bureau

ALLEGAN — Jury selection was expected to continue today in the circuit court trial of a Detroit man charged with the shooting death of a South Haven police officer Jan. 8.

Selection of jurors in the first-degree murder trial of Richard Dixon, 35, began Tuesday, and yesterday Owen

Ramey, assistant Allegan prosecutor, predicted it may last through the end of the week.

Dixon is charged with killing Patrolman Michael McAllister, 39, after McAllister had stopped a man in Allegan county's Casco township just north of the South Haven city limits. McAllister was struck in the heart and stomach by two bullets after he had sought to frisk the man.

Dixon was apprehended about an hour after the shooting at a home on North Shore drive in Casco township.

Ramey said yesterday that Judge George R. Corsiglia instructed jurors that the trial may take up to three weeks.

Following motions by defense attorneys Michael Deutsch and Hollis Hill of Chicago, Judge Corsiglia ruled that each prospective juror must be interviewed separately outside the presence of other jurors as to whether or not they have already heard anything about the case, Ramey said.

Dixon also faces federal air piracy and kidnapping charges in connection with the Oct. 9, 1972 hijacking of an Eastern Airlines flight from Detroit to Miami.

IRS Eyes Gulf 'Bribes'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has begun investigating allegations that its auditors accepted gratuities from Gulf Oil Corp. while reviewing that company's taxes, two sources close to the investigation say. The IRS' inspection service unit has been questioning some of the 290 auditors here about gifts of liquor, dinners, golf outings or trips which they allegedly accepted from Gulf, one of the sources said Tuesday. The inspection service operates out of IRS headquarters in Washington and is responsible to IRS Commissioner Donald Alexander.

Ask Your Dentist

By ALFRED E. SEYLER, D.D.S.

Q. Does tooth enamel pressing against enamel (like clenching the teeth at night) break down bone structure and cause teeth to loosen? Our dentist had me using a guard at night, but my teeth seem to be getting looser. Another dentist told me that tartar and plaque has caused this bacteria getting in around roots of teeth, but did not say it was pyorrhea. Should I go for a third dentist's opinion before starting treatment with this second dentist? Mrs. M.D.H.

A. Pyorrhea is a catch-all term for disease of the gums and is caused by the factors which you state in your letter — namely tartar and plaque. There is no reason that you should consult a third dentist for purposes of an opinion as your present dentist seems to be proceeding with the proper treatment for a disease of this sort.

called bruxism and the cause is not known, however, many researchers feel that it occurs when an individual is exposed to periods of emotional strain. If the habit persists, it is entirely possible that it will cause your teeth to loosen because of destruction of the bone.

Q. Will you please discuss in your "Ask the Dentist" column the ailment called lichen planus. What causes it and is there a cure? What effect this would have on one wishing to have some dentures made. Mrs. D.D.S.

A. The cause of lichen planus is not known. It is a disease of adults, but occasionally children are affected. It is one of the most common skin diseases which is evident in the oral cavity, usually before it appears on the skin.

It is interesting to note that the disease almost invariably is seen in nervous, high strung people. It may come and then disappear, often corresponding to periods of emotional disturbances, overwork or anxiety.

There is no specific treatment known at this time, for the disease, although vitamin therapy has been suggested with some reported benefit. Dentists should be certain to reassure patients with this problem, that it is not considered to be a pre-cancerous condition.

Although it is a discomforting disease, it does not lead to death or disability and it is not uncommon for it to disappear completely after stabilization of the emotional state of the patient.

To the best of my knowledge, the condition does not interfere with the wearing of dentures.

Q. This past Saturday my filling broke which was made in Germany some 15 years ago and is made out of Dentone material, white and tasteless. My dentist informed me yesterday this same filling cannot be replaced, as one makes it in this country.

Please can you help me or do you know of anyone in my city that can do this kind of work. Mrs. J.M.

A. The white material you mention was probably a form of artificial porcelain, which was used quite frequently in Europe years ago.

Most dentists have one or more filling materials similar to the one you describe. We call them composites, plastics or synthetic porcelain. Although such materials are not commonly used in back teeth, some dentists will use them at the patient's request, providing they feel such a filling material will be strong enough to withstand the biting and chewing pressures and forces in your mouth.

By DAVID LANCASHIRE
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The Israeli cabinet is reported considering the death penalty for convicted terrorists so their presence in prison won't lead to attempts to ransom them by hijacking or kidnapping.

"We should give serious thought to this," Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin reportedly told cabinet members who urged death for terrorists in the wake of the hijacking last week by Palestinians and West Germans who demanded the release of 40 prisoners from Israeli jails.

Rabin added, however, that he had not decided whether to advocate that terrorists be hanged.

Israel must "institute additional security measures" for Israelis traveling abroad, the prime minister told other leaders of his ruling Labor party at a meeting Tuesday. Although the security screen at Israel's Ben-Gurion International Airport is considered the tightest in the non-Communist world, Rabin said security measures at many European airports are insufficient.

"Security measures in the United States are much more efficient," Rabin said.

The hijackers who took over the Air France jetliner June 27 on a flight from Tel Aviv to Paris boarded the plane in Athens, its first stop en route. Air France subsequently announced that its planes to and from Israel would make no intermediate stops, and the Israeli government told other foreign airlines they might lose their landing rights in Israel if they did not tighten security at other airports.

Rabin, President Ephraim Katzir and most other leaders of Israel were in the huge crowd Tuesday at the funeral of Lt. Col. Yonatan Netanyahu, the only Israeli commando killed during the raid that rescued more than 100 hostages from Uganda's Entebbe Airport last Saturday night.

Netanyahu, a native of the United States whose parents brought him to Israel when he was 2, was hailed as a modern Jonathan, the Biblical warrior. Wreaths were heaped on his coffin, and his commando comrades wept. His father, a Cornell University professor, said the prayer of mourning.

African and Arab delegates prepared with missives today for a Security Council debate on Israel's daring rescue of hijacked hostages from Uganda.

The Israelis relished the prospect and planned to accuse Ugandan President Idi Amin of complicity with the Palestinian and German hijackers.

"It's a difficult situation for the Arabs and Africans," said an African diplomat after the Organization of African Unity asked the council to take up a charge that Israel had committed aggression against Uganda.

The Africans asked that the start of the debate be delayed until Thursday to give Ugandan Foreign Minister Juan Oria time to reach New York.

"If there is a Security Council meeting, we will participate," said Israeli spokesman Tuvia Saar.

Princess Still Sees Rock Star

Q: Can you hear another question about one of the Princesses? I was wondering if Princess Caroline of Monaco still goes with that French rock star? — Q.J., Pittsburgh, Pa.

A: Don't be afraid of Caroline questions. Who would we gossip about if it wasn't for the likes of them? Anyway, Princess Caroline does indeed still see French singer Philippe Laville occasionally and was with him recently at the French tennis matches where she cheered and whistled for teen idol Bjorn Borg of Sweden. When Borg lost, he was consoled by Caroline but she went home with Laville.

Q: Did they ever finish that movie they were making on the life of Christ? — E.W., Tulsa, Okla.

A: After nearly a year of shooting, the film is finally in the can. Problems arose because the Italian govern-

"1900." When will it be shown? — R.P., Brooklyn, N.Y.

A: Hopefully sometime this year. Paramount has decided not to release the film as they feel it's too long and too unwieldy. Nobody has mentioned this fact yet; in the movie, Robert De Niro is photographed ready for love. This is a first for a major actor in a class movie.

BORG: Princess Caroline cheered.

LEW GRADE: The film is finished.

PEOPLE

By Robin Adams Sloan

ment, involved in the financing, has had severe money problems lately. Sir Lew Grade of England, who took over the production, says he is convinced the picture will be a huge success, with Rod Steiger scoring a tremendous personal triumph in the role of Pontius Pilate. The film will be premiered next Easter.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Why has Pennsylvania's Gov. Milton Shapp put his personal chiropractor on the state payroll? The governor has the chiropractor, George Gendron, reviewing the state's black lung program for $28,000 a year. The governor and the chiropractor believe that a weakness in the spinal column is what causes miners to develop the deadly black lung disease. Physicians in Pennsylvania are outraged by the appointment. When the medical director of the U.S. Department of Labor's black lung program, Dr. Stella Booth, was asked what she thought of the chiropractor's ideas she answered, "It's a lot of hokum. I will not answer any questions related to that balderdash."

Q: Did all of Marion Brando's outrageous scene-stealing tricks in "The Missouri Breaks" make co-star Jack Nicholson furious? — E.T., Hanger, Me.

A: What were scene-stealing tricks to you were bits of genius as far as Nicholson was concerned. The actors got along fine while making the picture and grew to respect each other tremendously. Don't forget Nicholson is an old pro too. He knows that when a co-actor is playing it broad and quirky you can fight it by going against the performance and emphasizing steadiness and calm. In fact, many critics thought Jack stole the picture. It was, at least, a stand-off.

Q: Suddenly actress Jacqueline Bisset seems to be all over the papers, appearing in several films and preparing to play Jackie O. in an upcoming movie. What happened? — D.S., Green Bay, Wis.

A: It looks as if her career has finally peaked. Though long considered one of the real beauties in the picture business, Jacqueline has seemed to lack superstar quality. This might just be the year she makes it. But if not, Miss Bisset, 31, has other strings to her bow. With a friend, she has been buying Hollywood houses and fixing them up as rental properties. At the very least she'll be the best-looking landlady in town.

Q: I thought Raquel Welch was just fine in the movie "Mother, Jugs and Speed." Why is it so long between her films? — D.A., South Bend, Ind.

A: Raquel has been busy lately touring with her nightclub act and one of her recent films, "Wild Party," never got a general release. But she will soon be filming a new version of "The Prince and the Pauper" with Charlton Heston, Rex Harrison, and Oliver Reed. She worked with Reed once before in "The Three Musketeers" and learned to hate the outspoken actor when he ridiculed her sexual attractions. The reunion of this pair ought to be fun to watch.

Q: As a Bernardo Bertolucci fan I'm really looking forward to the director's new movie,

Princess Still Sees Rock Star

Q: Can you bear another question about one of the Carolines? I was wondering if Princess Caroline of Monaco still goes with that French rock star? — Q.J., Pittsburgh, Pa.

A: Don't be afraid of Caroline questions. Who would we gossip about if it wasn't for the likes of them? Anyway, Princess Caroline does indeed still see French singer Philippe Laville occasionally and was with him recently at the French tennis matches where she cheered and whistled for teen idol Bjorn Borg of Sweden. When Borg lost, he was consoled by Caroline but she went home with Laville.

Q: Did they ever finish that movie they were making on the life of Christ? — H.W., Tulsa, Okla.

A: After nearly a year of shooting, the film is finally in the can. Problems arose because the Italian govern-

"1900." When will it be shown? — R.P., Brooklyn, N.Y.

A: Hopefully sometime this year. Paramount has decided not to release the film as they feel it's too long and too unwieldy. Nobody has mentioned this fact yet. In the movie, Robert De Niro is photographed ready for love. This is a first for a major actor in a class movie.

BORG: Princess Caroline cheered.

LEW GRADE: The film is finished.

SHAPP: A chiropractor on the payroll.

ment, involved in the financing, has had severe money problems lately. Sir Lew Grade of England, who took over the production, says he is convinced the picture will be a huge success, with Rod Steiger scoring a tremendous personal triumph in the role of Pontius Pilate. The film will be premiered next Easter.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Why has Pennsylvania's Gov. Milton Shapp put his personal chiropractor on the state payroll? The governor has the chiropractor, George Gendron, reviewing the state's black lung program for $25,000 a year. The governor and the chiropractor believe that a weakness in the spinal column is what causes miners to develop the deadly black lung disease. Physicians in Pennsylvania are outraged by the appointment. When the medical director of the U.S. Department of Labor's black lung program, Dr. Stella Booth, was asked what she thought of the chiropractor's ideas she answered, "It's a lot of hokum. I will not answer any questions related to that balderdash."

Q: Did all of Marlon Brando's outrageous scene-stealing tricks in "The Missouri Breaks" make co-star Jack Nicholson furious? — E.T., Bangor, Me.

A: What were scene-stealing tricks to you were bits of genius as far as Nicholson was concerned. The actors got along fine while making the picture and grew to respect each other tremendously. Don't forget Nicholson is an old pro too. He knows that when a co-actor is playing it broad and quirky you can fight it by going against the performance and emphasizing steadiness and calm. In fact, many critics thought Jack stole the picture. It was, at least, a stand-off.

Q: Suddenly actress Jacqueline Bisset seems to be all over the papers, appearing in several films and preparing to play Jackie Onassis in an upcoming movie. What happened? — D.S., Green Bay, Wis.

A: It looks as if her career has finally peaked. Though long considered one of the real beauties in the picture business, Jacqueline has seemed to lack superstar quality. This might just be the year she makes it. But if not, Miss Bisset, 31, has other strings to her bow. With a friend, she has been buying Hollywood houses and fixing them up as rental properties. At the very least she'll be the best-looking landlady in town.

Q: I thought Raquel Welch was just fine in the movie "Mother, Jugs and Speed." Why is it so long between her films? — D.A., South Bend, Ind.

A: Raquel has been busy lately touring with her nightclub act and one of her recent films, "Wild Party," never got a general release. But she will soon be filming a new version of "The Prince and the Pauper" with Charlton Heston, Rex Harrison, and Oliver Reed. She worked with Reed once before in "The Three Musketeers" and learned to hate the outspoken actor when he ridiculed her sexual attractions. The reunion of this pair ought to be fun to watch.

Q: As a Bernardo Bertolucci fan I'm really looking forward to the director's new movie,

AT TIP OF 'THUMB'

Huron County Tourist Mecca

Historically, recreationally and agriculturally, Huron County, at the tip of Michigan's "thumb," offers the casual visitor and the take-your-time vacationer unlimited opportunity for discovery and enjoyment, according to the Travel Bureau of the Michigan Department of Commerce. It's unhurried, uncluttered, unwilling to become pseudo sophisticated and somewhat reluctant to accept every "new fangled" idea as real progress.

The spirit of Michigan's prosperous lumbering era, for example, is alive and well and resides quietly in Huron City. This charming village is a preservation of an impressive and illustrious past.

The town was built by Langdon Hubbard about 1835 and became the center of operations for the Hubbard sawmill and extensive timber holdings. Forest fires destroyed the town in 1871 and again in 1881. Hubbard rebuilt the city both times, first to continue the lumbering enterprise, but the second time as an agricultural and trading center.

Seven buildings line the main street of Huron City today, three of which stand on their original foundations. Each of the buildings house authentic (many original) furnishings and fixtures, artifacts and memorabilia reflecting the many facets of its thriving past and notable residents. There's the chink and mortar log cabin, circa 1825, the Langdon Hubbard General Store, Community House Inn, carriage shed, Coast Guard Station, Huron City Church where the pulpit eloquence of Professor William Lyon Phelps attracted a mammoth congregation from hundreds of miles for 40 summers. There's the new fireproof brick museum which contains much of Professor Phelps' valuable summer library. Several of the walls of the museum are adorned with murals depicting pioneer life in Huron City, painted by Mrs. Annabel Phelps. Instead of her signature, Mrs. Phelps identified her work with her red Irish setter, Rufus.

Although Huron City is referred to as a ghost town, it is far from fading into oblivion. From July through Labor Day, you're invited to turn off M-25 and turn back the pages of time. To stroll through the village and visit the buildings guided by a young lady straight from the 1800's... and even attend Sunday services.

Right next door to Huron City is Grindstone City, once a bustling town centered around a booming grindstone industry. The grindstone rock quarried here are reputed to be the finest quality to be found anywhere and the stone - ranging from as small as three pounds to as large as six tons - were shipped to every corner of the world. With the coming of carborundum and emery, however, grindstones became obsolete and Grindstone City's last quarry was closed in 1929.

Evidence of the industry is still visible, but today Grindstone City is primarily a summer resort. The harbor has two marinas open to the public with boat launching sites and excellent camping facilities in the immediate vicinity.

You'll find more good fishing as well as swimming, trails to hike and beautiful campsites set in the tranquility of Port Crescent State Park, Port Austin and Sleeper State Park, Caseville. If you're not a camper, the area offers a wide variety of accommodations from housekeeping cottages to luxury motels. If you prefer golf to fishing, you'll enjoy both the challenge and the beauty of Caseville's 8-hole course and the 18-hole Verona Hills course just east of Bad Axe at Verona.

Follow M-142 on east to Lake Huron and you'll run into Harbor Beach where boating enthusiasts and fresh water sailors are attracted to the largest man-made harbor in the world. The town is also the birthplace of Frank Murphy whose impressive career included service as mayor of Detroit, Governor General of the Philippines, Governor of Michigan, Attorney General of the United States and U.S. Supreme Court Justice. His father's law office, where Frank began his own law practice, and the living quarters where he was born are now the Frank Murphy museum, open to the public from late June through August.

Huron County, in addition to being a refreshing and relaxing vacation area, contributes much SHOREHAM, Berrien County: Founded by William Ducker. Ducker, being English, liked the "ham" ending to words. So with its full length along the shore of Lake Michigan when it came to its name, Ducker combined "shore" with "ham" and named it Shoreham. Village incorporated on April 7, 1930.

STEVENSVILLE, Berrien County: Named after a prominent banker from Niles, Thomas Stevens, who owned a large tract of land in the area, and laid out the village plat in 1871. Incorporated a village in 1893.

OX CREEK, Berrien County: Historians say that in the early days of Benton township settlers invariably got stuck crossing the creek at Territorial Road with their yoke of oxen. Hence, the name, Ox Creek.

SAINT JOSEPH, Berrien County: In the early 1800's sailors called its harbor, Saranac; in 1831, founder Calvin Britain named it Newberryport; and in 1833 it was renamed after the St. Joseph River, which early Catholic missionaries named in honor of St. Joseph, patron saint of Canada. Incorporated a village in 1834 and a city in 1891.

BENTON HARBOR, Berrien County: Originally named Brunson Harbor after co-founder Sterne Brunson. Renamed in 1866 for U.S. Senator Thomas Hart Benton of Missouri who had championed the Territory of Michigan's plea for statehood. Incorporated a village in 1866, a city in 1891.

BRIDGMAN, Berrien County: Named for George Bridgman who directed construction of a railroad from New Buffalo to St. Joseph, donated land for a depot, and laid out the village in 1870. Incorporated a village in 1927 and as a city in 1949.

to the agricultural economy of the state. The small town of Kinde, just south of Port Austin, is said to be the bean capital of the world. More navy beans are grown, harvested and bought from the Kinde region than any other market anywhere.

Sugar beets are another major commodity of the county and the large processing plant of the Michigan Sugar Company

SAINT JOSEPH, Berrien County: In the early 1800's sailors called its harbor, Saranac; in 1831, founder Calvin Britain named it Newberryport; and in 1833 it was renamed after the St. Joseph River, which early Catholic missionaries named in honor of St. Joseph, patron saint of Canada. Incorporated a village in 1834 and a city in 1891.

BENTON HARBOR, Berrien County: Originally named Brunson Harbor after co-founder Sterne Brunson. Renamed in 1866 for U.S. Senator Thomas Hart Benton of Missouri who had championed the Territory of Michigan's plea for statehood. Incorporated a village in 1866, a city in 1891.

BRIDGMAN, Berrien County: Named for George Bridgman who directed construction of a railroad from New Buffalo to St. Joseph, donated land for a depot, and laid out the village in 1870. Incorporated a village in 1927 and as a city in 1949.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULTING TROOPER Arraign Alleged Gun-Snatcher

A Detroit man who allegedly snatched a pistol from a state policeman's holster and pointed the gun at the policeman was jailed under $25,000 bond following his arraignment in Berrien District court Tuesday. Demanding examination on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon against Trooper James Delgado was Willie L. Dortch, 26. The alleged incident occurred July 5 when Delgado stopped an auto in Royalton township. After the pistol was taken from him Delgado reportedly went to the squad car, got another gun and fired a shot into the vehicle in which the man had been a passenger. The man reportedly then gave up the pistol.

Two Chicago men arrested July 4 in Benton township demanded preliminary examinations Tuesday. Jailed under $3,000 and $5,000 bonds respectively were Raymond Foster, 36, charged with carrying a concealed pistol; and Curtis Johnson, 30, charged with possession of cocaine. Louise Johnson, 28, of Chicago, was arrested with the two men and charged with use of marijuana. She pleaded guilty and was sentenced to fine and costs of $100.

Three other men demanded examinations on charges of carrying concealed pistols. They were: Jerry Weaver, 37, of Berrien Center, arrested July 4 in Sodus township. He was jailed under $5,000 bond. Charles G. Austin, 52, of Lansing, charged with the violation July 4 in Hagar township. He failed to put up a $2,000 bond. Duane L. Stinson, 26, of Milwaukee, Wis., arrested in Coloma township July 5. He was jailed in lieu of $5,000 bail.

Sentenced for the following violations were: Possession of an unregistered pistol — Eddie

N. Moore, 33, of Chicago, four days in jail and $100; Kenneth J. Kass, 26, of Wheeling, Ill., $100. Disorderly person — Henry W. Walker, 52, no address listed, $25 or five days in jail; Margaret Ann Seals, 33, of 192 Pack street, Benton township, $35; John H. Smith, Jr., 30, of 333 East Britain, Benton Harbor, $5; Paullette G. Sanders, 21, of 2067 Taylor street, Benton township, $25; Larry J. Thompson, 24, of 688 Riverside avenue, Benton Harbor, $35 and for use of marijuana, $50.

Use of marijuana — $50; Maurice G. Crosswhite, 19, of Plymouth, Ind.; James A. Stokes, 26, of Milwaukee, Wis.; Billy J. McKinney, 25, and Othas E. Morrow, 27, both of Gary, Ind.; Edward L. Johnson, 22, of 234 Lake avenue, Benton Harbor, Use of marijuana — $50 or 10 days in jail; Paul D. Simmons, 24, of Chicago; Edwin E. Bouze, 24, of Chicago; Maurice J. Collins, 25, of Chicago; Allen W. Eversole, 20, of 719 Jones street, St. Joseph. Use of marijuana — $100 or 15 days in jail; Vivian McNeal, 28, of Chicago.

Driving while license suspended — Johnnie Hubbard, 24, of 746 Columbus, Benton Harbor, three days in jail and $71; Daniel L. Curry, 21, of 2178 Berg avenue, Benton Harbor, three days in jail and $65; Ronald D. Southard, 22, of Grand Rapids. James E. Harris, 22, of South Bend, Ind., and Joe Lewis, 40, of Chicago, each three days in jail and $65 or 30 days in jail total.

Driving while intoxicated — Billy G. French, 35, of 1927 Taube avenue, Benton township, $105 or 20 days in jail; Mary Jane Offreda, 55, of Whiting, Ind., $152; Matthew D. Goldstein, 18, of Greensboro, N.C.; David R. Poland, 24, of CR-681.

Hartford, Wallace E. Mosby, 38, of Battle Creek, and Ricardus Duncan, 27, of Chicago, each $155 or 30 days in jail.

Others sentenced were: Tom Quinsky, 23, of Chicago Heights, Ill., $25 or five days in jail for possession of firecrackers in Benton township July 2. Winifred A. Norman, 23, of 759 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, $125 or 30 days in jail for petty larceny at Hilltop Foods, Benton Harbor, July 2. Brenda Mae Graham, 30, of 2229 Lawrence drive, Benton township, $105 for impaired driving July 4 in Benton township.

Yanks British Open Favorites

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Gene Sarazen relaxed in the clubhouse of the Royal Birkdale Club on the eve of the 105th British Open Golf Tournament and offered a prediction that "I don't see anything but an American victory."

The semi-retired squire of the world golf scene, admitting to being 74 but looking 44, was back to play again in the tournament he won in 1932. It's been 33 years since he first played in the British Open. He played in knickerbockers then and he plays in knickerbockers now.

Constant watering has rescued the 7,001-yard, par 72 course from concrete hardness, but a prolonged and continuing heat wave is bound to be an important factor.

The average temperature in this area on the west coast of England just north of Liverpool is 66 degrees. In recent weeks the thermometer has been hitting the high 80s or low 90s with unrelenting regularity.

Sarazen says, "The course is absolutely adapted for American players." The long hitters will be the favorites, pampered by the sun.

"Tom Weiskopf, Jack Nicklaus, Hubie Green," were the first names mentioned by Sarazen as the Americans most likely to take advantage of the playing conditions. "Jerry Pate, Johnny Miller, Tom Kite and Ray Floyd" were in the second group.

In a final practice round Tuesday, Weiskopf shot a 65, and Nicklaus a 67. As a winning team they were 11 under par in a four-ball match against Pate, of Pensacola, Fla., the U.S.

Open champion, and Curtis Strange of Virginia Beach, Va.

Nicklaus, winner of two British Opens in 13 tries, is the favorite of the British bookmakers at 4 to 1. Weiskopf won the 1973 British Open, his only major triumph. Green is a three-time winner on the American circuit this year and is currently at the head of the money winning list with $187,427.

No Move On Taiwan Situation Before Saturday

Killanin Weighing Action

MONTREAL (AP) — While one member of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) calls for the cancellation or transfer of the Montreal Games, Lord Killanin sits tight and weighs his alternatives.

Killanin, the unflappable Irishman who heads the IOC, said Tuesday he will make no move on the explosive Taiwan situation before Saturday, when a meeting of the IOC's nine-member executive board is scheduled to convene. He also said he would have no further statements on the affair before Saturday.

Allan MacEachen, external affairs minister, said Tuesday that Taiwan's 52-member contingent would not get past the Montreal airport without assurances that Taiwan will not compete as the Republic of China.

Canada, which recognizes the People's Republic of China (Mainland China), could refuse to issue passports to the Taiwanese, who are to leave for Montreal on Thursday.

Shen Chai-ming, president of the Republic of China Olympic Committee, said the delegation would travel under its official name — the Republic of China.

That places the two sides at loggerheads, and if Canada doesn't budge, then Conte Jean de Beaumont says the Games should be moved or canceled.

De Beaumont, a past vice president of the IOC and former president of France's Olympic committee, said in a telegram to the IOC here that he was "greatly disturbed."

"I must tell you that if Canada does not abide by its undertakings and if, in spite of this, the Games nonetheless take place in Montreal, our principles would be repudiated, our rules violated and our movement brought to an end."

The IOC says, as a matter of principle, that sportsmen from all over the world must be admitted to the Olympics, regardless of political labels.

Killanin has told the Canadian government it gave a pledge to this effect when Montreal was awarded the Games.

"China is not really the issue here," Killanin said. "It is the principles of the Olympic Games that are at stake."

"We do not deal with governments, only with athletes and bodies representing athletes."

Any significant action on the Taiwan situation would have to be taken up by the IOC's 77-member council, which is scheduled to go into session next Tuesday.

The council could vote that Taiwan must compete as the Republic of China. It could vote the ouster of the Republic of China, a condition that Mainland China says must be met before it would join the IOC. Or the council could order the Republic of China to compete as Taiwan, a compromise that was reached for the 1980 Rome Olympics.

Killanin will keep a low public profile, while probably attempting to quietly reach some compromise with Canada.

"I feel sorry for the athletes," Killanin said. "They are the people whose interests we look after."

Security Tight At Games

MONTREAL (AP) — Lord Killanin, president of the International Olympic Committee (IOC), occupies a suite at the top of the skyscraper Queen Elizabeth Hotel in security-conscious Montreal as the 21st Olympic Games edge closer.

But like 100,000 other people accredited for the Games, he goes everywhere with an identity card around his neck.

"I would not be allowed anywhere without it," said the 62-year-old Irish peer who took over from the late Avery Brundage four years ago.

Killanin has to wear his card like the 11,000 athletes expected for the games, the 8,000 journalists reporting them, the officials, the hostesses, interpreters, drivers, delegates from sports federations and national Olympic committees.

The security set-up makes a grim and bizarre setting for the Olympic traditions of sportsmen of many nations getting together in peace and friendship.

If terrorists set out to kidnap a team in the Olympic village — like the Arab gunmen who seized the Israelis in Munich in 1972 — they will have to get past electrified wire, guard dogs and a ring of armed troops standing at 30-foot intervals.

Security guards at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel remember the gunmen who raided a conference hall in Vienna and seized ministers of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC).

If it could happen to OPEC it would happen to the IOC, a 70-strong body that includes royalty. The IOC is due to meet in the hotel prior to the games.

So everyone entering the hotel is stopped and searched and goes through a metal-detecting sensor, and handbags and brief cases are opened.

Elevators by-pass the floor where the IOC will meet. To reach it you must climb the stairs.

And security men hover around the rooms occupied by Killanin and his staff.

Lions Sign Top Draftee

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The Detroit Lions Tuesday signed their top draft pick, James Hunter, the speedy defensive back from Grambling.

Hunter, 23, was Detroit's top pick last February and the 10th player chosen in the National Football League college draft.

The newest Lion is 6-foot-3 and 195 pounds, and can play either cornerback or safety or as kick returner, the Lions said.

Last season, Hunter intercepted nine passes. He averaged 13.6 yards on punt returns. He returned six punts for touchdowns, but four were called back because of penalties. He has 4.4 speed in the 40-yard dash.

Hunter and two other new Lions, tight end David Hill and defensive tackle John Woodcock, will take part in the College All-Star game against the Pittsburgh Steelers July 23 in Chicago.

Because of that, they will miss the beginning of the Lions' training camp and will join the team July 24 for a preseason game in Canton, Ohio, against Denver.

The Lions' training camp opens Monday in Pontiac.

Jones, Matlack Top NL

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Southpaws Randy Jones of the San Diego Padres and Jon Matlack of the New York Mets, who have a combined record of 25-5 this season, will head the National League's eight-man pitching staff at next Tuesday's All-Star baseball game.

The other pitchers, chosen Tuesday by Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson, include Tom Seaver of the Mets, Andy Messersmith of Atlanta, Woodie Fryman of Montreal, Ken Forsch of Houston, John Montefusco of San Francisco, and Rick Rhoden of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Jones, who will be making his second all-star appearance, is the winningest pitcher in the major leagues this year with a 15-3 record and a 2.51 earned run average in 165 innings.

Matlack, who has put together a 10-2 mark and ERA of 2.61, will be making his third all-star appearance.

Right-hander Tom Seaver, 8-5 with a 2.92 ERA, was named to the all-star team for the ninth time. Messersmith, a righthander with an 8-6 record and 2.37 ERA, will make his fourth appearance. Lefty Woodie Fryman, also 8-6 with a 3.71 ERA, will be playing in his second all-star game.

Three right-handers — Rhoden, Forsch and Montefusco — will be playing in the midseason classic for the first time. Rhoden is 8-0 with a 2.77 ERA while Forsch, a reliever with a 1-2 record and 1.94 ERA, has 14 saves this year.

John "The Count" Montefusco, last season's rookie of the year, is 7-8 with a 3.25 ERA.

The American League pitching staff was named earlier by Boston Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson, who will manage the AL team.

His selections include Mark Fidrych of Detroit, Catfish Hunter and Sparky Lyle of the New York Yankees, Frank Tanana of the California Angels, Bill Travers of Milwaukee, Dave LaRoche of Cleveland, Luis Tiant of Boston, Rube Fingers of Oakland and Rich Gossage of the Chicago White Sox.

Jenkins' Pitching Gem Turns Back White Sox

BOSTON (AP) — Ferguson Jenkins pitched a four-hit masterpiece in outdueling pitcher-hitter Ken Brett as the surging Boston Red Sox streaked to a 4-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night.

Jenkins, 7-8, allowed only singles by Jorge Orta, Jim Spencer and Kevin Bell and a double by Ralph Garr in registering his second shutout of the season and the 19th victory of his career. He struck out two and didn't issue a walk.

Brett, 3-4, struck out seven but allowed eight hits and walked five. The veteran left-hander was tagged for three runs in the fourth inning — two on Rick Burleson's single — and another tally in the fifth.

Chicago Manager Paul Richards ignored the designated hitter option and Brett became the first pitcher to bat regularly in a meaningful game since the American League adopted the DH rule four years ago.

The Oakland A's permitted their pitcher to bat after clinching an American League West Division title. Brett, an excellent hitting pitcher, went 0-for-3, failing to get the ball out of the infield, although he was robbed on two sparkling catches.

Meanwhile, Vida Blue looked like a million-dollar pitcher for the Oakland A's.

Making his second start after three weeks of Charlie Finley-enforced idleness following his voided controversial $1.5 million sale from the A's to the Yankees, Blue hurled the A's to a six-hit 2-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. It was his first victory since June 6 and his 23rd career shutout.

"It was my best game of the season," said Blue, who evened his record at 7-7.

Blue had to be good in outdueling Baltimore ace Jim Palmer, who also allowed six hits. The A's scored in the fourth inning on Don Baylor's single, a stolen base and a single by Gene Tenace. They got their other run in the eighth on a walk, a double by Baylor, an intentional walk to Joe Rudi and a bases-loaded walk to Tenace.

Blue's best was a 2-2 pitch on which Reggie Jackson became his ninth strikeout victim.

In other American League games, the Kansas City Royals split with the Yankees, winning 3-1, then losing 7-4; the Texas Rangers edged the Detroit Tigers 3-2; the Cleveland Indians trimmed the California Angels 7-3 and the Milwaukee Brewers downed the Minnesota Twins 6-2.

Roy White delivered a tiebreaking two-run single and Chris Chambliss added a decisive three-run homer as the Yankees erupted for five runs in the eighth inning of the nightcap. In the opener, Kansas City's Doug Bird and Steve Mingori combined to pitch a three-hitter and the Royals came from behind on run-scoring singles by John Mayberry and Hal McKee in the sixth inning.

Playing Manager Frank Robinson slugged his third home run and added a run-scoring single to help his Indians break a four-game losing streak. The 40-year-old Robinson, in one of his infrequent starts, hit his 536th career homer in the first inning and singled home a run in the second. Ron Pruitt tripled and singled twice while Larvell Blanks collected three singles to pace Cleveland's 13-hit attack.

Robin Yount touched off a three-run third inning with a single and belted a two-run homer in the sixth, enabling Jim Slaton to post his ninth victory. Yount's second home run of the season put the Brewers on top 5-2.

Unlikely Heroes Spark Texas Win Over Tigers

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Steve Barr — 6-2 earned run average — and Joe Lahoud — .168 batting average. Two more unlikely heroes could hardly be found, but they performed like All-Stars for the Texas Rangers Tuesday night in a 3-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

"I've never once been on the All-Star ballot in my career. Every year I get two write-in votes — my mother and my brother," said Lahoud, whose two-out double scored Toby Harrah from first base in the bottom of the eighth inning to give the Rangers the victory.

Meanwhile, Barr was pitching a six-hitter, including just one Detroit safety in the last five innings, to pick up his first victory since April 13, when he tossed a four-hitter against the Oakland A's. He now stands 2-4.

Except for the fourth inning, the Tigers never got beyond first base against Barr.

Jason Thompson knocked in both Detroit runs in the fourth with a single that followed one by Tom Verzer and a double to Rusty Staub.

"The underdogs did it tonight — Steve Barr and Joe Lahoud," said Texas Manager Frank Lucchesi. "Of all the games we've had this year, I've never rooted harder for a player than I did tonight for Barr."

Lucchesi, admitted that he had become concerned about Barr's continued string of bad outings, added, "He pitched that great game against Oakland, and in the back of your mind you have to remember that. You have to think that he can do it again."

Barr and Detroit starter Vern Riffe, who also pitched a six-hitter in defeat, had battled with the score tied 2-2 since the fourth inning, when Harrah walked with two outs in the eighth. Then Lahoud, with three infielders on the right side of second base, lined a hanging Riffe curveball into the alley in right centerfield, scoring Harrah all the way from first.

Then Barr gave up a single to Aurelio Rodriguez, the only hit he allowed for the final five innings, before retiring the side in the ninth.

"Most clubs shift on me because I pull the ball a lot," said Lahoud. "Some hitters can guide it. I can't. I'm just a free swinger."

Lahoud also had a single earlier in the game to double his output for the Rangers since they acquired him from California June 15. He had been 2-17 with Texas.

"This is the first night I've really contributed to the team since I've been here," he said.

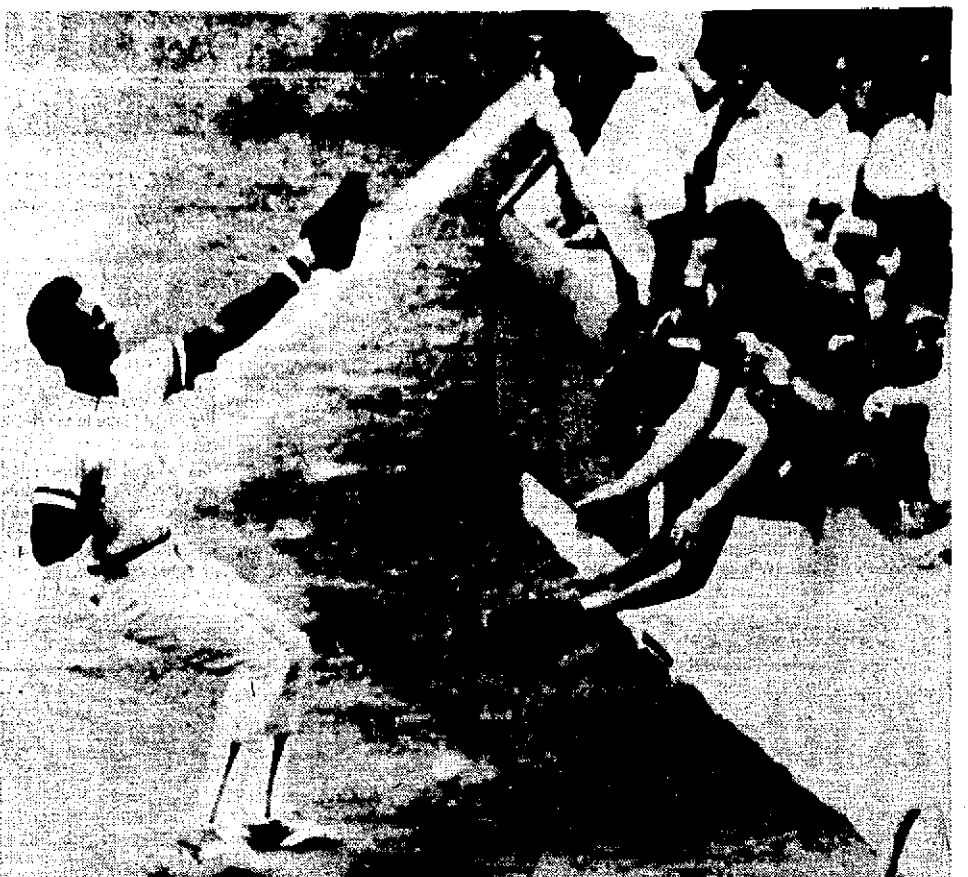

Barr said, "I just threw strikes and everything fell into place. Those two good defensive plays earlier were super and really picked me up."

Jeff Burroughs crashed into the right field fence making an over-the-shoulder catch of an Alex Johnson line drive in the second inning and the next batter, Thompson, was rubbed out of a hit when Lenny Randle ranged into short right field to catch the ball with his back to the plate.

Texas talked in the third and fourth innings on run-scoring singles by Lenny Randle and Juan Beniquez. Riffe then settled down to allow only one other hit besides Lahoud's double the rest of the game.

Cub Shutout Third Straight Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Madlock drove in two runs with a single and a double Tuesday to give Steve Stone and the Chicago Cubs a 4-0 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Stone, who came off the disabled list last Friday after recovering from a sore shoulder, gained his first triumph since last September, blanking the Padres on three hits in the six innings he worked.

Bruce Suter hurled the final three innings to give the Cubs their third straight victory and second shutout in a row against the Padres. Steve Renko and Joe Coleman shut out the Padres on three hits Monday.

Rick Monday led off the Chicago first with a double off loser Alan Foster, 3-5, and scored on a single by Madlock.

The Cubs added a pair in the third on singles by Stone and Jose Cardenal, Madlock's double and a bases-loaded walk to Dave Rosello. Chicago scored again in the sixth on singles by Renclo and Steve Swisher and an error by shortstop Enzo Hernandez on Mick Kelleher's ground ball.

Elsewhere in the National League, there was a reversal of pitches roles for Cincinnati — it was Pedro Borbon starting and Don Gullett in relief as manager Sparky Anderson continued shaking up his pitching staff.

One of the most successful relief pitchers in baseball, Borbon made his first start in four years Tuesday night. Gullett — relegated to bullpen duty of late — came on to finish the Montreal Expos 10-7.

The start was only the fourth of Borbon's major league career.

During Tuesday night's game, the burly right-hander gave up eight hits and four earned runs in 3 1-3 innings.

Gullett, meanwhile, has been trying to make a comeback into the starting rotation after his dismissal to the bullpen last month. The left-hander, Anderson's ace card in last year's World Series with the Boston Red Sox, pitched one inning Tuesday night and recorded his first save.

Ken Griffey's two-run double sparked a five-run seventh inning that carried Cincinnati over Montreal. The Reds led 5-4 when they loaded the bases in the seventh against Don Carithers, the second Montreal pitcher, on a single, a walk, a sacrifice and an intentional walk.

After Griffey drove in two runs, Joe Morgan was walked intentionally and George Foster reached on an error by second baseman Pete Mackanin. Foster got an RBI on the play and a second run scored on the error. Dan Driessen capped the inning's scoring with a sacrifice fly to center.

In the other National League games, the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Philadelphia Phillies 5-1; the Atlanta Braves trimmed the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-2; the St. Louis Cardinals routed the San Francisco Giants 13-7 and the Houston Astros nipped the New York Mets 1-0 in 10 innings.

Tripled by Reggie Smith and Steve Yeager highlighted a five-run third inning for Los Angeles and the Dodgers went on to beat Philadelphia behind Doug Rau's six-hitter. It was the third straight loss and fourth in six games for the National League East leaders, but failed to dishearten Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark.

"I'm not pushing the panic button," said Ozark, whose team remained nine games in front of Pittsburgh in the National League East.

Right-hander Andy Messersmith and reliever Mike Marshall combined on a seven-hitter, leading Atlanta over Pittsburgh. The victory was the seventh in the last eight games for Messersmith, 9-6, who went the distance in his previous eight starts.

St. Louis scored seven runs in the first inning and coasted over San Francisco as Jerry Murphy blasted four hits and Willie Crawford a home run and two doubles. The pair led an 18-hit attack which helped send San Francisco right-hander Ed Hallick, 7-11, from the mound with none out.

Jerry DeVannon's single over a drawn-in infield scored Wilbur Howard from third base with the winning run in the 10th inning as Houston beat New York. Despite control problems, J. R. Richard, 8-9, went all the way

Richard's 10 walks tied the major league record for bases on balls in an extra-inning shutout game and the 15 runners left on base by New York set a major league record for most runners stranded in a 10-game inning shutout defeat.

Bill Madlock drove in two runs with a single and a double to help Chicago beat San Diego. Steve Stone, who came off the disabled list last Friday after recovering from a sore shoulder, gained his first triumph since last September. He blanked the Padres on three hits the six innings he worked.

Palmer Mad About All-Star Passover

Irked By Hunter's Selection

BAITMORE (AP) — Jim Palmer of the Baltimore Orioles, passed over for this year's American League All-Star pitching staff, says Boston Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson made "some ridiculous appointments" to the team.

"It's a little upsetting that this is the way the All-Star pitchers are chosen. I think this may be the reason the National League wins every year," said the two-time Cy Young Award winner.

Palmer went on to call Johnson "an idiot" for selecting three relief pitchers among the nine-man bullpen.

Johnson, when asked about Palmer's statement Tuesday night, said, "Who cares. I certainly don't."

Johnson said American League President Lee MacPhail, and the managers who will work the All-Star game — Cleveland Manager Frank Robinson and Minnesota Manager Gene Mauch, discussed the selections prior to the announcement.

Palmer, 30, with an earned run average of 3.10 this season, has an identical won-lost record as Yankee pitcher Catfish Hunter, who was selected for the All-Star team. Both pitchers have five 20-game seasons to their credit.

Joining Hunter on the American League pitching staff will be Detroit's rookie sensation Mark Fidrych, Frank Tanana of California, Bill Travers of Milwaukee, Dave LaRue of Cleveland, Luis Tiant of Boston, Rolfe Fingers of Oakland, Rich Gossage of the Chicago White Sox and the New York Yankees' Sparky Lyle.

"The major error he (Johnson) made was naming Hunter," Palmer said.

"If he names Hunter, why didn't he name Palmer? I don't really think I deserve to go because there are a lot of other guys who are having better years," Palmer said.

"I think he named Hunter from his past records. If he checks lifetimes and who won Cy Young Awards, he'll find I've won more and had a better year last year. I suppose if he deserves to go, then so do I," he said.

Hunter agreed that he didn't deserve the All-Star assignment.

"I was picked for the team so I'll be there," Hunter said. "I don't know why I was picked. I don't like that good a record."

Both Palmer and Hunter won 23 games last year. But Palmer, who won the Cy Young Award, had only 11 losses while Hunter had 14. Palmer also received the Cy Young in 1973.

Johnson said under league rules every team must be represented on the All-Stars. That's the reason he picked Gossage and chose to pass over Pat Dobson of Cleveland, Dennis Leonard and Doug Bird of Kansas City as well as Gaylord Perry of Texas. Tiant, he said, was chosen by MacPhail.

"We're going down to Philly to try and do everything we can to win a ball game," he added.

"That's why I chose three of the top relief pitchers in the league," Johnson said.

NBA's Braves Stay In Buffalo

BUFFALO (AP) — The Buffalo Braves of the National Basketball Association announced Tuesday the signing of a new lease for Memorial Auditorium that assures the team will remain here for at least the coming season.

The new lease officially put an end to Braves' owner Paul Snyder's previously announced plans to sell the team to Irving Cowan of Hollywood, Fla., who wanted the Braves to play at Hollywood next season.

The new lease also resulted in the City of Buffalo dropping a $10 million lawsuit it had filed against the Braves in State Supreme Court after Snyder had said he was selling the team to Cowan.

The announcement of the new lease was made at Supreme Court as the city dropped its legal action.

The lease is for 15 years, but provides that the Braves may cancel the agreement if season ticket sales drop below 5,000 per season anytime during the next five years.

Even if the season ticket sales are below 5,000 for a particular year, the Braves wouldn't be able to break the lease if total season ticket revenue for the season exceeds $1.625 million.

If fan support doesn't reach either of those figures, the Braves would be entitled to void the lease within 30 days after the NBA season ends.

Snyder had announced plans last month to sell the team to Cowan. The following day the city filed suit against the Braves in the state courts and also lodged a $10 million antitrust suit in federal court against the other 17 NBA teams.

Leslie G. Foschio, the city's corporation counsel or lawyer, said Tuesday he expects to drop the federal suit after the 1976-77 season begins.

The city had taken action against the Braves on grounds Snyder had agreed to terms of a new 15-year lease, even though the lease had not been officially signed.

Meantime, Snyder had announced he was giving Buffalo investors a chance to buy the team to keep it in Buffalo.

His lawyer, Maury Fleischmann, said Tuesday negotiations with the Buffalo group are continuing, but said "at the present time Mr. Snyder remains the owner of the Braves."

Foschio said the new lease will be binding on any group that would buy the Braves.

Ram Owner And 'Vindictive' Rozelle Feud

LOS ANGELES — An inter-ecine battle for control of the National Football League has flared between a small clique of unhappy owners and the commissioner, Pete Rozelle.

It has manifested itself in an all-out assault by one man, Carroll Rosenbloom of the Los Angeles Rams, on the sanctity of Pete's office.

Rosenbloom has had the temerity to ask questions: What are the terms of Rozelle's contract, with the NFL? Only four of 28 owners really knew — those on the Finance Committee who arranged the contract — until Rosenbloom flew to New York and threatened suit.

Why were the Rams shuffled on the 1976 playing schedule? Of the four non-division home games, three are with such clunkers as the Chicago Bears, New York Gants and Seattle Seahawks.

Why has the league sought to get a refund on rent charged by the Rams for the 1976 playoff games against the St. Louis Cardinals and Dallas Cowboys in the Los Angeles Coliseum? The Rams actually had the stadium rent free at the time because of a complex rental agreement, and the NFL therefore claims it was overcharged. "Why," rebuts Rosenbloom, "didn't they object when we charged them for a playoff game in '74?"

The inference by the Rams' owner is that the commissioner's actions are reprisals for Carroll's prying into the operation of league headquarters — and because of the Cullen Bryant case. Bryant, running back, was awarded by Rozelle to the Detroit Lions after the Rams had signed wide receiver Ron Jessie, a former Lion who had played out his contract. The Rams howled, and so did Bryant — who got a court injunction and remained with Los Angeles.

That led to the break between Rosenbloom and Rozelle, though they've tumbled off and on since 1963, when the NFL investigated Rosenbloom for alleged gambling activities.

"I can't believe," says Rosenbloom, "how vindictive he is." At a league general session in San Diego this spring, he called the commissioner "a liar."

Of much greater consequence, however, than a purported feud between the two men is the spreading unrest in the league over recent setbacks in pro football.

"We've failed in Congress," says the prominent owner.

"We've failed with the players. He (Rozelle) is a failure, and some of the other owners are beginning to realize it."

Such direct criticism of Rozelle in the NFL is almost apocalyptic. For 16 years, since Rosenbloom himself spurred Rozelle into the commissioner's office as a compromise candidate, Pete has been unsailable as the strong man of American sports. During his tenure, pro football became the pervasive national sport, with millions accruing from lush television contracts and the NFL growing from 12 to 28 teams worth an average of $18 million each.

"What got the guys in the NFL upset," asserts Rosenbloom, "was that I started asking questions and couldn't get answers."

The questions were prompted by serious problems now facing the NFL as a result of:

A law passed by Congress, forcing teams to lift TV blackouts of games sold out 72 hours in advance. Owners claim it has affected their season ticket sales.

The loss of the John Mackey lawsuit in Minnesota, which outlawed the Rozelle Rule (compensation for a player who has played out his option) and in effect makes it possible for all players to become free agents.

The failure of the owner's Management Council in its negotiations with the NFL Players Association. There was a costly strike in 1974, and there has been no collective bargaining agreement since then.

Rosenbloom blames the failure on Rozelle's appointment of the New York Giants' Wellington Mara to head that committee — "it's cost us $5 million."

Rozelle, disclaiming any vindictiveness on his part, says, "You don't like people to feel as Carroll has about me. It's unpleasant. Carroll wants things done his way. And he's one of 28."

Rozelle's tenure as commissioner isn't threatened because it would take 21 votes to unseat him, and there is no specific inclination to dump him. He has more than seven years remaining on a contract which now pays him about $300,000 a year. Even the Rams' owner ad-

"I think he named Hunter from his past records. If he checks lifetimes and who won Cy Young Awards, he'll find I've won more and had a better year last year. I suppose if he deserves to go, then so do I," he said.

Hunter agreed that he didn't deserve the All-Star assignment.

"I was picked for the team so I'll be there," Hunter said. "I don't know why I was picked. I don't have that good a record."

Both Palmer and Hunter won 23 games last year. But Palmer, who won the Cy Young Award, had only 11 losses while Hunter had 14. Palmer also received the Cy Young in 1973.

Johnson said under league rules every team must be represented on the All-Stars. That's the reason he picked Gossage and chose to pass over Pat Dobson of Cleveland, Dennis Leonard and Doug Bird of Kansas City as well as Gaylord Perry of Texas, Tiant, he said, was chosen by McPhail.

"We're going down to Philly to try and do everything we can to win a ball game," he added. "That's why I chose three of the top relief pitchers in the league," Johnson said.

NBA's Braves Stay In Buffalo

BUFFALO (AP) — The Buffalo Braves of the National Basketball Association announced Tuesday the signing of a new lease for Memorial Auditorium that assures the team will remain here for at least the coming season.

The new lease officially put an end to Braves' owner Paul Snyder's previously announced plans to sell the team to Irving Cowan of Hollywood, Fla., who wanted the Braves to play at Hollywood next season.

The new lease also resulted in the City of Buffalo dropping a $10 million lawsuit it had filed against the Braves in State Supreme Court after Snyder had said he was selling the team to Cowan.

The announcement of the new lease was made at Supreme Court as the city dropped its legal action.

The lease is for 15 years, but provides that the Braves may cancel the agreement if season ticket sales drop below 5,000 per season anytime during the next five years.

Even if the season ticket sales are below 5,000 for a particular year, the Braves wouldn't be able to break the lease if total season ticket revenue for the season exceeds $1.625 million.

If fan support doesn't reach either of those figures, the Braves would be entitled to void the lease within 30 days after the NBA season ends.

Snyder had announced plans last month to sell the team to Cowan. The following day the city filed suit against the Braves in the state courts and also lodged a $48 million antitrust suit in federal court against the other 17 NBA teams.

Leslie G. Foschio, the city's corporation counsel or lawyer, said Tuesday he expects to drop the federal suit after the 1976-77 season begins.

The city had taken action against the Braves on grounds Snyder had agreed to terms of a new 15-year lease, even though the lease had not been officially signed.

Meantime, Snyder had announced he was giving Buffalo investors a chance to buy the team to keep it in Buffalo.

His lawyer, Manly Fleischmann, said Tuesday negotiations with the Buffalo group are continuing, but said "at the present time Mr. Snyder remains the owner of the Braves."

Foschio said the new lease will be binding on any group that would buy the Braves.

Preps Ask For Ban

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The nation's high school athletic officials have appealed to Congress for protection of their traditional Friday night football games from cable television.

The officials concluded a five-day meeting by unanimously passing a resolution Tuesday requesting the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce to invoke the same laws on cable TV as exist against the non-cable networks.

Under federal law, a pro football game cannot be telecast on Friday night or Saturday afternoon within 80 miles of a high school or college game being played at those times.

High school officials believe National Football League teams are arranging contracts with cable television to circumvent the law.

LOS ANGELES — An internecine battle for control of the National Football League has flared between a small clique of unhappy owners and the commissioner, Pete Rozelle.

It has manifested itself in an all-out assault by one man, Carroll Rosenbloom of the Los Angeles Rams, on the sanctity of Pete's office.

Rosenbloom has had the temerity to ask questions:

What are the terms of the NFL's contract with the NFL? Only four of 28 owners really knew — those on the Finance Committee who arranged the contract — until Rosenbloom flew to New York and threatened suit.

Why were the Rams shafted on the 1976 playing schedule? Of the four non-division home games, three are with such clunkers as the Chicago Bears, New York Giants and Seattle Seahawks.

Why has the league sought to get a refund on rent charged by the Rams for the 1975 playoff games against the St. Louis Cardinals and Dallas Cowboys in the Los Angeles Coliseum? The Rams actually had the stadium rent free at the time because of a complex rental agreement, and the NFL therefore claims it was enriched. "Why," rebuts Rosenbloom, "didn't they object when we charged them for a playoff game in '74?"

The inference by the Rams' owner is that the commissioner's actions are reprisals for Carroll's prying into the operation of league headquarters — and because of the Cullen Bryant case. Bryant, running back, was awarded by Rozelle to the Detroit Lions after the Rams had signed wide receiver Ron Jessie, a former Lion who had played out his contract. The Rams howled, and so did Bryant — who got a court injunction and remained with Los Angeles.

That led to the break between Rosenbloom and Rozelle, though they've feuded off and on since 1963, when the NFL investigated Rosenbloom for alleged gambling activities.

"I can't believe," says Rosenbloom, "how vindictive he is." At a league general session in San Diego this spring, he called the commissioner "a liar."

Of much greater consequence, however, than a purported feud between the two men is the spreading unrest in the league over recent setbacks in pro football.

"We've failed in Congress," says the prominent owner.

"We've failed with the players. He (Rozelle) is a failure, and some of the other owners are beginning to realize it."

Such direct criticism of Rozelle in the NFL is almost apocalyptic. For 16 years, since Rosenbloom himself spurred Rozelle into the commissioner's office as a compromise candidate, Pete has been unassailable as the strong man of American sports. During his tenure, pro football became the pervasive national sport, with millions accruing from lush television contracts and the NFL growing from 12 to 28 teams worth an average of $18 million each.

"What got the guys in the NFL upset," asserts Rosenbloom, "was that I started asking questions and couldn't get answers."

The questions were prompted by serious problems now facing the NFL as a result of:

A law passed by Congress, forcing teams to lift TV blackouts of games sold out 72 hours in advance. Owners claim it has affected their season ticket sales.

The loss of the John Mackey lawsuit in Minnesota, which outlawed the Rozelle Rule (compensation for a player who has played out his option) and in effect makes it possible for all players to become free agents.

The failure of the owner's Management Council in its negotiations with the NFL Players Association. There was a costly strike in 1974, and there has been no collective bargaining agreement since then. Rosenbloom blames the failure on Rozelle's appointment of the New York Giants' Wellington Mara to head that committee — "it cost us $5 million."

Rozelle, disclaiming any vindictiveness on his part, says, "You don't like people to feel as Carroll has about me. It's unpleasant. Carroll wants things done his way. And he's one of 28."

Rozelle's tenure as commissioner isn't threatened because it would take 21 votes to unseat him, and there is no specific inclination to dump him. He has more than seven years remaining on a contract which now pays him about $300,000 a year. Even the Rams' owner admits, "I'm not interested in getting rid of Pete Rozelle. I just want our league run the way it ought to be run. I don't blame all our failures on him. It's the owners who let him get away with it."

At an emergency meeting this past January, a planning committee was selected (by Rozelle) to "assist and advise the commissioner." It is composed of owners who are both critics and advocates of Rozelle — Al Davis of Oakland, Tex. Schramm of Dallas, Art Modell of Cleveland, Lamar Hunt of Kansas City and Paul Brown of Cleveland. They meet with Pete in special sessions and communicate regularly via conference calls.

It is an indication that although Pete Rozelle as a pro football czar still reigns, he is not supreme — at least among some of the owners who pay his salary.

Dedication Makes Stones World's Top High Jumper

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Dwight Stones is a tall, taut young man who has been obsessed since he was 9 years old with the challenge of leaping over a cross bar, shunning any artificial aid, such as a pole.

Since Dwight is now 22, that has occupied the better part of his life, and his dedication has made him the best high jumper in the history of the world. At least, his recent record-setting leap of 7 feet 7 inches merits that status.

Among high jumpers, he is also the world record-setter for talking. This has led to a label of controversial, which Dwight resents.

"That's the word they keep giving me," he says. "I don't think it's true. I have opinions about things and nobody else has the guts to say the things I have to say."

The things he has to say have brought him before the AAU on charges that he violated his amateur standing. The charges were dismissed, and Dwight keeps on wearing his Pumas or whatever and talking. He is America's great hope in the forthcoming Olympic Games for a gold medal.

"If I wasn't controversial," concedes Dwight, "and some kind of personality, I wouldn't get the chance to come to Las Vegas and participate in celebrity things like the Dewar's Tennis Invitational. And I wouldn't have a new adjective. Now I'm flaky."

Actually, Dwight fancies himself a deep thinker. That goes with the high jumping genre.

"Your basic high jumper," he says, "is very philosophical. He realizes that 80 per cent of the event is psychological and uses everything as a test to see how strong his psyche is."

With Dwight, it started at Monte Vista elementary school in southern California.

"I felt I was the best athlete in the school," he recalls, "and I wasn't appreciated as the best athlete. Everybody would keep the ball away from me. High jumping was something I didn't need anybody else to do. I was totally dependent on myself."

Why then, since he has grown up to a limber 6-5, didn't he try some other individual exercise, such as pole vaulting?

"I don't ride a roller coaster either," he answers blithely. "Pole vaulters will do anything. Guys like Steve Smith are very well categorized as being crazy, even though he has acrophobia, which is strange."

BH Wins First Blue-Gray Game

Vern Reynolds hurled a one-hitter to carry Benton Harbor Legion to a 5-1 win over South Haven Legion Tuesday night. It was Harbor's first Blue-Gray League win of the season.

Reynolds fanned six and walked two and also contributed two hits. Ricky McClendon socked a triple and single and Billy Gillespie a triple for the winners, now 1-3.

In other league games, Three Oaks downed St. Joseph Mack 3-2 and St. Joseph Legion took Lakeshore Legion 7-3.

Three Oaks upped its league mark to 5-2 with three runs in the third and fourth innings and one in the sixth. Roger Shermak had three RBI's, Denny Zebell, two and Dave North one while Howie Jackson and Randy Chase contributed two hits each. Denny Busse took the win. Paul Genovese singled in both St. Joe runs.

Cory Benford posted the mound win as St. Joseph Legion pounded eight hits in its victory. St. Joe scored three times in the second frame and four times in the fifth.

Rick Dyer and Mark Ignatovich both hit a single and double for the winners while Carry Ross had two singles and Mike Colher a two-bagger.

Don Kuball stroked two of Lakeshore's six hits. Steve Rembach took the loss.

Mack Leaders Top Decatur And Gobles

West division leader Fairplain and East division Ironrunner Decatur posted wins Tuesday night in South-West Connie Mack league action.

Fairplain had to go eight innings before downing North Lincoln 3-2 while Decatur handled Gobles 8-5. In the only other league game, Bangor downed Paw Paw 6-4.

Mike Parrish was the hero of the game for Fairplain, now 5-1 in the league. Winning pitcher Richard Maxwell and Gary Polyea reached base and a passed ball moved them to second and third. Parrish then delivered an RBI single to ice the contest.

John Reinhardt doubled in Fairplain's initial run in the first inning and Jon Hermann had a RBI single in the third.

North Lincoln scored both its runs in the fifth inning when Jeff Butler singled home Totu Flood and Mike Smith.

Maxwell went all the way, striking out six and giving up five hits. Mickey Ott took the loss for North Lincoln, now 3-3 in the league.

Decatur upped its league mark to 3-0 with its victory over Gobles. Jim Smola keyed a four-run fourth inning by knocking in two runs with a double for the winners.

Winning hurler Al McAdams helped his own cause by knocking in two runs in the fifth with a single. McAdams, Smola and Kurt Wiese all had two hits for Decatur.

Gobles made it close with three runs in the seventh inning. Jim Glass drove in one with a single, one scored on an error and Charlie Lynch doubled home the other run.

Jim Hansen and Kevin Page each had two hits and one RBI for Gobles, now 3-1 in the league. Dan Hopwood was the losing hurler.

Bangor notched five-straight singles in the third inning, scoring five runs and chasing losing hurler Karl Kroschinsky from the mound. Tom Mrkacek, Carl Smith, Doug Watkins, Tim Gargus and John Dentzman had the hits.

Watkins and John Dentzman each had two singles and knocked in a pair of runs while Ricky Ross struck out 10 in gaining the win.

Bangor is now 4-2 in the East while Paw Paw slips to 2-3.

Gymnats Beat Coloma

Terri Bohanek captured the all-around title Tuesday as the southwestern Michigan Gymnats beat Coloma 192.80-95.55 in a dual meet for beginning gymnasts at Brown elementary school.

Bohanek took first in the uneven bars, the balance beam and vault, while placing second in floor exercise to win the all-around honor.

Marie Finch also stood out for the Gymnats, winning the floor exercise and finishing second in uneven bars. Ann Carle was third in vault and second in the all-around for the winners. Duanna McKinley took second in vault.

For Coloma, Jessica Burchett was second and Kary Sulko third in balance beam. Angie Perkaus was third in floor exercise and Karen Hewett was third in uneven bars. Sulko took third in the all-around race.

Knuth Shutout Tops Barchett's

Fred Knuth hurried a shutout as Fister's Really downed Barchett's Athletic Goods 4-0 Tuesday night in a Benton Harbor Recreation softball game. Dick Shembarger stroked a single and double while Dick Sager had two hits for the winners. Rock Embling rifled two hits for Barchett's.

Michigan Bell topped Rosey's Party Store 6-5. Dan Griffiths slugged a homer, double and single and two RBI's. Tim Griffiths a homer and double and two RBI's and Bob Jorgensen two doubles and two RBI's. Craig Robards collected two doubles and two RBI's and Curtis Jones a homer for the losers.

Start with your basic sprinter:

"He has a high, high metabolism. He can burn up millions of calories just sitting down. Unfortunately, too many of them are very, very dumb and just know how to get from Point A to Point B as fast as they can. Guys like Steve Williams are far more intelligent, but they're always going so fast. Their speaking is quick; their hand movements are quick. They've got mostly fast twitch muscles."

Distance runners:

A long distance runner is going out and putting in 120 miles a day no matter what. One of the legs gets cut off, he's still going to put in 120 miles. Long distance runners just beat themselves into the ground. Frank Shorter, I don't know how he does it and stays same. Middle distance runner is more pragmatic. He's a cross between a sprinter and long distance runner. More calm in speaking and dedicated up to a point. I like middle distance runners.

Pole vaulters:

"Basically crazy, as I said. Anybody who wants to bend a piece of fiber glass 16 feet long to get over something 16 feet high and run the risk of landing in the box back on the runway, well.... He's the guts guy and also the best athlete in track and field."

Weight men:

"They're all all obsessed with weight lifting and getting stronger. They're very, very self-centered on the body. Unfortunately, too few are technique-oriented. That's why we have only one hammer thrower who's reached the Olympic standard this year."

Long and triple jumpers:

"Long jumpers are a combination of sprinters and high jumpers. Triple jumpers are more light weight men than long jumpers because they're so into technique since the event is so complex."

And Dwight Stones, the philosophical high jumper who skips in and out of school, from UCLA to Long Beach State (where he's now a junior), has found out why he goes through the gut and mind straining process of being a world class amateur athlete whose career can go down the drain in one afternoon if a bee happens to sting him:

"There's a certain amount of prestige and self-pride that goes along with being the best in history and being the best in the world for a few years. It's a nice feeling. I enjoy it."

It also gives him something to talk about.

Gobles made it close with three runs in the seventh inning. Jim Glass drove in one with a single, one scored on an error and Charlie Lynch doubled home the other run.

Jim Hansen and Kevin Page each had two hits and one RBI for Gobles, now 3-1 in the league. Dan Hopwood was the losing hurler.

Bangor notched five-straight singles in the third inning, scoring five runs and chasing losing hurler Karl Kroshinsky from the mound. Tom Mrkacek, Carl Smith, Doug Watkins, Tim Gargus and John Dentzman had the hits.

Watkins and John Dentzman each had two singles and knocked in a pair of runs while Ricky Ross struck out 10 in gaining the win.

Bangor is now 4-2 in the East while Paw Paw slips to 2-3.

Start with your basic sprinter:

"He has a high, high metabolism. He can burn up millions of calories just sitting down. Unfortunately, too many of them are very, very dumb and just know how to get from Point A to Point B as fast as they can. Guys like Steve Williams are far more intelligent, but they're always going so fast. Their speaking is quick; their hand movements are quick. They've got mostly fast twitch muscles."

Distance runners:

A long distance runner is going out and putting in 120 miles a day no matter what. One of the legs gets cut off, he's still going to put in 120 miles. Long distance runners just beat themselves into the ground. Frank Shorter, I don't know how he does it and stays sane. Middle distance runner is more pragmatic. He's a cross between a sprinter and long distance runner. More calm in speaking and dedicated up to a point. I like middle distance runners.

Pole vaulters: "Basically crazy, as I said. Anybody who wants to bend a piece of fiber glass 16 feet long to get over something 18 feet high and run the risk of landing in the box back on the runway, well.... He's the guts guy and also the best athlete in track and field."

Weight men:

"They're all all obsessed with weight lifting and getting stronger. They're very, very self-centered on the body. Unfortunately, too few are technique-oriented. That's why we have only one hammer thrower who's reached the Olympic standard this year."

Long and triple jumpers:

"Long jumpers are a combination of sprinters and high jumpers. Triple jumpers are more light weight men than long jumpers because they're so into technique since the event is so complex."

And Dwight Stones, the philosophical high jumper who skips in and out of school, from UCLA to Long Beach State (where he's now a junior), has found out why he goes through the gut and mind straining process of being a world class amateur athlete whose career can go down the drain in one afternoon if a bee happens to sting him:

"There's a certain amount of prestige and self-pride that goes along with being the best in history and being the best in the world for a few years. It's a nice feeling. I enjoy it."

It also gives him something to talk about.

Gymnats Beat Coloma

Terri Bohanek captured the all-around title Tuesday as the southwestern Michigan Gymnats beat Coloma 102.80-95.55 in a dual meet for beginning gymnasts at Brown elementary school.

Bohanek took first in the uneven bars, the balance beam and vault, while placing second in floor exercise to win the all-around honor.

Marie Finch also stood out for the Gymnats, winning the floor exercise and finishing second in uneven bars. Ann Carle was third in vault and second in the all-around for the winners. Duanna McKinley took second in vault.

For Coloma, Jessica Burchett was second and Kary Sulko third in balance beam. Angie Perkaus was third in floor exercise and Karen Hewett was third in uneven bars. Sulko took third in the all-around race.

Knuth Shutout Tops Barchett's

Fred Knuth hurled a shutout as Fister's Realty downed Barchett's Athletic Goods 4-0 Tuesday night in a Benton Harbor Recreation softball game. Dick Shernbarger stroked a single and double while Dick Sager had two hits for the winners. Rock Emlong rifled two hits for Barchett's.

Twin Cities Chamber Lauded By State Publication

The Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce has come a long way from the traditional chamber of commerce, according to an article in "Pro Business Update," a quarterly publication of the Michigan Department of Commerce, Office of Economic Expansion.

The article says the Twin Cities chamber has entered new fields in vocational education training, and economic development. The local chamber was praised for its "community economic leadership."

Roger H. Curry, executive vice president of the Twin Cities chamber, said in an economic progress report that the developments cited in the article are due to the cooperation of the chamber's board of directors, the Berrien county board of commissioners, the Twin Cities Area Development Corporation, the Berrien Economic Development Corporation and local financial institutions.

Curry also praised Pearson Construction Co., Benton Harbor, and Holland Construction, St. Joseph, for constructing speculative shell buildings in the Pipestone Industrial District which house businesses.

He reported that the Pipestone Industrial District was created with the financial support of the business community with contributions of $500,000, the assistance of local governments, and a federal economic development act grant that made possible roads, sewers and other utilities in the district.

Curry stressed the success the Development Corporation has had in building speculative buildings and promoting them for sale or lease. Three speculative buildings are occupied by Clark Equipment Co., a Heath Co. warehouse and Sandvik Steel, Inc. He said two additional buildings are out for bid at this time. One of the buildings will be approximately 41,000 square feet and the other about 20,000 square feet. They will be located on a 10-acre site and will be available for sale or lease by late summer, according to Curry.

Curry's report also stated that 28 Berrien county firms were assisted in obtaining industrial facilities tax exemption certificates under Michigan's Plant Rehabilitation and Industrial Development Districts law of 1974, which encouraged industrial expansion to create jobs through granting of tax incentives. The 28 exemptions resulted in an annual increase in local taxes of $140,624, creating 613 new jobs and retaining 4,802 existing jobs with an annual tax savings to industry of approximately $152,134. The annual payroll resulting from all new jobs is $12,632,724, plus $13,177,445 in capital improvements.

The firms which received the exemptions are: Independent Steel Castings; Modar, Inc.; Heald, Inc.; Kelm Manufacturing Co.; Consumers Asphalt & Concrete Co.; Cast-Matic Corp.; Gast Manufacturing Corp.; Vail Rubber Co.; Ireland & Lester Co., Inc.; Advance Products Corp.; Skidmore Corp.; Kawneer Co., Inc.; Ford Plastics; Jack-Pot Corp.; Clark Equipment Co.; Whirlpool Corp.; Weldon Tool & Engineering Co.; Toefco Engineering, Inc.; Modern Wood Products, Inc.; Certified Metal Finishing; Silver Mill Frozen Foods; Custom Tool & Die; Zodiak Industries; Precision Mold & Engineering; Garden City Fan; Michigan Box & Crate; Ad-Co Die Cast; and McDonald Dairy.

Nine other firms are awaiting assistance with their industrial facilities certificates from the Chamber's Economic Development department.

The chamber's economic development department has also assisted six firms in preparing industrial development revenue bond proposals amounting to $8,500,000. The companies are the Stanley Knight Corp. ($500,000); Superior Steel Castings ($1,000,000); Consumers Asphalt & Concrete, $650,000; Gast Manufacturing, $1,000,000; Jeno's, $1,000,000 and Bridgman Casting Service, $5,400,000.

Curry reported the marketing program funded by Berrien county has recently been completed by the Fantus Co., a plant location consulting firm, to attract business and industry to Berrien county. Twelve target industries were selected as most suitable to locate and operate in Berrien county due to their profit picture. Curry reported that 4,180 letters have been mailed to these prospects and have been followed up by 628 telephone calls in addition to 35 direct personal contacts primarily within the Chicago area. He said 10 firms have made inquiries.

Curry reported that the Berrien county board of commissioners was the first in the state to authorize the formation of the Economic Development Corporation of the County of Berrien under provisions of a 1974 state law. This corporation has the authority to assist in financing industrial, commercial and tourism development by selling tax-exempt bonds that carry a lower than normal interest rate.

Some 400 existing and proposed businesses have been assisted by the small business assistance program operated through the chamber, Curry reported.

The chamber also has organized a convention and visitors bureau with the aid of a $7,286 grant the past year.

Vending Box Tax Challenged

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The City of Ann Arbor has abridged freedom of the press by regulating and taxing newspaper vending boxes, says the American Civil Liberties Union. "Ann Arbor's Street Occupancy Permit is an unconstitutional tax in violation of freedom of the press," said Don Koster, chairman of the ACLU's Ann Arbor-Washtenaw County branch. The ACLU has intervened in a suit brought by the Ann Arbor News and its parent corporation, Booth Newspapers Inc., against the city of Ann Arbor. The groups have challenged an ordinance passed in February which regulates and taxes newspaper boxes on city sidewalks. But City Attorney Bruce Laidlaw denied the tax was excessive, adding it was "the same rate as for adjacent parking meters."

OPPOSES ARMS SALE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the 2,000 Sidewinder air-to-air missiles proposed for U.S. sale to Saudi Arabia could end up being used against Israel, the ranking Republican member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., said today.

Women, Children Losers Under No-Fault Divorce

WASHINGTON (AP) — No-fault divorce laws are leaving most women and children worse off financially than they would have been after separations under other divorce plans, according to a new study.

The reason is that most states have balked at putting a price-tag on the economic contribution of the person who has kept house and reared the children during the marriage, the report said.

The homemaker's contributions are credited with little cash value in contrast to skills developed during the marriage by the partner who worked outside the home, the National Commission on the Observance of International Women's Year said in its report to President Ford.

"One 1972 nationwide study of 133 couples divorced since 1968 showed that after alimony and child support payments are made, the economic status of former husbands improves while that of former wives deteriorates," said former Rep. Martha Griffiths, who headed a homemaker committee for the commission.

The commission recommended to Ford that economic value of homemakers be considered in divorce laws and in laws such as those governing Social Security and disability payments.

The commission praised the concept of no-fault divorce but said the way it is being administered in most states hurts women and children more than under previous divorce standards.

In the past, fault on the part of one spouse or another had to be proven before a divorce was granted. This gave the spouse who was dependent — in most cases, the wife — maximum leverage to bargain for the best possible settlement.

The husband was often willing to make a more generous economic payment in alimony or child support in exchange for getting out of the marriage without a contested court case, the commission said.

This leverage was lost with fast-spreading use of no-fault divorces, where either spouse can petition for ending the marriage on the single ground of "irretrievable breakdown," the commission said.

The panel said only nine of the 46 states with no-fault divorces have enacted provisions calling for a new division of property and of economic support based on recognizing the homemaker's contribution.

Without such economic ground rules, the commission said, women and children are getting smaller settlements than previously.

Bulb Giveaway Now Faces Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a case involving Detroit Edison Co., the Supreme Court ruled Tuesday private utilities are not exempt from federal anti-trust laws merely because they are state-regulated.

The 6 to 3 decision was made in a dispute over Detroit Edison's 50-year-old practice of furnishing light bulbs to its customers.

A Detroit Edison spokesman said the decision paves the way for a U.S. District Court-level test of the company's lightbulb giveaway, and said the company will "vigorously defend its policy at that trial."

"In the meantime," the spokesman said, "the Supreme Court ruling does not change Detroit Edison's lightbulb policy."

A spokesman for the Michigan Public Service Commission, which in effect approved the lightbulb program by approving Detroit Edison rates over past years, said he could not guess at the long-range impact of the high court decision.

A retail druggist, Lawrence Cantor, filed suit against the utility, alleging the light bulb giveaway was unfair competition for his own sales of light bulbs. He claimed the utility violated the federal anti-trust laws against monopolistic sales practices.

Lower courts ruled the utility's marketing practices were exempt from the federal anti-trust laws because they were regulated by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Bulb Giveaway Now Faces Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a case involving Detroit Edison Co., the Supreme Court ruled Tuesday private utilities are not exempt from federal anti-trust laws merely because they are state-regulated.

The 6 to 3 decision was made in a dispute over Detroit Edison's 90-year-old practice of furnishing light bulbs to its customers.

A Detroit Edison spokesman said the decision paves the way for a U.S. District Court-level test of the company's lightbulb giveaway, and said the company will "vigorously defend its policy at that trial."

"In the meantime," the spokesman said, "the Supreme Court ruling does not change Detroit Edison's lightbulb policy."

A spokesman for the Michigan Public Service Commission, which in effect approved the lightbulb program by approving Detroit Edison rates over past years, said he could not guess at the long-range impact of the high court decision.

A retail druggist, Lawrence Cantor, filed suit against the utility, alleging the light bulb giveaway was unfair competition for his own sales of light bulbs. He claimed the utility violated the federal anti-trust laws against monopolistic sales practices.

Lower courts ruled the utility's marketing practices were exempt from the federal anti-trust laws because they were regulated by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Clark Building North Carolina Axle Plant

BUCHANAN — Clark Equipment Company announced Tuesday that the axle division of its general product group will build a 400,000-square-foot manufacturing plant near Statesville, N.C., at the junction of Interstate Highway 1-40 and 1-77. The new plant, scheduled for completion in 1977, will fabricate planetary axles for off-highway vehicles, such as construction and mining equipment.

The manufacturing facility will consist of fabrication and assembly operation covering 350,000-square-foot and a 20,000-square-foot office building on a 95-acre site. The new plant is expected to employ 400 persons by 1978, with most of them coming from the Statesville area. Construction is scheduled to begin immediately. No cost estimates are being released.

Currently, Clark builds its line of off-highway planetary axles in Buchanan. This operation will continue, according to Nelson R. Henry, group vice president. Growth in the axle industry is forecast to continue in recent years. The company has had to put axle customers on allocation. The new plant is expected to alleviate this situation, and provide necessary capacity for the anticipated upsurge in demand. Architects for the Statesville plant are L. B. Smith and Associate of Monroe, N.C., a subsidiary of Dickerson, Inc.

In addition to axles, the general products group manufactures transmissions and the Melroe line of skid-steer loaders and agriculture products. In 1973, this group accounted for approximately one-third of Clark's $1.4 billion dollars of sales volume. Clark Equipment Company, headquartered in Buchanan, also is a major producer of material handling equipment and construction machinery.

Bridgman Okays
Firm's Tax Break

BRIDGMAN — The Bridgman city commission last night voted its third approval within the past year for a property tax exemption sought by an expanding local industry.

The request approved last night came from the AD-CC Die Cast Corp., which sought an exemption for a $795,000 expansion project at its plant on Rambo road.

Mayor Ronald Gelesko, who is president of AD-CC, abstained from voting on the measure which could mean an estimated annual tax savings of $6,800 for the firm over the next 12 years.

The proposal now goes to the state tax commission for final approval.

The approval was the third given by the commission since last July under a law passed in 1974 to encourage industrial expansion and create jobs.

The first went to Gast Manufacturing for a $1.5 million development on Red Arrow highway and the second went to Weldun Tool and Engineering Inc. for a $1 million expansion on property next to the new Gast plant.

Prior to the commission's vote last night, a brief public hearing on the request was held, but there was no one present to object.

When completed in December, 1978, the expansion will create an additional 30 jobs. Twenty of those jobs will be filled this year, according to the firm's application. The firm now employs about 100 people.

The expansion calls for a 75 by 100 foot addition to one of the present buildings and construction of a new loading ramp. Construction began June 16.

The addition will house larger zinc and aluminum die casting and trimming lines.

The building addition was estimated to cost $75,000 and new equipment and machinery to be purchased was estimated to cost $688,500.

If the tax commission approves the request, the firm will not have to pay property taxes on half the value of the improvements for the next 12 years. The plant would continue to be assessed at a value based on existing structures and equipment during that time.

In other areas, the commission voted to ask the county drain commissioner to create a drainage district for the Bedortha drain on the southeast side of Bridgman.

The area has experienced flooded basements and standing water on streets and lawns.

The commission also voted to ask that the county approve and contribute toward the cost of improvements to the Bedortha drain. Proposed improvements include cleaning, relocating, widening, deepening, straightening, and installing tile.

The commission appointed Oscar Crocker to the zoning board of appeals for a term ending May, 1977. He replaces Jim Fox whose resignation was accepted.

Baroda
To Post Signs At Limits

BARODA — Baroda village council last night voted to post village limits signs at the north and south entrances to the village on Cleveland avenue in an effort to reduce the speed of motorists.

Trustee Larry Nye said a Berrien county road commission official told him a no passing zone will also be posted on Cleveland but the existing 50-mile-per-hour speed limit could not be reduced.

The council rejected the suggestion to post a reduce speed sign because it would only serve as a warning to motorists and could not be enforced.

Nye reported the county will absorb the costs for painting the stripes on the road and the no passing signs but the village will have to pay for the village limits signs.

The action is a result of a request made in May by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Madner, 1821 Cleveland avenue to have the speed limit reduced because of the quantity of traffic in that section of the road. A local 14-year-old boy was struck and killed last May as he was riding his bicycle on the shoulder of the road.

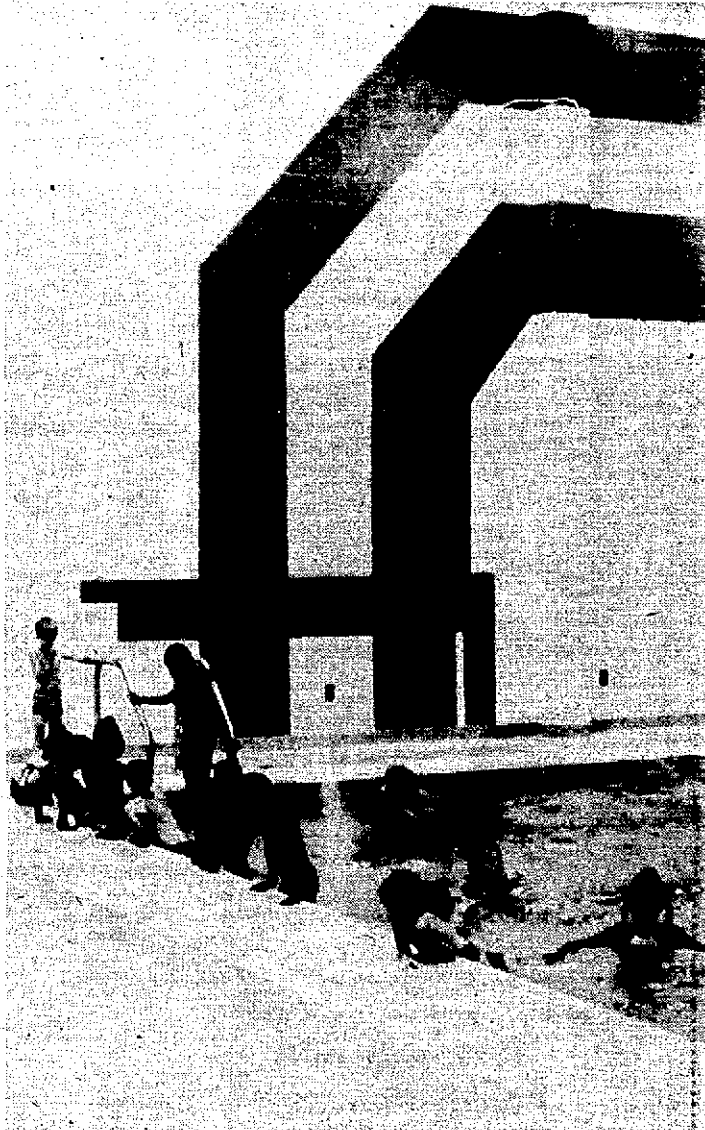

In other business Nye also reported an official from the Michigan Department of Public Health notified him that the village will have to begin a study of how many plumbing cross-connections are in village homes and businesses. He said the village must submit a plan reporting the approximate number of these connections and estimating when they will be eliminated. A year end report must also be submitted telling how many have been eliminated.

The council approved the purchase of a gas engine weed-eater from Baroda Lumber company for $275, subject to approval of the street department commissioner, Albert Reischneider.

The city has been able to keep its retail rate below that charged by private utilities, but the most recent hike is expected to bring the city within or perhaps a little above what retail customers of I&M and Consumers Power company are paying.

The councilmen were also critical of the Federal Power commission for allowing I&M to implement the new higher rates on a temporary basis without public hearings.

The FPC has told I&M it can put its new rates into effect July 27 as long as the money is placed in escrow in case all or

THEIR OWN SWIMMING 'HOLE': Covert school district children finally have their own swimming pool. Pool, part of $4.8 million school construction project, was opened for first time this week. Covert students have been bused for summer swimming classes to either South Haven or Benton Harbor in past. More than 100 children registered on first day. New junior-senior high school is nearly complete and will be ready for fall classes. Building also features new gymnasium and auditorium. (Tom Renner photo)

Dowagiac Rejects Trash Pickup Fee

DOWAGIAC — The Dowagiac city council last night voted to kill a controversial proposal to charge a mandatory monthly trash collection fee.

The $2.75 fee was to be added to individual utility bills and was to have been adopted in conjunction with an ordinance prohibiting trash burning in the city.

The council voted five to one to kill the proposal with only Third Ward Councilman Clarence Solf holding out in favor of the measure.

The motion to kill the proposal came from Second Ward Councilman DeVee Hunsberger who said, "During my term on the council, nothing more controversial has ever come up. I don't believe the subject has been thoroughly studied."

Voting with Hunsberger were David Groner and Robert Hess, both first ward; Maurice Oppenheim, second ward; and Joseph Silvia, third ward.

Hunsberger said the proposal was considered last month after the city received complaints that trash was being burned during hours when burning was prohibited. The mandatory trash collection fee would have entitled all residents to trash pickup.

The council instructed City Manager Henry Graper Jr. to have a new trash burning ordinance prepared that would be legal and easy to enforce.

Groner said several residents he talked to wanted burning outlawed — altogether, while others wanted the hours more strictly enforced.

In other areas, the council approved a rate increase for the Diamond Lake Area Cable Television company which serves Dowagiac. The rate will increase from $3 to $6.25 monthly per user.

Craig McCrystal, regional manager for the firm, told the councilmen the rate increase was needed to offset the increased cost of supplies and equipment and increased operating expenses.

The council, on second reading, passed a curfew ordinance applying to children 16 and under.

The new ordinance sets a 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew for children 12 and under and sets a midnight to 6 a.m. curfew for children from 13 to 16.

The ordinance makes exceptions for school events and for children accompanied by adults.

The council agreed to accept the donation of Rudy park from Mrs. Helen Tremble. The park, about a half block in size, is located between Dowagiac creek and the VFW hall on M-62. It is marked with a large stone which serves as a memorial to the Rudoff family, founders of the Rudy Manufacturing company, later purchased by the Sundstrand

Corp.

The council passed an ordinance to incorporate the Economic Development Corp. of Dowagiac. The corporation is being created to enable revenue bonds for industrial development to be sold. Heading the corporation are Richard Judd, Raymond Tutwiler and Dr. James E. Burke, all of Dowagiac.

Delinquent Dad
Given Deadline

A Three Oaks man behind in his child support received a deadline yesterday in Berrien Circuit court — make the regular payments plus $100 towards the arrearage or go to jail.

Edward Pastrick, special investigator for the Berrien friend of the court's office, reported four men were held in contempt of court by Judge Julian E. Hughes for non-support. They were:

Alfred Phillips, of Three Oaks, for $520 arrears for one child not on ADC, who was told to make regular payments of $19 weekly support plus $5 weekly on the arrearage; plus pay $100 towards the arrears by Aug. 13 or he'll spend an unspecified term in jail.

Bruce Donat, of Harbert, was placed on three years probation for $3,989 arrears for one child not on ADC, and ordered to sign a wage assignment of $20 weekly support and $5 on the arrearage. Pastrick said Donat has not made a support payment since July, 1973.

Mitchell Yow, of 1200 East Empire avenue, Benton township, was placed on two years probation for $760 arrears for two children on ADC, and ordered to pay $20 weekly support and $10 each week on the arrearage.

James A. Cook, of South Bend, was placed on two years probation for $1,479 arrears for one child not on ADC, and ordered to sign a wage assignment of $35 support and $10 on the arrearage each week. Pastrick said Cook has not made a support payment this year.

Berrien Red Cross Announces
Three July Bloodmobile Dates

The Berrien County Chapter of American Red Cross has announced three bloodmobile collection dates for July. The bloodmobile will be at Eau Claire elementary school, Thursday, July 15, 2 to 8 p.m.; Berrien courthouse St. Joseph, Friday, July 16, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; St. Joseph Memorial hospital, Monday, July 19. The Red Cross blood program in Berrien last month went 104 pints over its goal of 6,000 for the year ended June 30. Eight draw dates in June produced 847 pints. Donors joining the one-gallon honor roll are John Wilk, Baroda; Mike Mendus, Harbert; George T. Cranden, Coloma; Lyle Harrison, Watervliet; Holly Young, Benton Harbor; Mark D. Onken, Patricia Burkett, August C. Meyer, St. Joseph; Gerald W. Gloden, Henry R. Merritt, James Larkin, William McVay, Carl Johnson, and John A. Willis, Niles.

South Haven Hikes
Electric Rates 40%

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — Contending that the Indiana & Michigan Electric company is trying to put municipal electric utilities out of business, the South Haven city council last night "reluctantly" approved a 40 per cent increase in rates charged its electric customers.

The increase is needed to balance a 65 per cent hike in the rate I&M sells power to the city. City officials say the increase will allow them to maintain their gross profit pattern of recent years.

"It is obvious that I&M is trying to put its wholesale customers out of business," said second ward alderman Joseph Seiler.

The city has been able to keep its retail rate below that charged by private utilities, but the most recent hike is expected to bring the city within or perhaps a little above what retail customers of I&M and Consumers Power company are paying.

The councilmen were also critical of the Federal Power commission for allowing I&M to implement the new higher rates on a temporary basis without public hearings.

The FPC has told I&M it can put its new rates into effect July 27 as long as the money is placed in escrow in case all or part of the proposed hike is denied.

The FPC has not been one for quick action. It is still considering a 1972 rate request from I&M which caused the city to increase its charges 20 per cent. That proposed rate was also given "temporary" approval pending FPC review.

"The FPC is a big farce," concluded second ward alderman Norvan Books. "It's obvious to me whose interests they (the FPC) are looking out for and it isn't the citizens."

The 40 per cent increase will be reflected on bills received Oct. 1, according to city officials.

In other matters, council referred back to the planning commission for further study a proposed zoning ordinance. Council at its June 15 meeting tabled action on a recommendation from the planning commission that the ordinance be adopted. Some aldermen contended the planning commission had not been responsive to the public despite two years of deliberation.

The council adopted a new housing code which is designed to consolidate language from several existing ordinances.

Requests for taxi licenses from Bobby Morgan, 330 Cherry street, and Felix Spencer, 425 Aylworth avenue, were referred to the city manager for review.

The Van Buren county chapter of the Disabled American Veterans was given permission to conduct their annual Forget-Me-Not sale Aug. 20-21.

South Haven
Board Chief
Re-elected

SOUTH HAVEN — Dr. Donald Dempster was re-elected president of the South Haven board of education during its annual organizational meeting last night.

The board also re-elected David Griffin vice president and Mrs. Jane L. Witte secretary. J. Glenn Sperry was elected treasurer.

The board voted to continue to hold its regular monthly meeting on the third Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school library.

Climber Dies

MATSUMOTO, Japan (AP) — The body of Shigenobu Fujino, 60, chief of the secretariat of the lower house of the Japanese parliament, was found today at the foot of Mt. Mae-hodaka in the northern Japanese Alps, police said. He had been missing since Tuesday.

ELECTED: Van Buren Sheriff Richard E. Stump has been elected vice-president of the Michigan Sheriff's association. Under system of succession, he will become president of organization next June. Cass county Sheriff James Northrup was also elected to association's board of directors during 12nd annual meeting held in Ludington.

High Court Strikes Down Oklahoma Death Penalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Tuesday struck down Oklahoma's death penalty law.

The action followed the court's ruling last Friday that the death penalty is a constitutional punishment for murder but may not be imposed generally under laws which make it mandatory.

In Friday's decision the court struck down mandatory death penalty laws in Louisiana and North Carolina.

Ruling Tuesday in six Oklahoma cases, the court set aside the death sentences of six inmates and sent the cases back to the court of criminal appeals of Oklahoma.

"The imposition and carrying out of the death penalty under the law of Oklahoma constitutes a cruel and unusual punishment" in violation of the Constitution, the court said. The Oklahoma law makes death mandatory for a limited number of crimes.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Byron R. White and William H. Rehnquist did not join in the ruling on the Oklahoma law but merely said they favored sending the cases back to the lower court for further proceedings in light of last Friday's ruling. In another follow-up action to Friday's decision, the court sent 33 North Carolina death sentence cases back to the North Carolina Supreme Court for action in line with the Friday ruling.

Also sent back to a lower court for further proceedings were three cases from Louisiana.

The court refused to review nine death sentences from Georgia and six from Florida. The court upheld death penalty laws in the two states last Friday.

The Supreme Court in other action says a prisoner who had a fair chance to prove in a state court that he was convicted on illegally seized evidence is not entitled to another chance in a federal court. The 6 to 3 decision Tuesday was one of four in which the justices, winding up their 1975 term, rejected complaints that police had violated constitutional rights by seizing evidence illegally.

The major decision reinstated convictions of two men who said illegally obtained evidence was used to convict them of murder. The men were Charles Powell, stopped in a Henderson, Nev., parking lot by a policeman who found he was carrying a pistol that turned out to have been used in a San Bernardino, Calif., slaying; David Rice, in whose house police investigating the bomb-slaying of an Omaha, Neb., policeman found dynamite and other explosive equipment.

Federal judges overturned both men's convictions. Powell's conviction was reversed on grounds that he was frisked under an unconstitutional vagrancy ordinance and Rice's was overturned on grounds that the officers' search warrant was too vague. In appealing the decisions, Nebraska and California officials said such rulings in recent years have hampered prosecutors and helped the guilty escape punishment.

Justice Lewis F. Powell, Jr., writing for the court, said defendants will still be able to seek exclusion of improperly seized evidence at their trials and in their appeals to state appellate courts, but their ability to make such claims in federal courts, except by appealing to the Supreme Court, will be sharply curbed.

Justices William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall expressed apprehension that the decision would lead to curbs on the power of federal courts to hear prisoners' claims that they had been illegally trapped, put in double jeopardy or forced to incriminate themselves.

Panel Blasts Mental Treatment

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Mental patients transferred from state institutions to local facilities suffer inadequate treatment in their new surroundings, a special legislative committee claims.

A joint House-Senate committee studying community placement of mentally ill and retarded persons in Michigan reported Tuesday the state program "has suffered grave and continuing deficiencies in most, if not all, areas of its operation." Community placement, begun several years ago, has touched off a major controversy in mental health circles. It is aimed at returning former institutionalized patients to the community for treatment, and providing local treatment for mentally ill or retarded persons on the threshold of being committed. The procedure includes developing and licensing local facilities, placing patients in them and providing follow-up and aftercare services.

Last October, the director of the state Department of Social Services, John Dempsey, said the program has been poorly planned and inadequately funded. His criticisms were echoed by the legislative committee's final report which followed 14 months of work.

"The implementation of the community placement program has represented a major advance in Michigan mental health policy," said committee Chairman Rep. Philip Mastin, D-Hazel Park. "Unfortunately, it has been poorly planned, poorly funded and poorly implemented."

But rather than to return to institutionalization, Mastin said, "The solution is rather to properly manage and fund what we have begun."

The study listed these as some of the major deficiencies in the program:

—There is a "severe overall lack of coordination and cooperation" among the departments of Mental Health and Social Services and local community mental health boards.

—There is a severe lack of adequate aftercare services."

July Fourth Arrivals

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Three third-century U.S. citizens made their debut at Women's Hospital just before midnight on the Fourth of July when Mary Pagareski of Belleville gave birth to triplets.

Mrs. Pagareski, 25, now the mother of six, said it was "nice" that the two boys and a girl were born on the nation's birthday.

DIES: Chu Teh, 90, considered the grand old man of the Chinese Communist armed forces, died in Peking Tuesday, Peking radio reported. Austin Foe Plans Campaign Funds Challenge

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Democratic Senate hopeful James Elmsman says he will sue opponent Richard Austin in an attempt to force the Michigan secretary of state to hand over contributions he receives from his branch managers.

Elmsman has accused Austin of coercing branch managers, whom he appoints, to donate 10 per cent of their gross revenues to his campaign. Elmsman says the money should be turned back to the state.

Austin, considered the front-runner in the Democratic Senate race, has denied using coercion and contends he has worked to eliminate the fee branch system of political patronage which has been a long-time staple of Michigan politics.

A spokesman for Austin said "no money has ever come out of any public treasury" for Austin's campaign.

Elmsman, an attorney, said his lawsuit will be aimed at getting people "refunds on their license plate fees that have gone for Austin's political purposes."

Elmsman said he would file his suit, probably in Ingham or Oakland County Circuit Court, after Austin files his campaign contribution records for April, May and June. They are due at the end of the week.

Austin has said up to $60,000 of his expected $300,000 primary election funds may come from branch managers he appointed. "It is illegal for public monies to be used for private purposes," Elmsman said in a statement. "Instead of keeping our money, Austin should reduce our license plate fees and return our money if he really cares about the poor and not his campaign financing."

Jack Casey, Austin's campaign spokesman, said Austin wrote a personal letter two weeks ago to every branch manager who contributed, stating that if for any reason they felt coerced, they should take their contribution back without fear or discipline.

No branch managers have yet asked for their money back, he said.

Austin also has asked the state Fair Campaign Practices Commission to "individually check every" branch manager to verify if any coercion existed. Casey said. The commission has the request under advisement.

Austin also has asked a private firm to audit his books, a move Elmsman criticized for "not addressing the question of involuntary contributions."

Also seeking the Democratic nomination are

Congressman Donald Riegle of Flint and James O'Hara of Utica.

Buying At Fastest Clip

DETROIT (AP) — Americans bought domestic new cars in June at the fastest clip in nearly three years as the industry continued its rapid climb from a severe slump to the third best sales year in its history. The nation's automakers reported Tuesday a combined daily selling rate of 31,890 cars for the month, a 29 per cent rise over June 1975 and the highest tempo since July 1973, when the industry was in the middle of a boom before the Mid-East oil embargo. The daily rate is the industry's yardstick for plotting sales performances.

Elmsman has accused Austin of coercing branch managers, whom he appoints, to donate 10 per cent of their gross revenues to his campaign. Elmsman says the money should be turned back to the state.

Austin, considered the front-runner in the Democratic Senate race, has denied using coercion and contends he has worked to eliminate the fee branch system of political patronage which has been a long-time staple of Michigan politics.

A spokesman for Austin said "no money has ever come out of any public treasury" for Austin's campaign.

Elmsman, an attorney, said his lawsuit will be aimed at getting people "refunds on their license plate fees that have gone for Austin's political purposes."

Elmsman said he would file his suit, probably in Ingham or Oakland County Circuit Court, after Austin files his campaign contribution records for April, May and June. They are due at the end of the week.

Austin has said up to $80,000 of his expected $300,000 primary election funds may come from branch managers he appointed.

"It is illegal for public monies to be used for private pur-

Jack Casey, Austin's campaign spokesman, said Austin wrote a personal letter two weeks ago to every branch manager who contributed, stating that if for any reason they felt coerced, they should take their contribution back without fear or discipline.

No branch managers have yet asked for their money back, he said.

Austin also has asked the state Fair Campaign Practices Commission to "individually check every" branch manager to verify if any coercion existed, Casey said. The commission has the request under advisement.

Austin also has asked a private firm to audit his books, a move Elmsman criticized for "not addressing the question of involuntary contributions."

Also seeking the Democratic Senate nomination are

Congressman Donald Riegle of Flint and James O'Hara of Utica.

Buying At Fastest Clip

DETROIT (AP) — Americans bought domestic new cars in June at the fastest clip in nearly three years as the industry continued its rapid climb from a severe slump to the third best sales year in its history. The nation's automakers reported Tuesday a combined daily selling rate of 31,890 cars for the month, a 29 per cent rise over June 1975 and the highest tempo since July 1973, when the industry was in the middle of a boom before the Mid-East oil embargo. The daily rate is the industry's yardstick for plotting sales performances.

Yank Says Queen Owes $1 Billion

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) - Henri J. d'Orgeys, a local contractor, says Queen Elizabeth II owes his family $135,000 plus interest for four centuries. He estimates the total at more than $1 billion.

D'Orgeys, 74, said in a newspaper interview that he'd like to bring the debt to the attention of the queen, who is visiting the United States to help mark the 200th anniversary of the country's independence.

He said his ancestor, Alvaro Montefes, loaned Queen Elizabeth 1,900,000 crowns in the 16th Century and the debt was never repaid.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stock Market Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, weighed down by continued selling in blue chip issues.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped about a point in the early going. But gainers held a slight overall edge on losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said investors seemed to have grown edgy about some of the big-name basic industry issues as recent selling appeared in the chemicals, papers and autos.

They noted that such stocks had recorded strong gains earlier in the year, and thus were logically vulnerable to some profit taking.

In today's early activity, General Motors slipped $\frac{1}{2}$ to 65 $\frac{1}{2}$; Dow Chemical was down $\frac{1}{8}$ at 46, and U.S. Steel lost $\frac{1}{8}$ to 52 $\frac{1}{2}$.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 8.03 to 991.81.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about an 8-7 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index slipped .25 to 55.32.

Big Board volume, at 16.13 million shares, was the quietest in nearly four weeks.

The American Stock Exchange market value index managed a .09 gain to 105.26.

Adventist Firing Is Overturned

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Seventh-day Adventist who was fired when she refused to work Saturdays has been ordered reinstated with back pay by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

The commission said today that the Michigan Masonic Home in Alma, a nursing home, illegally discriminated against June Brown of Ashley because of her religion.

Seventh-day Adventists observe their Sabbath from sundown Friday to sundown Saturday, and are forbidden to work during those hours. But Mrs. Brown was fired in 1973 when she did not work overtime on a Saturday.

The commission ruled the nursing home had a duty to accommodate her religious needs and could have done so without creating an undue hardship on the institution.

The commission ruling requires that Mrs. Brown be reinstated with full seniority to a position comparable to that from which she was fired, and reimbursed for the wages she lost as a result of the discrimination.

Mrs. Brown was hired by the Michigan Masonic Home in March of 1970 and worked in the laundry department on a Monday through Friday schedule. She informed the home she could not work Saturdays, the commission said.

But in 1973 laundry employees were ordered to work a Saturday to reduce a backlog, and when she refused, Mrs. Brown was discharged. She then filed a complaint with the state Civil Rights Department.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Eight Years Short Time To Build Fund

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I am eight years from retirement, at which time I will have no income other than Social Security. I am now able to save $100 a month which I put into a small savings account. But I must pay taxes on it. Is there a safer investment?

A. If you keep up this $100-a-month program you will have deposited about $9,600 by retirement. This sum (plus interest) is certainly not too large a cash fund with which to enter retirement.

You don't say what rate your money is earning, but you could also consider some E bonds which average an annual growth of 6 per cent with income taxes deferred — in your case until you retire when you may well be able to escape any income taxes on this money.

Q. Please caution your readers to keep records of all reinvested mutual fund dividends and capital gains. They'll need them when they redeem their shares in order to arrive at the true tax cost of their shares.

A. So ordered.

Q. I can get 12 to 14 per cent interest on savings accounts sent overseas. What do you suggest?

A. I suggest you talk with the nearest Federal Reserve Bank. You may find that overseas bank is on its black list.

Q. If a man holds $8,000 face value E bonds which cost him $6,000 and are now worth about $17,000 would you suggest he convert all to H bonds for the sake of present income? This would involve no tax payment.

A. The exchange of $17,000 present value E bonds for $17,000 H bonds need involve no present tax payment. The accrued value would merely be noted on the face of his H bonds, to be paid when he cashed in the H's. HOWEVER —

The 10-year average 6 per cent interest return on the $17,000 ($1,020) would all be taxable income. Let's say he is in the 19 per cent income tax bracket. That would mean $193.80 a year in income taxes.

Now, let's assume that instead of the wholesale switch of E's to H's he redeems $1,000 worth of E bonds every year. In the first year about two-thirds of this ($650) would be taxable at 19 per cent. His tax that year then would be only $123.50 (which, admittedly would increase in subsequent years). The remaining $16,000 in E bonds would grow enough during the year to bring his stake back to $17,000. I don't now which course would be more convenient but there is some arithmetic he might do.

Q. I recently bought a $1,000 bond paying 12 per cent from a loan company. What is your opinion of it?

A. I have no opinion because I have never heard of the company. A 12 per cent rate generally indicates some risk.

Q. I have been approached to invest in trust deeds. Comments, please.

A. I can't comment, because these are investments in particular pieces of real estate of which I have absolutely no knowledge. It all depends upon the expertise and honesty of the broker or real estate operator.

Car Blaze Is Doused In St. Joe

St. Joseph firemen extinguished a blaze in a car parked at 1927 Hawthorne at about 10:40 p.m. last night. The interior of the car, owned by Robert Levay, 2002 Russell road, Benton Harbor, was completely destroyed. Firemen believe the blaze was caused by a short in the wiring under the dash.

Firemen stood by with a truck from 4:35 until 10:08 p.m. last night at Auto Specialties Manufacturing company as molten iron was poured from a malfunctioning cupola. No damage resulted, firemen reported.

The alarm at Memorial hospital sounded at 5:12 a.m. this morning. The conveyor belt on the hospital's ironing machine was scorched and smoking. Firemen cooled the belt with a damp cloth. No damage was reported.

Soviets Add To Soybean Purchase

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has bought another 700,000 metric tons of soybeans worth an estimated $175 million from this year's U.S. crop, the Agriculture Department says.

The sale was announced Tuesday, four days after a previous Russian purchase of 800,000 tons of soybeans for an estimated $200 million for delivery in 1976-77.

In a related development, the Agriculture Department said Tuesday the Soviet Union's grain prospects appear greatly improved over last year's drought-shrivelled harvest of 139.9 million metric tons, the smallest in a decade.

Russia's grain harvest this year should be close to the 190 million metric tons that the USDA tentatively forecast June 22, a USDA official said.

A metric ton is 2,205 pounds. Three U.S. crop experts have just returned from an 18-day tour of seven Soviet grain-producing districts, and the USDA plans to issue a new analysis on Soviet grain Friday.

The Soviet grain crop planted last fall suffered major damage during the winter, but there are indications the surviving acreage has recovered well in some key areas. The balance of Soviet grain comes from crops planted in the spring.

Last year's short crop forced the Soviet Union to buy foreign grain, including 16.5 million tons of wheat and corn from last year's U.S. harvest.

The Soviets also have purchased about 2.2 million tons of American wheat and corn for delivery after Oct. 1. They are expected to order more later in the season.

Under a five-year agreement with the United States, the Soviet Union is scheduled to buy 6 million to 8 million tons of wheat and corn annually, starting with deliveries this fall. Soybeans and other grains are not included in the long-term agreement.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stock Market Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, weighed down by continued selling in blue chip issues.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped about a point in the early going. But gainers held a slight overall edge on losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said investors seemed to have grown edgy about some of the big-name basic industry issues as recent selling appeared in the chemicals, papers and autos.

They noted that such stocks had recorded strong gains earlier in the year, and thus were logically vulnerable to some profit taking.

In today's early activity, General Motors slipped $\frac{1}{2}$ to 65 $\frac{3}{4}$; Dow Chemical was down $\frac{1}{4}$ at 46, and U.S. Steel lost $\frac{1}{8}$ to 53 $\frac{1}{2}$.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 8.83 to 2981.81.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about an 8-7 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index slipped .25 to 55.32.

Big Board volume, at 16.13 million shares, was the quietest in nearly four weeks.

The American Stock Exchange market value index managed a .09 gain to 105.26.

Adventist Firing Is Overturned

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Seventh-day Adventist who was fired when she refused to work Saturdays has been ordered reinstated with back pay by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

The commission said today that the Michigan Masonic Home in Alma, a nursing home, illegally discriminated against June Brown of Ashley because of her religion.

Seventh-day Adventists observe their Sabbath from sundown Friday to sundown Saturday, and are forbidden to work during those hours. But Mrs. Brown was fired in 1973 when she did not work overtime on a Saturday.

The commission ruled the nursing home had a duty to accommodate her religious needs and could have done so without creating an undue hardship on the institution.

The commission ruling requires that Mrs. Brown be reinstated with full seniority to a position comparable to that from which she was fired, and reimbursed for the wages she lost as a result of the discrimination.

Mrs. Brown was hired by the Michigan Masonic Home in March of 1970 and worked in the laundry department on a Monday through Friday schedule. She informed the home she could not work Saturdays, the commissioner said.

But in 1973 laundry employees were ordered to work a Saturday to reduce a backlog, and when she refused, Mrs. Brown was discharged. She then filed a complaint with the state Civil Rights Department.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has bought another 700,000 metric tons of soybeans worth an estimated $175 million from this year's U.S. crop, the Agriculture Department says.

The sale was announced Tuesday, four days after a previous Russian purchase of 800,000 tons of soybeans for an estimated $200 million for delivery in 1978-79.

In a related development, the Agriculture Department said Tuesday the Soviet Union's grain prospects appear greatly improved over last year's drought-shrivelled harvest of 139.8 million metric tons, the smallest in a decade.

Russia's grain harvest this year should be close to the 190 million metric tons that the USDA tentatively forecast June 22, a USDA official said.

A metric ton is 2,205 pounds. Three U.S. crop experts have just returned from an 18-day tour of seven Soviet grain-producing districts, and the USDA plans to issue a new analysis on Soviet grain Friday.

The Soviet grain crop planted last fall suffered major damage during the winter, but there are indications the surviving acreage has recovered well in some key areas. The balance of Soviet grain comes from crops planted in the spring.

Last year's short crop forced the Soviet Union to buy foreign grain, including 16.5 million tons of wheat and corn from last year's U.S. harvest.

The Soviets also have purchased about 2.2 million tons of American wheat and corn for delivery after Oct. 1. They are expected to order more later in the season.

Under a five-year agreement with the United States, the Soviet Union is scheduled to buy 6 million to 8 million tons of wheat and corn annually, starting with deliveries this fall. Soybeans and other grains are not included in the long-term agreement.

Now from Metropolitan a way to invest for your future

With inflation eroding the purchasing power of your dollars, you know you have to plan now to provide the income you'll need for your retirement years.

Now Metropolitan Life offers you the opportunity to do just that — the Metropolitan Investor-Annuity Program — a flexible way to invest in a diversified portfolio of common stocks managed by professionals.

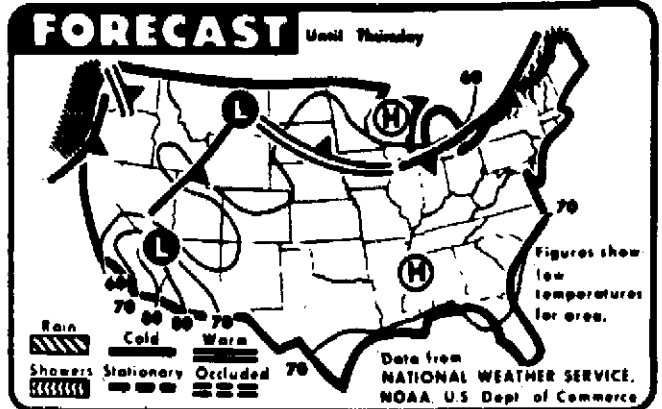

Compared with directly investing in common stocks, you save time and difficult guesswork. You determine when and how much to invest in the Program. You have a wide choice of withdrawal arrangements available before and after retirement, including fixed and variable payments for life, at no additional sales charge.

For more complete information about M.I.A.P., including charges and expenses, get prospectuses by writing the address below. Read them carefully before you invest or send money.

Toyota's Profits Biggest In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Toyota Motor Co., with after-tax profits of 61.512 billion yen in fiscal 1975, was the top profit maker among Japan's 100 leading industrial firms last year, according to a survey by Nihon Keizai Shimbun. Second in earnings was another automaker, Nissan Motor Co., with earnings of 52.214 billion yen. Nissan produces Datsun cars and trucks, which are sold in the United States. Toyota moved up from the No. 4 slot in last year's survey, while Nissan came up from eighth place. Tokyo Electric Power Co. captured third place for fiscal 1975, with earnings of 38.405 billion yen, closely followed by Matsushita Electric Industrial Co., with net of 32.004 billion yen.

Milliken Gets Static Back Home

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Michigan Gov. William Milliken asked governors meeting here to support the Equal Rights Amendment while back home a women's organization urged Michigan to rescind it.

"It is the obligation of the governors of the states and all the people of the United States to make certain that every person in our nation has an equal opportunity to pursue his or her own life-style," Milliken said Tuesday at the National Governors' Conference.

Michigan has already ratified the ERA. But in Dearborn Heights, Mich., Happiness of Womanhood Inc. (HOW) announced that it is setting up booths statewide to obtain signatures to rescind the ERA.

The statement from HOW national director Patt Barbour and other officials of the group said HOW is getting support.

"However, a handful of doubting Thomases need proof that this is a fact," the statement said. "Therefore, HOW members and friends will offer all the proof necessary by presenting the necessary signatures to the state legislators."

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made the 6th day of November 1970, by Russell McNeely and Dianna J. McNeely, as mortgagors, to United States of America, as mortgagee, and recorded on November 9, 1970, in the office of the Register of Deeds for Berrien County, Michigan in Liber 885 of mortgages on pages 315-318, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and unpaid at the date of this Notice Twelve Thousand Six Hundred Sixty and 10/100 dollars ($12,616.10) principal and Five Hundred Fourteen and 85/100 dollars ($514.85) interest; no suit or proceeding at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the debt, or any part of the debt, secured by said mortgage, and the power of sale contained in said mortgage having become operative by reason of such default.

NOW, THEREFORE, Notice is hereby given that on August 24, 1976, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the front steps of the courthouse in St. Joseph, Michigan, that being the place for holding the Circuit Court for the County of Berrien, there will be offered for sale and sold to the highest bidder, at public sale, for the purpose of satisfying the amounts due and unpaid upon said mortgage, together with the legal costs and charges of sale; provided by law and in said mortgage, the lands and premises in said mortgage mentioned and described, as follows, to-wit:

Lot 15, Sutherland's Addition to the Village, now City, of Watervliet, Berrien County, Michigan, according to the plat thereof, recorded November 3, 1899 in Book 3 of Plats, page 88. Subject, however, to all valid outstanding easements, rights-of-way, mineral leases, mineral reservations and mineral conveyances of record. Subject to the rights of the public and any Governmental unit in any part thereof taken, used or deeded for street, road or highway purposes.

The redemption period will be six months from the time of such sale. Property may be redeemed by paying balance due plus 7% interest and any fees, taxes or other unpaid encumbrances on the property from date of sale.

Two Gun Counts For Benton Man

A 66-year-old Benton township man from whom two pistols allegedly were confiscated by police in separate incidents July 4 was arraigned on two charges Tuesday in Berrien District court.

M.C. Williams, of 1361 Townline road, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor of reckless use of a .32 caliber pistol July 4 about 6 a.m. at his residence. He was sentenced to fine and costs of $50 by District Judge Ronald J. Taylor.

Williams also demanded a preliminary examination on a felony charge of carrying a concealed .38 caliber pistol in an auto at about 10:30 p.m. on July 4. Taylor set bond at $5,000 and Williams was jailed.

According to a police report, Berrien Sheriff's Deputy John Clark went to Williams' residence to investigate a complaint made by E.J. Proctor, 25, of Evans street, Benton township. He told Clark that a man had fired shots at him, but missed, inside a Townline road house at about 3 a.m. on July 4.

Clark said that he found a .32 caliber pistol inside Williams' house that had apparently been fired recently. He confiscated the weapon and questioned Williams, but no arrest was made. On Tuesday a warrant charging reckless use of a firearm was authorized.

On the night of July 4 about 10:30, Benton township police reportedly found Williams sitting in a car that was parked in a driveway on Evans street. According to the police booking sheet, Williams was intoxicated. A .38 caliber pistol was found under a car seat and Williams was arrested.

Woman Faces Murder Sentence

A Benton township woman originally charged with first degree murder pleaded guilty Tuesday in Berrien Circuit court to second degree murder.

Jailed without bond following the arraignment before Judge Chester J. Byrns was Diane Theresa Torrence, 26, of 132 North Crystal avenue. She now faces a sentence of up to a maximum of life imprisonment.

Mrs. Torrence was accused of the May 9 slaying of James A.

Rosenburgh, 41, at 132 North Crystal. Rosenburgh sustained one wound to the chest from a knife with a six-inch blade. The first degree murder charge is to be dismissed.

In other arraignments before Byrns:

Jacqueline E. Nagorski, 29, of 5540 Scottsdale road, Royalton township, pleaded innocent to a charge of manslaughter stemming from the May 27 death of her new-born infant at her residence.

Ricky Edward Britton, 20, of 999 1/2 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana second offense Feb. 11 in St. Joseph.

Steven D. Soderborg, 20, of 2397 Maple avenue, Coloma, pleaded innocent to a charge of possession of a controlled substance (chloridiazepoxide) May 4 in Hagar township.

Leroy Johnson, 20, of 989 Edson avenue, Benton Harbor, pleaded innocent to a charge of third degree criminal sexual conduct (formerly statutory rape) stemming from the same incident.

Richard P. Fitzner, 17, of 1172 Summer court, Benton township, pleaded guilty to attempted breaking and entering the residence of Louis Abel, at 3663 Arbor street, St. Joseph township, on May 30.

Willie Simmons, 18, of 585 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, pleaded guilty to entering the American Laundry in Benton Harbor without breaking on June 16.

Repair Law Disagreement

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A disputed state law requiring written estimates from auto repair shops actually benefits mechanics, a state attorney argued in court Tuesday. But a lawyer for the shops said it would eat away profits or force repair prices up. Asst. Atty. Gen. Edwin Bladen said the new law benefits repairmen because it lets them change estimates over the phone, with customer agreement. Bladen said it also lets them charge 10 per cent or $10 more than they estimated. "They couldn't do that before," Bladen said in a hearing before Ingham County Circuit Court Judge James Kallman. Bladen also claimed the new law only requires mechanics to put in writing the verbal agreements they now make. The law was to take effect March 1, but has been stalled by court challenges. The arguments were on a suit filed earlier this year by the Automotive Service Councils of Michigan.
